Vocation Culture

Dear Confreres!

A d d i n g N u m b e r s i n t o
Accompanying: How many travels, how often meetings, how many seminars and how many workshops at different levels (national, regional, diocesan, congregation etc.)... Innumerable. How many novel methods are employed and how much resources are invested toward this ministry of Vocations and the Youth in the recent past. Can you find a youth for us... Do you have any of your relatives that is in SEARCH. Frantically.... yes.... I say frantically congregations and dioceses are looking for youngsters who tend to escape the sight of a religious in the church premises and schools. Invariably all General Chapters and General Consults have discussed and reflected on this aspect and have underlined very licitly that it is pivotal for the life of the Church and of the Institute. We are not alien to this, I think. Do we mean that we are bent on adding up numbers to the Institute by hook or by crook? No... Never... I am reminded of the saying of Fr. Arturo Sosa SJ when he talks to the Society of Jesus "Vocational Promotion is not an advertising campaign to sell the Society of Jesus Product. What we do is accompany processes of vocational discernment." I do hope that this defines better the stand of the church in today's world. The service of accompaniment is a genuine mission, which requires apostolic availability on the part of those who provide it- Pope Francis.

Vocation Camp into Vocational Centers. It is going to be almost 40 years when our forefathers made their first efforts in planting the seed of Guanellian charity in the Indian soil. Starting from our confreres from Italy, diocesan collaborators, the first Indian Guanellian confreres and many other confreres later on were in the forefront in this Vocation battle which has resulted in establishing and serving the formation centers and the mission houses, not only that but sending confreres to the Guanellian vineyard in the different parts of the world. The good Lord blessed their sweat and toil and rewarded their zeal for Christian charity. Not their every travel brought forth candidates, not that everywhere they were welcomed with open arms, undue criticisms, sleepless nights, long hours of travels, they had to befriend and placate with the diocesan bishops to educate them in the diocesan seminaries initially, not all candidates continued their vocational discernment, but if we look back today a faithful journey with hope, looking beyond the horizon for the streak of light, entrusting the trifling Vocation Ministry, the origin of the gigantic work of Charity to the Lord saying unworthy servants we did what we were supposed to do. But they witness today (some from heaven) the hundreds of poor in our houses, the flocks of lay people thronging the centers, the enormous initiatives of charity, the witness of Christian evangelization (preaching without words). We are servants today because they were Servants yesterday.

The ball is in our court & It is our turn: No Vocation is born of itself or lives for itself. A vocation flows from the heart of God and blossoms in the good soil of the faithful people. Did not Jesus say, 'by this all men will know that you are my disciples if you have love for one another'- Pope Francis. This reminds us of the source and author of Christian vocation and our co-responsibility in nurturing those vocations, creating the ambient and environment fostering and accompanying the young hearts. This is not just the work of minor seminaries or those confreres involved in this ministry alone rather of all the individual communities and of every Servant. Communities are propellers of experiences and initiatives, as a task force for provinces and Delegations, searching for the youth to propose new experiences, ready to invest resources (also economic resources) in vocation ministry-VII GC.

Vocation animation is the goal and summit of all other apostolates. Vocation animation stands out first in all our ministries like the small finger which is closer to God while in prayer. In short, the culture of vocation promotion and vocational discernment should emphasize our friendship in the Lord and our companionship with Jesus in view of the best possible service for the Church and the world.

Therefore, I appeal to each one of you, my dear Confreres, to be responsible in upholding the future of our province and the congregation through effective promotion of vocations to our province.

- We congratulate and thank the Vocation promoter Fr. Jeyaseelan Sdc and all the confreres who organized the vocation camps successfully and are traveling back and forth in connecting with the youngsters.
- We appeal to individual communities and the Superiors to do their best where ever you are present, opening the doors for lay people and youngsters to many more encounters of Christian charity and promote Vocations to Guanellian family as indicated by the 20th General Chapter.
- We wish and pray for our temporarily professed brothers who will be renewing their religious profession on 26th May, the day on which our dear founder was ordained as a priest by Bishop Bernardine M. Frascolla (May 26, 1886).
- We wish and pray for the Novices who will be professing their first religious profession on the day in which our dear founder celebrated his first thanksgiving Mass in Prosto (May 31, 1866).
- Our deepest condolences and continuous prayers to Fr. Maria Julian Bernad, SdC who lost his beloved grandfather Mr. D.M. Antony on 13th April 2023; Fr. Peter Sebastian, SdC who lost his beloved Father Mr. Maria Louis on 22nd April 2023; Fr. Satheesh, SdC who lost his beloved Father Mr. Alphonse on 23rd April, 2023 and Fr. Visuwasam, SdC who lost his maternal aunty Mrs. Thainis Mary on 26th April, 2023.

