PASTOR'S CORNER

Servant Kingship

Luke 23:35-43

On September 8th, the world marked the death of Great Britain's longest reigning monarch. On her 21st birthday, at a time when she was increasingly becoming a significant figure on the world scene, the future Queen Elizabeth delivered a broadcast speech containing the memorable line: "My whole life, whether it be long or short, shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family." By any reasonable estimation, the rest of her 96 years exemplified complete dedication to that call to service.

The model for a monarch, who sees her or his life devoted to serving the people, even whose authority is limited by constitutional restrictions, finds its origin in Our Lord Jesus Christ, the King of the Universe. In this regard, Jesus said of himself, "The Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28). To the very end of his relatively short life of about 33 years, Jesus fulfilled that call to service. Even from the cross, our Lord bent his ear to the repentant criminal crucified beside him and extended to him the promise of salvation: "Today you will be with me in Paradise" (vs. 43).

Jesus' self-sacrifice on the cross, by which he redeemed mankind from sin and death, was the consummate act of service. From his example comes every form of Christian service, whether lived out in church, in secular settings or in the home. If a leadership position is merited in any sense, it comes from one having first learned to follow and to be willing to perform acts of humble service. By devoting every word and action to the purpose of saving the people to whom he came in contact, even to suffering and death, our Lord merited the resurrection and ascension to the right hand of the Father.

In a political sense, the nature of monarchy has changed over the centuries. But what has not changed is the eternal significance of doing small things with great love. No deed of service however seemingly insignificant is without its eternal reward. A loving gesture of mercy in response to a passing act of true contrition got the Good Thief to heaven. If to him, how much more then to us!

~Fr. David
