
ST. ROSALIE CATHOLIC CHURCH

600 Second Avenue Harvey, LA 70058

Fr. Larry's Corner of the Bulletin

Last week we began the liturgical season of "Ordinary Time." Ordinary time is not named because it is plain and ordinary, but rather because the Sundays have numbers (ordinals) in their name – for example this week is the Second Sunday in Ordinary time. This season is marked by the color green, which represents hope. Ordinary time is just one of the seasons of the Church's Liturgical Year. The Church's year begins with the season of Advent, the time of preparation for Christmas which is marked by the purple ("violet") color in vestments and decorations. The second season is Christmas, which we have just completed (white or gold). After a few weeks of Ordinary Time the next season is Lent, the forty day penitential season is preparation for Easter (purple again) which begins with Ash Wednesday (this year it is March 6th). Then we have the Easter Season (white/gold) which extends through the Feast of Pentecost (June 9th) and then we return to a period of Ordinary Time until Advent. Besides seasons, the Church also has cycles of readings which are given the very imaginative names of Cycle A, B, and C. We are in Cycle C this year which focuses on the Gospel of Luke. Cycle A focuses on the Gospel of Matthew and Cycle B on the Gospel of Mark. What about John, you ask? John's Gospel is mixed in every year, especially during Lent. The idea is that over a three-year period, we would have heard and meditated on all of the Gospels and most of the New Testament. Who says Catholics don't read the Bible! But it would be a shame if we never read the Bible apart from Mass– especially when we know it is God's holy word! Anyway, enjoy Ordinary Time – and God bless!

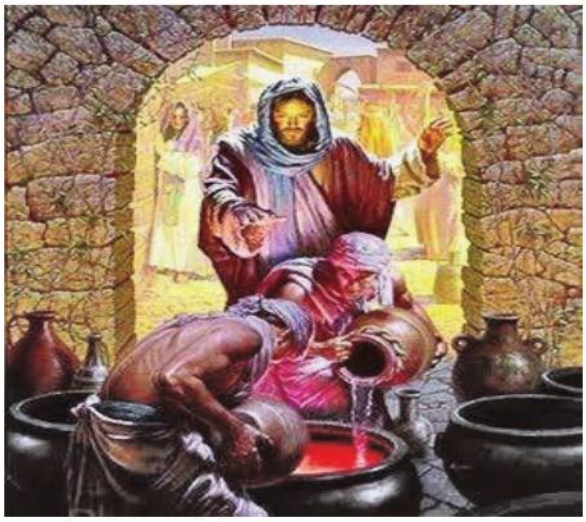
In Honor of Our Lord and the Blessed Mother
MASS OF THANKSGIVING: C. Pelegrin



From the time of the prophet Hosea, the relationship between God and Israel had been described as a marriage. Israel was often unfaithful, but God always took her back. In the first reading the prophet Isaiah foretells an even more glorious restoration – God and Israel shall be like newlyweds again.

In the second reading, St. Paul addresses the Corinthians concerning spiritual gifts. He makes it clear that all gifts of the Holy Spirit have the same origin and purpose. They are not given for the good of the recipient but for the service of the Christian community.

Today's gospel relates the familiar story of Jesus' first miracle: turning water into wine. He changed one substance into another, which reminds us of the miracle He performs at every Mass. At the consecrated hands of the priest, simple bread and wine become His precious Body and Blood. His mother's words, "Do whatever He tells you," should guide us in our daily activities to use our God-given gifts to advance the Kingdom of Our Lord. Mary's confidence in her Son models the confidence we, the Church, should have in prayer.

Today's Scriptures: Isaiah 62:1-5; Psalm 96:1-3, 9-10; Corinthians 12:4-11; John 2:1-11
