From The Roman Catholic Diocese of Las Cruces Office of the Bishop

Pastors, Deacons, Parish Life Coordinators:

Dear brother and sisters,

Greetings in Christ,

I have been reminded that the 2020 Census is approaching soon. Our country conducts a Census every ten years to count the number of men, women and children residing in the United States. Census data helps direct more than $800 billion annually to programs designated to advance the common good of our people.

The Bishops of the United States are urging all people to be counted; everyone!

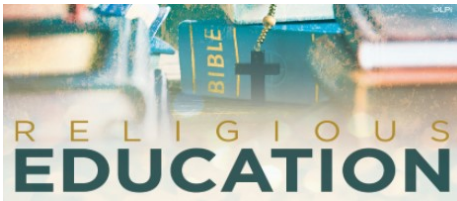

How could we help? I personally support this effort. It is Good for our government; it is Good for business, it is Good for our Church, and most of all, it is Good for our communities. For every person NOT counted in the Census our state will lose about $40,000 in funding for the next 10 years. Our communities need this funding. Let us make sure everyone is counted.

I have authorized an employee of the US Census, Mr. Juan Barajas, who also happens to be a Deacon in the Archdiocese of Santa Fe, to visit pastors and principals to explain what the Census is about and to explore possible ways to collaborate. I encourage you to support these efforts.

I understand other partnership specialists from the Census will be working with government and with tribal leaders, with public schools, and businesses, and with non-profit organizations to make this Census the most successful.

For more questions on the Census, call Mr. Juan Barajas, 505-715-1575 or 505-228-1220

Sincerely yours,
Most Reverend Peter Baldacchino
Bishop of Las Cruces

Dear Parishioners:

With profound concern we have all witnessed via the media the devastation that Hurricane Dorian has left behind its wake among our brothers and sisters who live in the Bahamas. Some of your parishioners may even have relatives living in these islands. I am asking you to take up a second collection on September 21/22.

Relief efforts to provide assistance in the immediate aftermath of the hurricane have already begun in many parts of the United States. Recovery, especially in the northern part of the Bahama Islands, will be a slow and multi-year long process. However, in solidarity with the people of the Bahamas who have suffered such tragic loss, I invite you to contribute whatever you are able, each according to his/her means. No one of us, no matter how limited our means, can remain indifferent to the dire needs of our brothers and sisters who have endured such devastation.

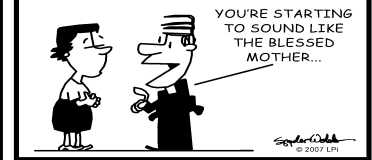

Let us continue to keep the people of the Bahamas in our prayers and let our hearts reach out. Certainly, the Lord will not allow himself to be outdone in generosity!

Thank you and may God bless you all.

Sincerely yours,
Most Reverend Peter Baldacchino
Bishop of Las Cruces

Dear Padre

September 15, 2019

How do I respect my young teenager's privacy in using social media without compromising parental protection?

There are more Facebook accounts than Catholics worldwide, reports the US Conference of Catholic Bishops (usccb.org/about/communications/social-media-guidelines.cfm). Social media—blogs, social networks, text messaging, and more—is the fastest-growing form of communication in the United States, particularly among youth and young adults. How can we take charge of it rather than let it control us?

While both adults and children need to protect themselves from their own thoughtless impulses in posting opinions and photographs online that may affect their reputations and careers, children need added protection from online predators. It's advisable for parents to set parameters with their children and convey the idea that technology use is a privilege, not a right. If parents intend to follow their kids on social media or monitor their phone, texting, and internet activity, transparency is better than spying and snooping. This helps prevent violating the privacy that young people desire and the trust needed between parents and their children. It's also prudent for parents to communicate the dangers of today's digital world and be vigilant in detecting warning signs exhibited by their children. These include changes in a child's personality and behavior, attempts to conceal their use of computers and handheld devices, and a decline in academic performance.

"Social media can be powerful tools for strengthening community, although social media interaction should not be viewed as a substitute for face-to-face gatherings," wrote the US Bishops. This applies to essential family interaction as well.
