JESUS AND THE TEMPLE

Jesus had finally reached Jerusalem after a long journey. In today's Gospel (Luke 21:5–19) Jesus is at the elaborately built Temple. People were admiring the structure. But Christ says, "All you see here – the day will come when there will not be left a stone upon another stone that will not be thrown down." (vs. 6) The people want to know when that terrible catastrophe will take place.

Our Lord uses both eschatology and apocalypse in his answer. As eschatological, the words of our Lord detail the last things or other, the eschata of Jerusalem and the temple. Apocalypse is "narrative literary genre in which an angel or other heavenly being communicates to a human being the divine plan for history and the arrangement of the supernatural order." (from New American Bible) Jesus uses real disasters, even apocalyptic language, to help his followers. He realizes that they will be mistreated by "kings and governors," (vs. 12) and even by families and friends. Our Lord promises, "I myself will give you wisdom in speaking that all your adversaries will be powerless to resist or refute." (vs. 15)

Christ teaches that there will be wars, natural disasters, and people claiming to be the Messiah. All those things did happen before the year AD 70 when Jerusalem was destroyed by the Romans. The repercussions of all those realities are reflected in the Acts of the Apostles, a second work by Luke. The deacon Stephen is an excellent example of sufferings because of his loyalty to Jesus. He gave a great presentation of the Old Testament (Acts 7), showing how it prepared the way for our Lord. When Stephen was dying as the first martyr for Jesus, he "looked up intently to heaven, and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at the right hand of God." (Acts 7: 55)

At the end of today's Gospel our Lord makes a wonderful promise: "By your perseverance you will secure your lives." (vs. 19) Being faithful to Jesus may lead to the loss of one's natural life, as it did for Saint Stephen, but being faithful will assure everlasting life with the Lord. Jesus also died because of his dedication to his Father and his love for all God's children.

~Msgr. Ralph J. Kuehner

Each family will receive $75 in food cards at a minimum and each child in the selected families will receive two (2) gifts. There will be two separate angels for each child. The angel will provide suggestions to help you choose an appropriate gift. It is important that all gifts and food cards be returned by 11:00 am Mass on Sunday, December 8th.

Remember, Father Andrew White School will be selling Scrip cards after Mass each weekend.