ADDRESS OF HIS HOLINESS POPE FRANCIS FOR THE PROTECTION OF MINORS

Dear brothers and sisters, good morning!

I am pleased to welcome all of you, particularly the new members of the Commission, as well as those continuing their service and the group of associates from around the world, who are a new and welcome addition. This is our first meeting since you were formally established within the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith, and I would like to provide you with some suggestions. The seeds sown some ten years ago, when the Council of Cardinals recommended the creation of this body, are bearing fruit, as we can see. In order to face today's challenges with wisdom and courage, it is important to pause for a moment and reflect on the past. Over the last decade, we have all learned a great deal, myself included!

The sexual abuse of minors by clergy and its poor handling by Church leaders has been one of the greatest challenges for the Church in our time. Many of you have committed your lives to this cause. War, hunger and indifference to the suffering of others are terrible problems in our world, and they cry out to heaven. Yet the sexual abuse crisis is particularly serious for the Church, because it undermines her ability to fully embrace and bear witness to God's liberating presence. The failure to act properly to halt this evil and to assist its victims has sullied our witness to God's love. In the Confiteor, we ask forgiveness not only for the wrong we have done, but also for the good we have failed to do. It can be easy to forget sins of omission, for in a way they seem less real; yet in fact they are very real, and they hurt the community as much as others, if not more so.

The failure, especially on the part of the Church's leaders, to do what we should have done, has been a cause of scandal for many; in recent years, awareness of this problem has spread to the entire Christian community. Yet, at the same time, we have not remained silent or inactive. Recently, I confirmed the Motu Proprio Vos Estis Lux Mundi (VELM), which is now permanently in place. The Motu Proprio calls, in particular, for setting aside places for receiving accusations and caring for those who report that they have been harmed (cf. Art. 2). To be sure, improvements can be made on the basis of experience, by Episcopal Conferences and individual bishops. No one today can honestly claim to be unaffected by the reality of sexual abuse in the Church.

In your work of addressing this multi-faceted issue, I would ask you to bear in mind the following three principles and to consider them as part of a spirituality of reparation.

1. First, where harm was done to people's lives, we are called to keep in mind God's creative power to make hope emerge from despair and life from death. The terrible sense of loss that many experience as a result of abuse can sometimes seem a burden too heavy to bear. Church leaders, who share a sense of shame for their failure to act, have suffered a loss of credibility, and our very ability to preach the Gospel has been damaged. Yet the Lord, who brings about new birth in every age, can restore life to dry bones (cf. Ezek 37:6). Even when the path forward is difficult and demanding, I urge you not to get bogged down; keep reaching out, keep trying to instil confidence in those you meet and who share with you this common cause. Do not grow discouraged when it seems that little is changing for the better. Persevere and keep moving forwards!

2. Secondly, sexual abuse has opened many wounds in our world, not only in the Church. Many victims continue to suffer the effects of abuse that took place years ago, yet continues to be an obstacle and a source of brokenness in their lives. The consequences of abuse make themselves felt in relationships between spouses, parents and children, brothers and sisters, friends and colleagues. Communities are traumatized; the insidious nature of abuse creates devastation and division in people's hearts and their relationships. Yet our lives are not meant to remain divided. What is broken must not stay broken. From the world of nature, we learn that every part of our lives is interconnected, and the life of faith connects this world with the world to come. Everything is interconnected. The mission Jesus received from his Father is to ensure that nothing and no one is lost (cf. Jn 6:39). Where life is broken, then, I ask you to help put pieces back together, in the hope that what is broken can be repaired.

