Truth and Reconciliation Fund—Special Collection THIS WEEKEND

On Sept. 23/24, the Diocese of London will begin a new special collection for our Truth and Reconciliation Fund. The goal of the campaign is to help our local Indigenous communities heal from the traumas of the past, preserve and promote their culture and build for the future. More information is in a letter from Bishop Fabbro on the homepage at www.dol.ca. With your generous support we can make a difference.

Gospel Reflection: Matthew 20:1-16

In the parable of the workers in the vineyard, Jesus teaches about God's generous mercy.

In today's Gospel, Jesus moves from Galilee to teach in Judea where he is sought out by great crowds and tested by the Pharisees on issues such as marriage and divorce. Jesus also encounters a rich young man who is unable to accept Jesus' demand that he leave his possessions to follow him. Jesus' response to the rich young man sounds very much like the conclusion we will find in today's Gospel: the first will be last and the last will be first.

On the surface, the parable of the workers in the vineyard appears to be an offense to common sense. Those who work a longer day ought to be paid more than those who work just an hour or two. When viewed in this way, the landowner seems unfair. That is because we are reading into the parable our own preconceived notions of how fairness and equality should be quantified.

A close read shows us that the landowner paid on the terms that were negotiated. The landowner, it seems, has acted completely justly. The parable goes beyond that, however, and we come to see that the landowner is not simply just, he is exceptionally just. He is radically just. He has given those who labored in the field for a full day their due pay. But he has also given a full-day's wage to those who worked only a single hour. No one is cheated, but a few receive abundantly from the landowner just as we receive from God more than what is merely justifiable or due. God, like the landowner, is radically just and abundantly generous. The workers who complain are made to look foolish as they lament the fact that landowner has made all workers equal. Indeed, what more could one ask for than to be treated as an equal at work or anywhere else? The parable reminds us that although God owes us nothing, he offers abundantly and equally. We are occasionally tempted to think that our own actions deserve more reward, more of God's abundant mercy, than the actions of others. But God's generosity cannot be quantified or partitioned into different amounts for different people. When we think that way, we are trying to relate to God on our terms rather than to accept God's radically different ways. From Loyolapress.com*

Confessions

CONFESSIONS FROM 5:00 - 5:45 PM. Mass at 6:00 pm.

Memorial September 27—St. Vincent de Paul spent the early years of his priesthood ministering among the wealthy in the French countryside near Paris. In 1609 he became tutor to the children of the Gondi family, an involvement that taught him a principle for his work: evangelize the rich and direct them to serve the poor. At that time, Vincent observed that many poorly catechized peasants were not making good confessions. He also noticed that inadequately trained priests did not know how to administer the sacrament of Penance. Encouraged by Madame Gondi, in 1617, Vincent preached a parish mission that pointed to his future. He stirred so many people to repentance that Jesuits from a nearby town had to help hear confessions. In 1625, Vincent founded the Congregation of the Mission, a community of priests with a threefold commitment. Members obligated themselves to pattern their lives on Christ, to take the gospel to the rural poor, and to help educate priests in their practical duties. The priests mainly conducted parish missions, preaching and hearing confessions. With the collaboration of St. Louise de Marillac, in 1633, Vincent founded the Sisters of Charity, the first community of "unenclosed" women dedicated to care of the sick and the poor. To support the sisters, Vincent recruited rich women, who as Ladies of Charity gave their time and money. In his last years Vincent was confined to an armchair because of his swollen and ulcerous legs. But he remained cheerful, directing his charitable works by writing hundreds of letters. He was nearly eighty years old when he died in 1660. Vincent de Paul stumbled into his life's work. Thus he is a healthful model for those who suffer stress trying "to find God's plan" for their lives. Vincent did not start with grandiose plans. He began much more simply. When he observed a need, he figured out a Christian way to meet it. If we would do more of that, we would be better Christians with lower blood pressure. *from Voices of the Saints, by Bert Ghezzi

We are very blessed to have two Society of St. Vincent de Paul conferences in our parishes. We thank the Vincentian's for their hard work and dedication to serving the needy & the less fortunate in our neighbourhoods.

“Nothing is far from God”
St. Monica

A long tradition identifies St. Michael the Archangel, as the leader who remained faithful to God, and cast Lucifer at God's command. His powerful aid has always been invoked by the Church in time of emergency. The Popes have constantly called on St. Michael as the special protector of the Church whenever great evils threatened God's people. For this reason, St. Michael is especially honored at Rome, on Monte Gargano, near Foggia, in Italy, and in France on Mont St. Michel in Normandy. In times of unusual danger, when the malice of the devil seems triumphant, St. Michael will come to our aid. St. Michael is usually depicted in a human form, in full battle array, and bearing a shield stating Quis ut Deus, meaning “Who is like God!”. This is believed to have been his battle cry when the rebellious angels were cast out of heaven for their jealousy and defiance. Because he is an angel, not a human, he never went through a canonization process as humans do now. He has been daily invoked for protection against evil since the late nineteenth century. St. Michael has many patronages, including mariners, police officers, paramedics and the military. St. Michael's feast day has been September 29 since the sixth century and was long known as Michaelmas Day and was once a Holy Day. He is now joined with the other two named angels of Scripture, Gabriel and Rafael who share the feast day.
