Synod Listening Sessions at St. Peter

St. Peter is pleased to offer two listening sessions in preparation for the world wide Synod called by Pope Francis. These sessions are open to everyone — Catholic or not, parishioner or not, believer or not. What do you want the leadership of the Catholic Church to hear from you? This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, possibly the most extensive effort of its kind in history.

The sessions will be held in the parish hall on the following dates:

Tuesday, March 29, 9:30 - 11:30 am

Tuesday, April 5, 6 - 8 pm

Plan to attend and spread the word far and wide.

Thanks to trained facilitators from St. Basil, our fellow parish in the Collaborative, for offering these sessions

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Prayer Garden

Early work has begun on the new prayer garden and grounds improvement. Over the next several weeks, parishioners will see designs, layouts, and hear about our new gardens. The gardens will be a beautiful place of prayer and reflection and will enhance the liturgical experience for all of us. Stay tuned for construction updates.

Legacy Pledge Payments

Many parishioners have completed their Legacy Pledge Payments, and we thank them all for their generosity. Many more are completing their pledges this year, and we ask all parishioners to continue to make their payments on the pledge amount. If you have any questions about the remaining balance, or your payment schedule of payments, please contact the Business Office at 269-857-7951 ext. 103

Please pray for the repose of the soul of

Maryrita Peters
and Patricia Rozek

Who both passed away this past week.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them.

*May the souls of the faithful departed,
through the mercy of God, rest in peace.
Amen*

Bishop Bradley to Preside at Mass

Bishop Bradley will preside at the 10:30am Mass on Sunday, April 3rd. There will be no Liturgy of the Word for Children at that Mass so the children can stay and observe the bishop in action and hear his message.

KNOW YOUR RITES

Since the beginning of the COVID shutdown, like many of the parish staff members, I've had my office phone permanently forwarded to my cell phone. Calls that come to me that way show up as "No Caller ID." When this appears on my screen, I know it's a "work call," but I never have any idea who the caller is or what the topic will be.

About two weeks ago, the caller was Fr. John Jaddou, from St. Joseph Chaldean Catholic Church in Troy, Michigan. Fr. John and another priest had "scouted" the area —and St. Peter's — a couple of months ago on behalf of their hiking group. And the next thing you know, they will be celebrating Mass according to the Chaldean Rite here at St. Peter's before heading out on their hike.

This almost never happens.

The Mass will take place at 11am on April 2, and everyone is invited. It will be a unique experience for everyone — the Chaldeans celebrating here at St. Peter's, and we of St. Peter's participating in the worship of another Rite within our Church.

So, what is the Chaldean Rite? What is a Rite, anyway? If these are your questions, you are in the right place.

We are called Roman Catholics because our experience of the Church is within the Roman Rite of the Church. The structure of the Liturgy, language, wording and numerous other characteristics of religious practice are governed by the Roman Rite. Of the 1.4 billion Catholics in the world, about 1.2 billion are within the Roman Rite.

But the Church is universal. It started, as you know, in the Middle East. The apostles traveled to Alexandria, Egypt, into Turkey and Greece, and on to Rome. Thomas headed east into India.

These local churches grew up with customs, language, and texts that originated in the earliest days (as do many of ours) and have become formalized through the ages. You might be familiar with some of these Eastern Rites: Coptic (Egypt), Maronite (Lebanon), and Byzantine, which is a group of a rather small population from places that include Syria, Ukraine, Albania, Bulgaria, Macedonia, Russia, and more. Many of the Byzantine Rites use Greek as their main language. All of these rites are part of the Catholic Church that we are a part of, including the Chaldean Rite.

The Chaldean Rite is from Iraq. Biblical names for Iraq include Shinar, Sumer, Samaria, Assyria, Elam, Babylonia, and Chaldea. This region is also a part of what the Bible calls Mesopotamia.

There are about a dozen Chaldean Rite Catholic Churches in the Detroit metro area. They have their own diocese and eparch (bishop), but their bishop, like ours, is subordinate to the Holy Father. Unlike our bishop, however, the eparch of this diocese (eparchy) is directly subordinate to the Holy Father, and is not part of a province, as Roman Catholic bishops are.

The Chaldean eparchy, with its cathedral in Southfield, Michigan, covers the eastern half of the United States and was established by Pope John Paul II in 1985. Another eparchy, in San Diego, established in 2002, governs the western states.

The language of the Liturgy of the Chaldean Rite is modern Aramaic; Aramaic is the language that Jesus spoke in everyday life. The liturgy also uses English and Arabic.

I have never experienced a Chaldean Rite Eucharist, and I look forward to meeting Fr. John and friends and to celebrating the Eucharist with them in our church. I hope you'll plan to participate as well.

Details: While this Mass will be of a different Rite than our own, it is completely within the scope of the universal Catholic Church. You are welcome and encouraged to receive Holy Communion, if you wish.

Further, according to Canon Law, you may receive Holy Communion a second time in the same day (First Saturday morning Mass and the Chaldean Mass at 11, for example), if you are fully participating in the Mass both times. And while Canon Law does not specify it, one could conceivably receive Holy Communion at the Saturday evening Mass as well, since the Mass of Saturday evening is actually the Mass of Sunday. My advice, for what it's worth: pick two at the most. Then there's no question.

La Corresponsabilidad Diaria

El Rostro en el Folleto de Dios

Cuando una iglesia está recaudando fondos para un nuevo edificio o una diócesis está lanzando una apelación de corresponsabilidad, generalmente hay alguien, o varios, que actúa como la cara de la campaña. Tal vez sea una pareja casada, una familia o un grupo de personas que han sido particularmente activas en la comunidad y pueden hablar sobre el mérito de cualquier esfuerzo que se esté emprendiendo.

A menudo, para bien o para mal, cumplimos ese papel para Dios. Somos el rostro en el frente de Su folleto promocional. Si nos llamamos cristianos, eso significa que las personas conocerán a Cristo a través de nosotros. Eso es lo que es ser un corresponsable diario: un corresponsable todos los días; alguien que se ocupa de los asuntos de su Amo cuando no se ve al Amo.

Puede ser intimidante porque tenemos mucho equipaje y no tenemos capacidades propias. Pero luego recordamos que se nos ofrece la reconciliación por medio de Cristo, que "todo lo viejo a pasado, (y) ya todo es nuevo" (2 Corintios 5:17). Recordamos que somos los hijos pródigos, y el becerro engordado ha sido sacrificado por nosotros.