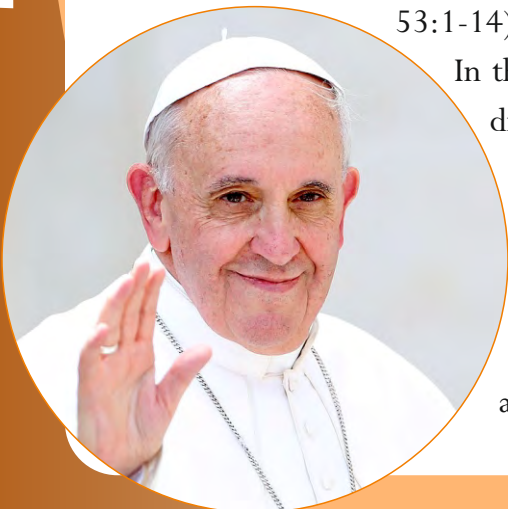

Recently I met with a group of survivors of abuse, who had asked to meet with the leadership of the religious institute that ran the school they attended around fifty years ago. I mention this because they discussed it openly. All of them were elderly and some of them, realizing that time is passing quickly, expressed their wish to live out their remaining years in peace. For them, peace meant resuming their relationship with the Church that had hurt them. They wanted closure not only for the evil they had suffered, but also for the questions that had haunted them ever since. They wanted to be heard and believed; they wanted someone to help them to understand. We talked together and they had the courage to open up. In particular, the daughter of one of them spoke of the impact of her father's experience on their entire family. Mending the torn fabric of past experience is a redemptive act, the act of the suffering Servant, who did not avoid pain, but took upon himself the iniquity of us all (cf. Is 53:1-14). This is the path of healing and redemption: the path of Christ's cross.

In that specific case, I can say that for these survivors there was a real dialogue during those meetings, at the end of which they said they felt welcomed like brothers and sisters, and regained a sense of hope for the future.

3. Third, I encourage you to cultivate an approach that mirrors the respect and kindness of God himself. The American poet and activist Maya Angelou once wrote: "I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel". So be gentle in your actions, bearing one another's burdens (cf. Gal 6:1-2), without complaining, but considering that this moment of reparation for the Church will give way to a further moment in the history of salvation. The living God has not exhausted his sources of grace and blessing! Let us not forget that the wounds of the Passion remained on the body of the risen Christ, no longer as a source of suffering or shame, but as signs of mercy and transformation.

Now is the time to repair the damage done to previous generations and to those who continue to suffer. This Easter season is a sign that a new time is being prepared for us, a new springtime, made fruitful by the work and tears we share with those who have suffered. That is why it is important that we never stop pressing ahead. You are using your skills and expertise to help repair a terrible scourge in the Church by working to assist the various particular Churches. From the ordinary life of a diocese in its parishes and seminary, to the training of catechists, teachers and other pastoral workers, the importance of safeguarding minors and vulnerable persons must be the rule for everyone. In this regard, in religious and apostolic life, even cloistered novices must adhere to the same ministerial standards as their elderly brothers and sisters who spent a lifetime teaching the young.

The principles of respect for the dignity of all, for right conduct and a sound way of life must become a universal rule, independent of people's culture or economic and social condition. All the Church's ministers must respect this rule in the way they serve the faithful, and they in turn must be treated with respect and dignity by those who lead the community. Indeed, a culture of safeguarding will only take root if there is a pastoral conversion in this regard among the Church's leaders.

I am encouraged by your plans for addressing inequalities within the Church through training programmes and assistance to victims, in Africa, Asia and Latin America. It is not right that the most prosperous areas of the world should have well-trained and well-funded safeguarding programmes, where victims and their families are respected, while in other parts of the world they suffer in silence, perhaps rejected or stigmatized when they try to come forward to tell of the abuse they have suffered. Here too, the Church must seek to be a model of acceptance and good practice. Efforts to improve guidelines and standards for the conduct of clergy and religious must continue. I ask you to keep me informed of these efforts, and to offer an annual report on what you consider to be working well or otherwise, so that appropriate changes can be made. Last year I encouraged you to share your expertise on the various ways in which you believe the work of the Roman Curia can help in the protection of minors, as a source of reciprocal enrichment in your new role. I was pleased to learn of your cooperation agreement with the Dicastery for Evangelization, given its vast outreach to many of the world's most distant areas.

