Making the House Ready for the Lord

Dear Lord, I have swept and I have washed but still nothing is as shining as it should be for you. Under the sink, for example, is an uproar of mice—it is the season of their many children. What shall I do? And under the eaves and through the walls the squirrels have gnawed their ragged entrances—but it is the season when they need shelter, so what shall I do? And the raccoon limps into the kitchen and opens the cupboard while the dog snores, the cat hugs the pillow; what shall I do? Beautiful is the new snow falling in the yard and the fox who is staring boldly up the path, to the door. And still I believe you will come Lord: you will, when I speak to the fox, the sparrow, the lost dog, the shivering sea-goose, know that really I am speaking to you whenever I say, as I do all morning and afternoon: Come in, Come in.

-Mary Oliver

Oplatek available at Masses this Sunday

Oplatek (pronounced <Op-wah-tek>) can be a wonderful pre-Christmas Eve (or Christmas Day) dinner experience. As we gather with those of our household instead of extended family this year, consider sharing Oplatek (a Polish tradition since the 10th Century) before dinner.

Thanks to Al Chrosney for sharing the background on this wonderful tradition: "A sheet of oplatek is broken in medium size pieces, as many as there are people partaking in the meal. Each person takes a piece. The head of household makes a general prayer of thanksgiving and wishes for Blessed Christmas and New Year. Then each person exchanges individual wishes with everyone else. The two people face each other and offer their blessings to each other. After they have exchanged the wishes, the two people offer their oplatek to each other. The person receiving the oplatek, breaks off a small piece of the offered oplatek and consumes it. The offering, breaking off a piece and consuming can be done simultaneously by the pair or it can be done in turn. Often the older person offers the oplatek to a younger person first and waits until the younger person consumes it and then breaks off a piece of the oplatek from the younger person."

Over the years, I have witnessed Catholic Campus Ministry students embrace this Polish tradition, as they offer a pre-Christmas blessing to classmates, teammates, friends at the end of Fall Semester and at the end of Advent prior to returning home for Christmas. This year, oplatek offers us all an opportunity to wish a specific blessing only upon individual family members. How wonderful to express our hopes for each other.

Packets are available at the 4th Sunday of Advent and at the Parish Office, while the supply lasts. Why not try oplatek this year?

CHRISTMAS EVE MASS will be broadcast on WILLINET channel 1303 on the following dates and times:

*Thursday, December 24 at 5pm

*Thursday, December 24 at 8pm

You can also participate in this Mass on our website, www.williamstowncatholics.org.

"God never gives someone a gift they are not capable of receiving. If he gives us the gift of Christmas, it is because we all have the ability to understand and receive it."

Pope Francis

BISHOP BYRNE in his recent book, "FIVE THINGS WITH FR BILL" shares his Christmas wish list

Two ingredients that have become central to the celebration of Jesus' birth are fat and sugar. I bemoan this not because I do not like fat and sugar but because I really like foods that have lots of fat and sugar. Celebrating a feast historically included such things because the feast had been preceded by a period of fasting. However, Christmas now is preceded by Thanksgiving and a bunch of Christmas parties.

With the priest shortage, I would like to recommend some things to get for your priest that do not involve sugar or fat (These words were difficult to write, but I managed through the grace of the Holy Spirit!):

1.) Your neighbor. Bring your neighbor to Mass and introduce him or her to the priest. Growing numbers and a new soul tops even a cream pie.

2.) A spiritual bouquet. A not with a promise to say some prayers for your priests is a wonderful Christmas gift. Quite frankly, looking at our world, it is clear that some serious spiritual battles are going on. Your prayers are the invisible powerhouse that allows the priest to face the most difficult situations with joy. If your pastor is a bit grumpy, maybe it is because you don't pray for him enough.

3.) Live your Baptism. I pray each day for my parish not only that they will come to Mass and receive Jesus in the Eucharist, but also that they will bring him to the world. As Jesus is the great high priest, this gift is probably more for him than just for your local pastor. Being a great mom/dad/son/daughter/friend/employee/boss and being truly a person of faith is a challenge. But heroes and saints are people who face challenges. So, stand up and tell the world that you're proud to be a follower of Jesus. Let people see how you love his church. Say grace before meals, go to Mass while on vacation. Make a list of people who need your prayers and pray it with your kids each night. Defend the faith.

4.) Encourage and pray for vocations. We just opened Blessed John Paul II Seminary in the Archdiocese of Washington because we have good numbers of men following the Lord to discern a call to the priesthood. The movement of the Holy Spirit is clear, but we need to pray that young men will be preserved from things that block them from hearing Christ's call. This is where you come in. Encouragement of a young man and prayers for those already in the seminary must be part of your daily regime. This is a great gift not only to the seminarians but to the whole archdiocese.

5.) Food for the poor. Write a note to the priest: "I gave your cookies to the hungry." Once his blood pressure lowers, which it probably needs to anyway, he will be very grateful. We need your generosity more than we need your chocolate chips. (Once again, the Holy Spirit helped me pen that sentence.)

will be offered for the intentions of those who find the Christmas Season not a happy time. Some grieve losses of relatives or friends. Others know relationship difficulties, health issues or financial worries. Some dread the arrival of the holiday. The Blue Christmas Week Mass is meant to be more meditative and reflective. While no trumpets play "Joy to the World", the liturgy offers encouragement.

Check it out Sunday Dec 27 broadcast on Willinet, Parish website and Facebook.

The Lord is close to the broken hearted; and those who are crushed in spirit he saves.

Many are the troubles of the just, but out of them all, the Lord delivers them. -- Psalm 34
