HAPPY TH 4TH OF JULY

Dear Parishioners,

If one thinks back 250 years, one recognizes that there are a lot of things that happened to our country. We first experienced the American Revolution, one that gave us freedom and liberty. Yet in the documents that were written, declaring our independence, it also reminded us that we were a country that could see that the hand of God was always guiding it. If one reads the Declaration of Independence, there are three distinct times that God and our Nation are mentioned in this founding document of our country.

Having a history degree, there are so many periods of our American history that I have studied. In particular, I focused on our history around the forming of our nation. One can see how freedom allowed us to grow. It was never easy, but yet our nation became one of promise and a chance for a new life. Freedom gave us courage. Freedom left us with an adventurous spirit. We welcomed people from many nations to our lands, with that promise of freedom and a new life. If we go into our family history far enough back, many of us can trace what countries our parents, grandparents or great grandparents came from.

I always like to remind people that we can't lose our focus on God and on faith. These principal virtues have guided our nation through many trying times. We have fought the Civil War, World Wars, and many other conflicts and challenges. When one reads or hears the words of encouragement that were given, we can see that there are so many times that our leaders called on the name of God for help and guidance. These words reminded us that we could find peace, even in the midst of all these things.

As we celebrate our country's 250th anniversary of Independence and Freedom on this 4th of July weekend, let us be thankful for those who paved the way for us and gave us what we have and enjoy today. May we also remember that we now carry that same responsibility to pass on the faith that God still watches over our nation and our lives.

Count your blessings on this anniversary. May God Bless America! Happy Anniversary everyone!

Thanks for reading!

Fr. Mark

Reflection on the Readings

In today's second reading, St. Paul presents his listeners with a choice. There are two kinds of people: those who live according to the Spirit of God, and those who live in the flesh. Those of the flesh satisfy their desires in this life with no thought of God, and eventually, they die. Those who live in the Spirit are different—rather than thoughtlessly indulging their desires, they “put to death the deeds of the body” (Rom. 8:13). Their focus is not on this life, but on the one to come, when “the one who raised Christ from the dead” will give them new life (v.11).

So far we understand—there is a choice: flesh or spirit, life or death. We desire life. But what sort of life are we choosing? Once God has us in his power, what will he do to us? Will we be helpless subjects suffering under the reign of a ruthless king? Mere puppets in the hands of an indifferent master?

The remainder of today's readings provide comfort. “Rejoice heartily, O daughter Zion!” the prophet Zechariah exclaims. “See, your king shall come to you...Meek, and riding on an ass, on a colt, the foal of an ass” (Zech. 9:9). In fulfillment of this prophecy, Jesus declared of himself: “Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am meek and humble of heart; and you will find rest for yourselves” (Matt. 11:29). The king has not come to dominate, but rather to free those suffering under heavy yokes (v.28). Through Jesus, we come to know God our Father and his heart (v.27). And what is the Father like? “The Lord is good to all, compassionate to every creature....The Lord supports those who are falling and raises up all who are bowed down” (Ps. 145:9,14).

Choosing the life of the Spirit should not be the result of obligation or fear of punishment. Rather, it is a joyful outpouring of love for the Creator who has “hidden these things from the wise and the learned” and “revealed them to the childlike” (Matt. 11:25).

Conscience of the Catholic Voter

As we approach another very important election this year (Primary Election is August 4th, General Election is November 3rd), all Catholics are called to "Form Our Conscience". The basis of doing this is provided by our nation's Declaration of Independence (signed on July 4, 1776) that all men and women are created equal and that the source of our human rights is the Creator. These rights apply to all humans from the moment of conception until natural death, especially those who are most vulnerable, the unborn and the frail elderly. That is why our Catholic Faith teaches us that we must always be against abortion and euthanasia.