You have already done much in these first six months. I bless you from my heart. Know that I am close to your work; and please, remember to pray for me, as I will for you.

ANNUAL DAY

Provincialate : Don Guanella Evening School, DPP, Chennai, celebrated its Annual Day on 25th April, 2023. Fr. Anandan and Fr. John Kennedy were the chief guests for the program. All the students and their parents were invited to this function. The program began with the prayer song and Fr. Arun, Incharge of Evening School welcomed the gathering and the chief guests were welcomed with the shawls by our students. The students entertained everyone with their beautiful dance. Fr. John Kennedy encouraged students to concentrate on education and wished a better future for them. Then, Mr. Antony, laughing yoga master helped the students with some of his yoga tips to equip the talents and memory power of the students through some of the asanas of yoga. Afterwards, all the students were gifted with two layered lunch box and ½ kg wheat flour. Then, Fr. Arun thanked the students, parents and teachers for their involvement in the progress of the Evening School program and he encouraged the students to be regular to the Evening School & to bring more students to the Evening school program to be benefitted in the forthcoming academic year. Finally, a sumptuous dinner was provided to everyone and everyone departed to their homes happily to enjoy their vacation.

PASSION PLAY IN GPN

Bangalore: Good Friday in GPN has come to be known for the re-enactment of the Passion Play by the members of the Guanellian family. This year, the preparations for the Passion Play started early in the Lenten season, under the guidance of Rev. Fr. Kulandaisamy and Fr. Mathias, the GC, GLM members, and a few benefactors who prepared in earnest. The actors diligently rehearsed their scenes in anticipation of the production. In response to feedback from previous years, some reflections and prayers were incorporated into this year's show. On Good Friday, the actors were ready in their costumes which resembled the people of Jerusalem in the first century. The play began at 11 AM to a crowd of approximately 600 to 800 people who gathered on our premises. Scenes from the Last Supper, the agony of Jesus at Gethsemane, the chief priests' residence, Pilate's Palace, the Stations of the Cross, and the burial of Jesus were depicted. The presentation moved the audience, and many individuals were emotional as they joined this journey to Calvary.

EVENING SCHOOL ANNUAL DAY IN GPN

Bangalore: On the 2nd of April 2023, the GPN community organized an Annual Day celebration for our evening school children in collaboration with Team Family for Christ. Mr. Jim and Mrs. Bridget, along with Bro. Maria Paul coordinated the event. One hundred and eight children from Geddalhalli and Gunduthoopu participated in these festivities. After the academic exams, the children, with grateful hearts, thanked the institute and the teachers for their support throughout the year. The children performed many cultural programs to entertain the crowd. Mr. Louis Antony Raj sponsored gifts for the children as mementos of the occasion. The Annual Day celebration ended with a sumptuous meal.

HIRIYARA JAATRE (Elders Fest)

Bangalore: The Volunteer Social Service Group organized the HIRIYARA JAATRE (Elders Fest) on the 16th of April. Twenty-five residents, along with volunteers, started a journey toward Marathahalli to take part in the fest. We received a grand welcome with traditional music performed by the youngsters of VTVO.

Thirty-six indoor games had been arranged to entertain and engage the elders. Our grandpas actively participated in all the games and received many prizes. Following these games, a delicious lunch was served, which everyone thoroughly enjoyed. Next, our senior citizens participated in cultural programs giving mesmerizing performances and earning prizes for their efforts. More than 25 institutes around Bangalore participated.

EASTER CELEBRATION

Sivagangai: Christ is Risen! Truly Risen! Alleluia! In this joyful season of Easter, a CSI group of around 30 fishermen from Thangachimadam came over here to celebrate the Easter glory with the children. Mr. Dharmaraj, one of the members, offered a simple prayer during the worship service. Our children were enthusiastic when Mrs. Angel taught them a song incorporating singing and praying. The attendees were surprised to see children with different abilities performing dances, speeches, and songs. They appreciated the service and the mission. The CSI sponsored a delicious lunch, including fish, which we all enjoyed.

VISIT OF DEPUTY COLLECTOR

Sivagangai: Mrs. K. Nazi Munisha, Deputy Collector, who is now District Supply Officer, came to visit our school. Her visit resulted from the bulk rice supply request for a residential special school. First, the Deputy Collector inquired about the schoolchildren and their strengths. Then, she toured the school premises, visiting the classrooms, the kitchen, and the storerooms. Next, Fr.

