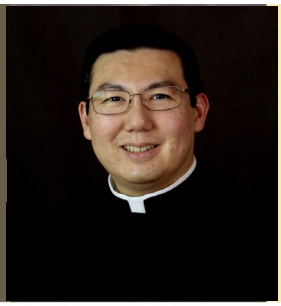
ADMINISTRATOR'S CORNER



Dear Parishioners,

A prominent theme in the readings for this Sunday is perseverance: in prayer, in proclaiming God's Word, and in seeking justice. The word comes from Latin and means holding firm through difficulties, not giving up when we encounter discouragement or obstacles. This is a virtue, a strength in a person's character, that we teach to our children, and remind to one another as adults in times of trial. Christopher Reeve, known for his role as Superman in several films and for his paralysis after suffering a tragic spinal injury, wrote: "I think a hero is an ordinary individual who finds the strength to persevere and endure in spite of overwhelming obstacles." We are the ordinary individuals who, with the strength of God's grace, can become heroes through perseverance.

A key component in perseverance is believing that the goal is worth the sacrifices we make on the journey. And what we believe is worthwhile depends on what we value. And what we value comes from culture. In traditional cultures, the values are based on family and faith, rooted in history and spirituality, and handed on from generation to generation. In secular cultures, those that reject a spiritual view of human existence, the values are based on everything and anything except God and family: political agendas and media messaging (which oddly coincide so often nowadays), therapeutic "self-comfort" (think of universities offering hot chocolate, coloring books, and comfort animals to create "safe zones" for students paralyzed by fear), victimhood with its ever-increasing variety of names, or just plain selfishness that seeks personal pleasure, power, wealth, and fame (even if only for a brief moment on social media). Some parents and grandparents, raised in traditional cultures, have discovered to their surprise that their children and grandchildren do not share the same culture. It is no surprise that families are divided over the key cultural issues of our times. And when so many families are divided, the society follows.

I do not have an easy solution, but I propose the difficult solution of revitalizing the values of traditional culture, including perseverance. Secular cultures are not very good at perseverance; they are unstable at their core because they put their trust in what does not last, and they emphasize elements of our human nature that divide rather than unify. A devastating problem is that when a secular culture collapses, it leaves behind despair and nihilism (the false and depressing idea that life is meaningless, and it would be better if everything simply ceased to exist; a secularist slap in the face to a God who is the Creator). Those of us who believe in the values of traditional culture, in particular our Catholic Christian culture and its values, must first examine our own consciences and firmly decide how we will live. Perhaps we have fallen under the influence of some elements of the secular culture and are contributing to the division and decline of our society. The solution, although difficult, is to reject the attitudes and actions that promote secularism, to repent of our cooperation with its evil, and then to choose a life in harmony with the values that last, that come not only from the centuries of experience and wisdom of our ancestors, but also from the divine wisdom of God.

Where do we find the values of the Catholic Christian culture? There are three main sources: (1) the code of morality (based on the Ten Commandments) that teaches us how to act with justice and mercy, (2) the Creed that expresses what we believe and what we hope for, and (3) the Liturgy that unites us with God and makes us one People, transforming both us and the world by the saving power of Christ.

Traditional culture also includes sacrifice as one of its key values, both in the religious sense of offering sacrifice as an act of worship to God and in the moral sense of willingness to offer ourselves (our life, our property, our freedom), so that God's perfect plan might be fulfilled in us and in the world ("Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven"). As the current secular culture collapses under the weight of its own hopelessness, our perseverance and our sacrifices to uphold the Catholic Christian culture, by God's grace, will offer rescue from despair and prepare the way for the healing and restoration of hearts and families.

With gratitude,

Fr. Anthony Garcias, Administrator

VOTE "NO" ON PROPOSITION 1

Sadly, California is presently one of the most permissive states in the nation for abortion. Proposition 1 promotes an unlimited expansion of abortion here, while its defeat would keep all abortion laws as they are, including our common-sense limits on late-term abortions. Our bishops are calling us to unite in prayer and action to defeat Prop 1. Please visit www.CAcatholic.org/Prop1 to find answers to common questions and resources to help defeat this misleading, expensive, and unnecessary ballot initiative.

