Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity

Jesus revealed to us the mystery of God: he, the Son, made us know the Father who is in Heaven, and gave us the Holy Spirit, the Love of the Father and of the Son. Christian theology synthesizes the truth of God with this expression: only one substance in three persons. God is not solitude, but perfect communion. For this reason the human person, the image of God, realizes himself or herself in love, which is a sincere gift of self.

We are contemplating the mystery of the love of God shared in a sublime way in the Most Holy Eucharist, the Sacrament of the Body and Blood of Christ, the representation of his redeeming Sacrifice.

In particular, each parish is called to rediscover the beauty of Sunday, the Lord's Day, in which the disciples of Christ renew, in the Eucharist, communion with the One who gives meaning to the joys and hardships of each day.

"Without Sunday we cannot live": thus professed the first Christians, even at the cost of their lives, and this is what we are called to repeat today.

— Benedict XVI, Angelus, May 22, 2005

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus,
I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.
I love You above all things,
and I desire to receive You into my soul.
Since I cannot at this moment
receive You sacramentally,
come at least spiritually into my heart.
I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You.
Never permit me to be separated from You.
Amen.

The Thomistic Institute Presents “Quarantine Lectures”

The Thomistic Institute (TI), founded in 2009, exists to promote Catholic truth in our contemporary world by strengthening the intellectual formation of Christians at universities, in the Church, and in the wider public square. Dominican scholars from the San Francisco Bay Area are among the associated teachers. St. Thomas Aquinas wrote that God always brings good out of evil. It is in that spirit that TI has created the livestream “Quarantine Lectures.” The live lectures, with post-lecture discussion, are on Facebook Live and/or YouTube. For full information and to register for lectures, visit the website, thomisticinstitute.org/#home-section.