Arputharaj, the Director, explained the specifics of the school and submitted the required documentation for the bulk supply. Mrs. Munisha was pleased with the visit and gave an approval note to sanction the bulk supply every month.

GOOD SAMARITANS

Sivagangai: "We can never stop as long as there are poor to be assisted, distress to be relieved." St. Guanella. The Good Samaritan Group (Public Welfare Trust) from the Kalayarkoil branch visited our children. The group comprised other denominations, such as Protestants and Catholics, and different age groups, from young children to the elderly. Mr. James, our GLM member, invited the group to visit our school, meet our children and enjoy a meal with us. GSG offered the guests and the children a sumptuous lunch prepared by their own hands. A simple prayer of thanksgiving for this opportunity was offered to the Lord. Finally, Fr. Arputharaj thanked them for their generous hearts and service.

TALENTS EXPRESSED IN GAMES

Chennai: Don Guanella Special School's ANNUAL SPORTS DAY was held on April 1, 2023. Since this is our school's 24th year, 24 games were organized. The winners received cups, and medals were awarded as consolation prizes. Rev. Fr. J. Ronald, Provincial Superior, was an honorable guest who encouraged the staff and the children. Prof. Dr. B. Chenpagapandian, Honourable Secretary of Davaram Sports Academy, and Mrs. P. MohanaValli, a physical education teacher, were the chief guests. A prayer was offered before the opening remarks and flag-raising ceremony. Students also participated in skills and drills, group sports activities, silambattam, and games. It was a great day for students and guests.

CLIMAX OF 2023 - 24

Chennai: On April 20, 2023, the 24th Annual Day celebration occurred. The program's theme was "Importance of Health." Every dance and cultural event highlighted the importance of fruits, vegetables, and healthy natural diets. During the event, the dangers of processed and junk food were emphasized. Rev. Fr. P.J. Lawrence Raj, Parish Priest of St. Antony's Church Avadi, Mrs. Kanchana Sudhakar, Chairman of Poonamallee Municipality, and Mr. Arasan Doss, Head of Natpu Karangal Social Service Association, were the chief guests of the program. Mrs. Deepa Devi, Principal of Don Guanella Special School, presented the report for the academic year 2022-23. Each student received a prize, while the chief guests were honored with mementos, shawls, and flower pots.

HOLY WEEK AND EASTER

Chennai: The Holy Week and Easter celebrations at Anthoniyarpuram Parish were grace-filled and meaningful. The parishioners were pleased to take on the new task of celebrating the Easter Triduum for the first time in their native place. With the help of the youth and volunteers, we organized a pious Eucharistic Procession on Maundy Thursday, a meaningful re-enactment of the Stations of the Cross on Good Friday, and a creative way of depicting the Resurrection of Jesus. The faithful greatly appreciated this prayerful and grace-filled celebration. Some benefactors came forward to offer tea, buns, snacks, sweets, and eggs after the ceremony. We thank the Lord for his guidance and blessings.

"JESUS SUFFERS WITH THOSE WHO SUFFER."

Eluru: "When we serve those who suffer, we console and gladden the Heart of Christ," says Pope Francis. We traditionally celebrate Good Friday with the priest carrying the cross around the village of Vatluru, people washing the feet of the priests, and all doing penance on this day. "It is not I who live but the Christ who lives in me," says St. Paul. Therefore, service is a great act of piety and devotion.

EDUCATION IS THE PASSPORT TO THE FUTURE

Eluru: Education helps expose us to new ideas and concepts that we, in turn, can use to appreciate and improve the world around us and the world within us. Our Guanella evening school children were given various opportunities to learn, experience, and become skillful in society. We have given them educational materials such as Notebooks, blackboards, pens, pencils, and sports items to facilitate their education.

