PASTOR'S CORNER

Vineyard and Stone

What makes scripture passages so hard to interpret and understand sometimes is that a lot of hands went into forming the final result that comes down to us between the covers of the Bible. The gospels are a good example of that. Jesus is remembered as saying something. A generation later, Christian scribes write it down. Someone else arranges the various sayings or doings in a certain order to tell a story that may or may not have the same chronological order as when Jesus spoke or performed them. In addition to Jesus' original intent in word or action, each of the organizers of the material may have had his own message or way of expressing it as influenced by his particular church community circumstances. Each contributor, however, was inspired by the Holy Spirit to hand on the sacred word consistent with the truth that Jesus wants to impart to us for our salvation.

An example of such editorial layers would be in today's gospel parable about the tenants of the vineyard (Mt 21:33-43). Jesus probably spoke Aramaic, a dialect of Hebrew, rather than Greek in which the gospels were written. Yet, one can imagine the evangelist—Matthew, or someone giving him the credit—having a little fun with a play on the Greek words “produce”—karpōs—at the “proper time”—kairos—a pairing which occurs twice in the parable.

At the end of the parable, we also have a moral of the story, a most famous verse from Psalm 118, which is taken as a Resurrection prophecy: “The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone...” Thanks to the evangelist-editor, it seems to be the moral of some other story, or else we mix metaphors with grapevines and stones. To juggle the mixed metaphors and come up with an overall message, we get Jesus, “the stone rejected by the builders,” who is going to be the cornerstone of the new tenants. These will replace the ones who withheld the produce from the landowner. The “vintage time”—kairos—will be the event of Jesus' death and resurrection, and the new tenants will be we who believe! Together, we tend the vine of his most Precious Blood—karpōs—poured out sacramentally for us at Mass, our weekly kairos!

~Fr. David

RESPECT LIFE SUNDAY: For all Catholics: That our resolve may be strengthened to uphold the dignity of every human life; We pray to the Lord.

THE GOSPEL OF LIFE

is intrinsic to the whole Christian life and foundational to the decisions we make on a daily basis. For, "the Gospel of God's love for man, the Gospel of the dignity of the person and the Gospel of life are a single and indivisible Gospel"

(EV 2). *Excerpt from Evangelium vitae, © 1995, Libreria Editrice Vaticana. Used with permission. All rights reserved. USCCB Secretariat of Pro-Life Activities 2020-2021 Respect Life Reflection, www.respectlife.org/reflection

Heavenly Father, the beauty and dignity of human life was the crowning of your creation. You further ennobled that life when your Son became one with us in his incarnation. Help us to realize the sacredness of human life and to respect it from the moment of conception until the last moment at death. Give us courage to speak with truth and love and with conviction in defense of life. Help us to extend the gentle hand of mercy and forgiveness to those who do not reverence your gift of life. To all, grant pardon for the times we have failed to be grateful for your precious gift of life or to respect it in others. We ask this in Jesus' Name. Amen.
