

September's art classes are in full swing. The students are on point and on task. The first lessons focused on art room procedures and expectations.

This month the Kindergarten students will begin to understand how shapes can be joined together to create a new form. We also continue to work on scissor skills and fine motor skills.

First graders are working on scissor skills, attention to detail, and fine motor skills.

Second, third, fourth, and fifth graders are working on attention to detail, drawing, and blending colors.

Middle school is working on repurposing scrap wood. We are working with pigments and dyes that we will use to create a stained glass effect on wood.

The art room is a joyful place that offers students room to grow, experiment, and feel successful!
