Many young people want to make a path for themselves in life without the help and guidance of others. My own young adult son oftentimes refuses assistance because he feels that he must learn to go it alone and have his achievements based solely upon his effort. However, few truly get anywhere of circumstance without the aid of others.

The body of Christ only functions well when we move together and help each other. Unfortunately, too often parts of the body seek to do their own thing and do not integrate with the other parts. We use our gifts in ways that are only focused on our own gains and our own being. But be mindful, our gifts exist in us to be cultivated and shared with God and his people.

In the same manner, with Jesus as the head of this body, he is there for us as well. In Jesus we find our rest and assistance with our burdens. I cannot imagine life without the compassion and aid of our God. If it isn't bad enough that some people fail to lean on their brothers and sisters, some of them fail to ever turn to God.

This is never good stewardship. A stewardship way of life seeks to share and integrate with others, especially Jesus. We have been created for community. If we take seriously our discipleship, a true relationship with Jesus always beckons us into community with other believers. Here we are strongest. Here we are the most fruitful. Here we are Christ's body on earth.
—Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

David and the parish, kindly tell us about them. Nominations forms are located in the pews. ## Opening Procession

People often have questions about the opening procession at the beginning of every mass. Why do we do it? Where did it come from? Is it symbolic? Who walks in it? What are the objects carried in it? How do we decide who and what goes in it? What should we be paying attention to in it? These are all common questions.

The procession is symbolic. Like all the symbols of the Church, the procession has layers of meaning. For example, it calls to mind Jesus's triumphant entry into Jerusalem as he began the events of Holy Week which we know led to his passion, death, and resurrection. The priest, who is acting in the person of Christ, processes to the altar to enter into Christ's eternal sacrifice as he offers the mass. This is why we stand to greet the celebrant at every mass. The procession also serves as a reminder that our lives are a journey toward Heaven. Every church should remind us of Heaven and so part of what the procession symbolizes is us leaving behind the ways and worries of the world as we prepare to lift our hearts to Heaven.

The procession is comprised of elements that symbolize the areas Christ is particularly manifested. In more elaborate processions, the use of incense before certain symbols helps to draw more attention to those. In general, though the procession is led by servers carrying the cross and candles, symbolizing Christ lighting our way by means of his own life, death, and resurrection. Following the cross and candles are usually more servers who will minister in some way either as acolytes, lectors, extraordinary ministers, etc. In some cases, people who are being honored in a particular liturgy are invited to process behind the servers, (Highschool seniors at their graduation mass, sometimes key members of the community, etc.) These all symbolize the community's offering to God. Next, comes the clergy. If deacons are present, one is usually carrying the Book of the Gospels, symbolizing Christ being made manifest in His words. Finally, the priest who is serving as the celebrant of the mass, whether alone or accompanied by concelebrating priests. The priest represents Christ Himself. At minimum, the procession must include the celebrant.

As for the people attending mass, we should be observing the procession prayerfully and participating by singing the opening hymn which should be either from the psalms or from the hymn book. The processional hymn should be a song of praise to God. We should also remember that when we enter song, we also enter prayer. Further, some people choose to bow as the cross and the celebrant pass them, which is certainly appropriate, but different cultures have their own traditions regarding that. So, we should be on the look out during the procession. As the symbols pass us by, we should use that opportunity to consciously make the effort to lift our hearts and minds to God, calling to mind the purpose of mass which is worship Him.

—Christian Guilbeau

Sharing the Gospel: When you are tired and upset, go to God. Talk things over with him. Tell him the whole story. God is a good listener. He has a gentle heart. He will say to you, "I love you. I forgive you." Then snuggle up with your favorite blanket and take a nap. When you wake up, you will feel much better. Then you will share your love by saying, "May I help you?"

Mission for the Week: I will tell God when I am tired and upset. He will calm me.

GOSPEL REFLECTION

Question: I have been away from the Church for a few years and really want to get active again, not so much for me, but for my children. Is this a bad reason to come back to Church?

Answer: If you are on your way to the supermarket, and you are forced to detour from your usual route because of road work, does the food you buy taste different? Is the meal less filling? Are the vegetables less tasty? Of course not. In our faith journey, there are many detours called sin. Some are greater than others, some are even a bit longer. But God's grace comes to us in ways we understand and recognize and need. Your children leading you back to the Church is not as important as the fact that you are back. This is an opportunity for you to renew, strengthen, and deepen your faith. Regardless of how we get to Church, or what draws us closer to God, the fact is we are there. Do what you need to do to get right with God and the Church. Go to confession, begin good family religious practices, and be involved in the ministries your parish offers. Be more than a lukewarm parishioner. Be the kind of Catholic you want your children to be.
