SAINT OF THE WEEK SAINT VINCENT STRAMBI

Vincent Strambi was born on January 1, 1745 in Civitavecchia, the port city of Rome. He was the last of four children born to Giuseppe Strambi and Eleonora Gori; his three elder siblings all died in childhood. His father served as a pharmacist known for his charitable works and his mother was noted for her piety.

The Friars Minor oversaw his education and he taught his fellow students the catechism. His desire to become a priest was encouraged by his parents and he commenced his ecclesial studies in November 1762. He was refused admission into the Order of Friars Minor Capuchin and the Vincentians because of his frail health. Vincent received into the diaconate in Bagnoregio on March 14, 1767 and was ordained to the priesthood on December 19, 1767 and then returned to Rome to further his theological studies and continued his studies with the Dominicans at Viterbo. While still a student, he was appointed prefect of the seminarians in Montefiascone and thereafter acting-rector of seminarians at Bagnorea.

He joined the Passionists in 1768 after attending a retreat given by St. Paul of the Cross, founder of the Passionists. He made his profession on September 24, 1769 and continued his studies with particular emphasis on the Church Fathers and on Sacred Scripture.

Vincent was present at the death of Paul of the Cross. The founder said to Vincent on his deathbed: "You will do great things! You will do great good!"

Vincent became a professor of theology, and was made provincial in 1781, and in 1801, was appointed bishop of Macera and Tolentino. He was expelled from his See when he refused to take an oath of allegiance to Napoleon in 1808, but returned in 1813 with the downfall of Napoleon. French General Murat made Macera his headquarters, and when his troops were defeated by the Austrians, Vincent dissuaded him from sacking and destroying the town.

He imposed reform in his See that caused threats to his life, labored for his people during a typhus epidemic, and resigned his See on the death of Pope Pius VII to become one of the advisers of his old friend Pope Leo XII in Rome. Vincent died on January 1, 1824 and was canonized by Pope Pius XII in 1950. His feast day is September 25.
