

Learning Support Teaching position at St. Paul School

Date: October 27, 2025

School Name: St. Paul School

School Address: 1690 Church Street, San Francisco, 94131

Contact Person: Jacqueline Curran

Position Title: Learning Support Teacher

Position Type: Part Time (18-24 hours a week)

Hourly Range: $28 -$43 (based on education and years of experience)

Job Description: We invite you to be part of a community of educators who together shape young people into respectful, engaged, academic learners in the Catholic faith. Our small school has a history of successful outcomes both in academics and in growing community. If you are looking for a mission driven, student-centered position, you may be the perfect fit. With proper support, there is no reason families should have to choose between their Catholic faith and their students' academic needs. We hope you can help be a part of that support system.

The Resource Specialist provides push-in classroom and pull-out small group intervention for identified students. This individual would be present at IEP meetings, communicate with classroom teachers on interventions, and help families employ these interventions at home for homework and other activities. This individual would coordinate documentation of student response to intervention and help teachers with supplemental trimester report cards.
