What can I give up for Lent?

Rather than give up some trivial pleasure like candy or beer.....

What about giving up 15 minutes each day to do something very meaningful toward making true repentance in our hearts and minds; something we've always SAID we have wanted to do but never actually do, like reading Scripture or familiarizing ourselves with the Catechism of the Catholic Church; something concrete that will help us understand the path of life that leads to ETERNAL HAPPINESS WITH GOD???

Can we give up just 15 minutes per day of social media, video games, or watching the political posturing on news channels?

Now, I understand that we probably wouldn't be able to read the Bible or the entire Catechism during this Lenten season, but there are certain sections of the Catechism and Books of the Bible that we are certainly capable of reading in bite-sized quantities in just 15 minutes per day.

Option 1 – Suggestion for Lent

Read both the Gospels of Luke and John. (They are both Gospels but written very differently). The Gospel of Luke contains 24 chapters while John contains 21 chapters for a total of 45 chapters. Guess what??? From Ash Wednesday to Good Friday there are 45 days. That equates to only 1 chapter per day, which certainly can be read in less than 15 minutes.

Option 2 – Suggestion for Lent

Read Part 3 of the Catechism of the Catholic Church, which addresses our Life in Christ.

Section 1 in that Part explains Man's Vocation. This is a great start to understanding the very purpose of our lives. It is 75 pages short. That equates to 1 ½ pages per day or 9 paragraphs per day.

Section 2 in that Part delves into the Ten Commandments. There's a lot more to these commandments of God than just the surface. This section is a little longer at 113 pages, but that's still less than 2 pages per day or 10 paragraphs per day!!

Option 3 – Suggestion for Lent

Read Part 4 of the Catechism, which addresses the power of Prayer. It is also 75 pages, but fewer paragraphs, only 8 paragraphs per day will get you through the entire Part 4 on Prayer.

Option 4 – Suggestion for Lent

Read just the Passion Narratives from each of the Gospel accounts. Below is a breakdown of the verses in a format that can be used as a bookmark in your Bible as you progress through the readings.

The breakdown amounts to less than 45 verses per day, which certainly can be read in less than 15 minutes.

Reflection of An Adorer

12/26/23

My dear daughter, I love you very much. My dear precious children, I, the Lord your God, has come to you on this earth to show you how to live your life in love, joy, and forgiveness. This feast day of my beloved disciple Saint Stephen, has shown you an example of forgiveness. He has imitated his Lord by forgiving his persecutors as he died. His eyes were fixed upon heaven as I welcomed him into paradise. My dear children, you are to do as Stephen; you are to imitate your Lord by forgiving your enemies. How else can they be saved if you do not bring your light upon them in prayer to cast out the darkness. You, who are my children, have seen a great light! You, who know how to love me, should know that love and mercy are the virtues I desire most. You are to be imitators of Christ Jesus and cast out the darkness by your light. Then my dear children, you will see the gates of heaven open up for you. My arms will reach down for you and bring you to myself. Go in peace, I love you very much!

Covenant and Commitment

At first glance it may seem a little odd that the first Sunday of Lent would have a reading about God's covenant with Noah. We all know the story. God sent a flood to wipe out the earth because of their sin and disobedience and then God made a covenant with his people to never again send a flood that would destroy the earth. So why has the Church chosen this reading for Lent? Isn't Lent all about suffering, not God's loving plan for his people?

Well, I think this reading actually fits perfectly in this penitential season. Time and time again in the Old Testament we see God enacting covenants with his people, and time and time again we see human beings breaking these covenants. God wants to give his life and love and we as a human race are quick to turn our backs on him and break the commitment of the covenant.

I see Lent as a time of preparation for Easter and this Holy Feast day celebrates the culmination of the New Covenant that Christ enacted on the cross. We reflect on the suffering and death of Christ, we fast and abstain, and we pray, in order that our hearts might be more ready for the covenant that God has for us.

Instead of reliving history and breaking the small commitments God asks of us, Lent is a time to dive deeply into these commitments so that his covenant can ring true in our hearts and we will be ready for it. Even Jesus as the Son of God knew how important it would be for us to slow down and reflect on what is most important. He didn't need to spend any time in the desert, but today's Gospel reminds us that he went there anyway. He gives us the example of what it looks like to be faithful to his heavenly Father.

This Lent, I encourage you, and myself, to dive deeply. Let's allow this to be a time of purification and penance so that when Easter time comes, we will truly know what it means to rejoice.

From all of us here at Diocesan, God bless!

By Tommy Shultz

First Sunday of Lent Clear Conscience

Usually, the first reading has something in common with the gospel. Today's however, has more in common with the second reading from St. Peter. They both talk about Noah and the ark, where the few good people were saved by going through the water. Peter compares that to the waters of Baptism, in which we are saved by God. He also has an interesting image of Jesus "preaching to the spirits in prison." It refers to the fallen angels whose disobedience lead the rest of the population to turn away from God. Just as God washed away the evil of the world in the waters of the flood, so the waters of Baptism made us into a new people who have clear consciences, both because God has forgiven our sins and because we promise to follow only Him.

That leads to the Gospel, where Jesus is tempted by Satan. But unlike the people of Noah's time, Jesus does not fall to the temptations. Instead, he comes out of the desert, proclaiming that the Kingdom of God is near. He tells us to repent and believe in the good news.

That means we have a choice to make: Do we accept this kingdom and repent, or do we ignore our baptism and do what we want? We may say that we are willing to repent, but do we do anything about it? Do we still have a clear conscience when we think of how much time we spend getting to know Jesus? Ever pray or read the bible outside of church? Do we spend near as much on the poor, as we do for movies, hobbies, video games, or drinks? Do we ever tell anyone about the kingdom and what Jesus has done for us?

Next time you see a rainbow, think about the covenant that God made with Noah. Just as God's promises get better and better till the coming of Jesus, we are challenged to be more and more like Him. Are you satisfied with just a promise that God won't destroy us all in a flood? Or are you ready to live the New Covenant that Jesus promises to those who will follow him?