MINISTERIO HISPANO

Queridos feligreses,

Un tema destacado en las lecturas de este domingo es la perseverancia: en la oración, en la proclamación de la Palabra de Dios y en la búsqueda de justicia. La palabra proviene del latín y significa mantenerse firme a través de las dificultades, no rendirse cuando nos encontramos con el desánimo o los obstáculos. Esta es una virtud, una fortaleza en el carácter de una persona, que enseñamos a nuestros hijos y nos recordamos unos a otros como adultos en tiempos de prueba. Christopher Reeve, conocido por su papel de Superman en varias películas y por su parálisis tras sufrir una trágica lesión en la columna, escribió: "Creo que un héroe es un individuo ordinario que encuentra la fuerza para perseverar y perdurar a pesar de los abrumadores obstáculos". Somos los individuos ordinarios que, con la fuerza de la gracia de Dios, podemos convertirnos en héroes a través de la perseverancia.

Un componente clave de la perseverancia es creer que la meta vale los sacrificios que hacemos en el camino. Y lo que vale la pena depende de lo que valoramos. Y lo que valoramos viene de la cultura. En las culturas tradicionales, los valores se basan en la familia y la fe, arraigados en la historia y la espiritualidad, y se transmiten de generación en generación. En las culturas seculares, aquellas que rechazan una visión espiritual de la existencia humana, los valores se basan en todo menos en Dios y la familia: las agendas políticas y los mensajes de los medios (que misteriosamente coinciden tan a menudo hoy en día), el "autoconsuelo" terapéutico (piense en las universidades que ofrecen chocolate caliente, libros para colorear y mascotas de apoyo emocional, para crear "zonas seguras" para los estudiantes paralizados por el miedo), el victimismo con su creciente variedad de nombres, o simplemente el egoísmo que busca el placer personal, el poder, la riqueza y la fama (incluso si solo por un breve momento en las redes sociales). Algunos padres y abuelos, criados en culturas tradicionales, han descubierto con sorpresa que sus hijos y nietos no comparten la misma cultura. No es una sorpresa que las familias estén divididas sobre los temas principales de la cultura. Y cuando tantas familias se dividen, la sociedad sigue.

No tengo una solución fácil, pero propongo la difícil solución de revitalizar los valores de la cultura tradicional, incluida la perseverancia. Las culturas seculares no son muy buenas para la perseverancia; son inestables en su esencia porque confían en lo que no dura y enfatizan elementos de nuestra naturaleza humana que dividen en lugar de unir. Un problema devastador es que cuando una cultura secular se derrumba, deja tras de sí la desesperación y el nihilismo (la falsa y deprimente idea de que la vida no tiene sentido y que sería mejor que todo dejara de existir; una bofetada secularista a un Dios que es el Creador). Quienes creemos en los valores de la cultura tradicional, en particular de nuestra cultura Cristiana Católica y sus valores, debemos primero examinar nuestra propia conciencia y decidir con firmeza cómo viviremos. Quizás hemos caído bajo la influencia de algunos elementos de la cultura secular y estamos contribuyendo a la división y decadencia de nuestra sociedad. La solución, aunque difícil, es rechazar las actitudes y acciones que promueven el secularismo, arrepentirnos de nuestra cooperación con su mal, y luego elegir una vida en armonía con los valores que perduran, que provienen no solo de los siglos de experiencia y sabiduría de nuestros antepasados, sino también de la sabiduría divina de Dios.

¿Dónde encontramos los valores de la cultura Cristiana Católica? Hay tres fuentes principales: (1) el código de moralidad (basado en los Diez Mandamientos) que nos enseña cómo actuar con justicia y misericordia, (2) el Credo que expresa lo que creemos y lo que esperamos, y (3) la Liturgia que nos une con Dios y nos hace un solo Pueblo, transformándonos a nosotros y al mundo por el poder salvífico de Cristo.

La cultura tradicional también incluye el sacrificio como uno de sus valores fundamentales, tanto en el sentido religioso de ofrecer el sacrificio como un acto de adoración a Dios como en el sentido moral de la disposición a ofrecernos a nosotros mismos (nuestra vida, nuestra propiedad, nuestra libertad), para que el plan perfecto de Dios se cumpla en nosotros y en el mundo ("Hágase tu voluntad en la tierra como en el Cielo"). A medida que la cultura secular actual se derrumba bajo el peso de su propia desesperanza, nuestra perseverancia y nuestros sacrificios para defender la cultura Cristiana Católica, por la gracia de Dios, ofrecerán rescate de la desesperación y prepararán el camino para la sanación y restauración de corazones y familias.

Con gratitud ,
