From the desk of Father Chris

"Charity in truth, to which Jesus Christ bore witness by his earthly life and especially by his death and resurrection, is the principal driving force behind the authentic development of every person and of all humanity. Love — caritas — is an extraordinary force which leads people to opt for courageous and generous engagement in the field of justice and peace."

(Caritas in Veritate)

This past week was an exciting one for us at St. Anselm. We hosted Fr. Stephen Mutie for the weekend masses to tell us of the good work of the Pallottine Fathers. Parents of our St. Anselm School students gathered to pray and meet the teachers on Monday. On Wednesday, we had our first day of school, beginning with the annual backpack blessing and clap-in to the new school year. Friday, we had our Mass of the Holy Spirit, which is another way for us as Catholics to kick-off the new school year. We asked the Holy Spirit to be with our students, faculty, and staff. It was an exciting week indeed at St. Anselm.

In addition to our students heading back to school, our CYO fall sports are in full swing with practices and games. Say a prayer for our Spartan athletes and coaches as they embark upon this new athletic season.

Speaking of new, last week reintroduced the chalice with the Precious Blood of Christ at the weekend Masses. For us to be able to continue this ministry, we're going to need help. If you have ever undergone the Diocesan training to become an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion (EMHC) and are not currently on the schedule to help distribute Communion at St. Anselm, please reach out to me via email or call the parish office. The goal is to begin with one chalice each Mass. The minister (usually Deacon Bob) will stand to the left of my Communion station and to the right of the Communion station closest to the choir section. If you'd like to receive from the chalice, consider sitting in one of these two sections. Thank you for your help in this important ministry.

Please consider keeping our brothers and sisters in struggling parts of the world in prayer this week, especially those who were victims of the fire in Maui and the victims of the fire in Canada earlier this summer. St. Anselm, Pray for Us!

May God Bless You,
Fr. Chris

Revelation: Divine vs. Natural

How do we know that God exists? How do we know who God is? How do we have a relationship with Him?

Even though God is present to us now in a way that is obscured and veiled by our own limitations and imperfections, we can still know Him and have relationship with Him. God desires that all people be with Him in Heaven someday. Heaven is complete and perfect unity with God: we will see Him face to face (1 Cor. 13:12). That intimacy with God begins here on earth.

God initiates relationship with us right now by giving us the ability of reason; we are rational creatures. This is one ability that no other creature on earth has. We can know that God exists, and even some things about Him, through this reason. St. Thomas Aquinas once wrote about the Five Proofs for God's Existence. These Proofs are a great example of using logic and the world around us to know God. This is what is known as Natural Revelation: what we can know about God, independent of His explicit revelation.

Divine Revelation is what God tells us about Himself, through the prophets, Scripture, and most clearly through the life and actions of Jesus Christ, who is God incarnate. While we can know basic things about God through Natural Revelation, we need Divine Revelation to know God intimately enough to have a relationship with Him.

To come to the fullness of truth about God, we cannot have only one or the other. Both Natural and Divine Revelation are necessary for us to come to know God in a way that will bring us closer to perfect unity in Heaven at the end of our lives.

Notes from Sister Noel

Some of us by nature like making decisions and others would rather not, "just tell me what you want." Some prefer a clear command so we know what we are supposed to do. Yet no matter which personality we may be, we all find it difficult to make decisions at times and to know what we are to do, whether in a given task or in setting the direction for the rest of our lives.

In the second reading this weekend, we read "how inscrutable are God's judgments and how unsearchable His ways." Our God is mystery. It is a call to enter into the journey to find God in our lives. That calls for walking in faith.

God does not leave us totally in the dark. There are the moments we do sense that God is near and is interacting with us. If we begin to see the many coincidences of our lives as God's interventions, we may not feel so alone or abandoned.

God wants us to continue the search that rewards us in periodic insights into what God is trying to tell us. God calls us to ponder and then act on what He may be telling us. Some days are better than others but all call for us to be attentive.

A spiritual writer once said, "Life is a mystery to be lived and not a problem to be solved". That stays with me. It calls for an open heart and an appreciation of life itself. Who does this best in our lives? I think it is wise and the innocent. God tells us, "Seek me and you will find me." Where are you looking?

May all students beginning school at any level this season find the wonders and the presence of God in the events and the people of each day.

Sister Noel Marra OSU

Eternal Rest grant unto them, O Lord...