INTENSIVE ENGLISH CLASS

Koppakka: Henry Ford has rightly said, “Anyone who stops learning is old, whether at twenty or eighty. Anyone who keeps learning stays young.” English has become a necessary and common language for communication and learning in today's modern world. Hence, there is a need to know this language to ensure our mission's future in various parts of the world. Cognizant of this necessity, Guanella Bhavan Minor Seminary, with great responsibility, has organized Intensive English classes for our Intermediate Brothers in Koppaka. This program occurred during the month of April, with sixteen brothers attending. Fr. Sagayaraj and Fr. Arun David were the resource persons who taught them grammar classes. Brothers were happy to learn, deepen their knowledge, and improve their communication skills.

A BUSY SHRINE

Grass Lake - The Pious Union has been quite busy lately. Many faithful attended our solemn celebration of Easter Sunday Mass. A service was held on April 16th, Divine Mercy Sunday, with Adoration, Confessions, the Divine Mercy Chaplet, and Benediction. Over fifty people came to receive the Lord's reconciliation that day. April 25th brought many Servants of Charity priests to the Pious Union to celebrate Mass during the USA Assembly, with Fr. Fortunato, Fr. Dennis Weber, and Fr. Ronald among them. Gifts were exchanged after Mass and priests and congregants alike enjoyed the reunion.

SCOUT REVITALIZES NATURE TRAIL

Chelsea – Ellie Zuniga, an American Heritage Girl from Troop 3498, embarked on her final project. She has a love of nature and enjoys building things, so she decided to help spruce up the St. Louis Center nature trail. On a rainy Saturday, April 1st, Ellie, her troop, and her corps of volunteers cleared branches and debris from the trail, assembled two benches, a deer feeder and installed several bird and bat houses. Part of the crew returned two weeks later to paint the trail markers that were installed. When the weather warms up a bit, there will be a formal ribbon cutting with the residents.

THE GIFT OF EASTER JOY

Chelsea – Instilling generosity into the fabric of one's life begins at an early age. Sarah Meinhart of Ann Arbor is working hard to raise her children as faithful, generous Catholics; they attend St. Thomas the Apostle School. Each year Sarah organizes an Easter candy drive with her children's classes and delivers the goodies to St. Louis Center during Holy Week. This year her children were able to make the trip with her on Thursday, April 6th. They got a little tour by the staff and one of the residents. She is committed to making sure that the residents have an amazing Easter.

ST. LOUIS CENTER RESIDENTS BEGIN A NEW ENDEAVOR

Chelsea – Haylie Moran, Day Program Coordinator, is helping the residents in the program start a micro-enterprise. They will be making dog biscuits and campfire bricks that will be sold at the Wednesday Farmers' Market in Chelsea. On April 20th, Brian and Mike worked on shredding paper that will be used to make camp bricks. They are all very excited for the first market in May.

PICKLEBALL COMES TO ST. LOUIS CENTER

Chelsea – Pickleball has become all the rage for people to keep in good shape. Lee, one of the St. Louis Center residents, has gotten pretty good at the game by playing each Friday with the Chelsea Senior Center Pickleball Club. Club members were so thrilled that he took such a liking to the sport that they donated a practice net, rackets and balls to St. Louis Center. Lee and Club members are hoping to teach more of the residents and even staff members how to play.

AKTION CLUB GIVES BACK

Chelsea – The residents of St. Louis Center have their own Kiwanis Aktion Club on-campus. Each year the Club designs and sells Christmas cards to raise funds. On Thursday, April 27th, Aktion Club members invited Sarah Shugart, Executive Director of Faith in Action Chelsea, to attend the meeting so that Lisa, Aktion Club President, could present her with a donation on behalf of the St. Louis Center Aktion Club. During the meeting, the club members made cards that will be given to St. Louis Center staff.

KNIGHTS ON CAMPUS

Chelsea – So many members of the Michigan Knights of Columbus faithfully give of their time, talent, and treasure for the benefit of St. Louis Center. Many of those same members have never visited the Center, so Center staff planned a special event for them April 30th. Mass opened the event. Following Mass, former Michigan State Deputy ken Unterbrink welcomed the visitors. A picnic lunch was served and the fellowship and fun began. A DJ played music for dancing; a bouncy house was donated so that children could have a bit of fun; and activities Coordinator Laura Rayer had several outdoor games available. Tours of the campus were mapped out so that everyone could get a good picture of the work being done at the Center. All attendees enjoyed themselves and first time visitors were excited to go home and share the news about St. Louis Center.
