From Our Pastor: CREATION AND THE WORD OF GOD

Last week we spoke about how the phrase “Word of God” has different meanings and references. We’re going to dive deeper into the first one Pope Benedict speaks of: the liber naturae, or the book of nature. St John says in his prologue, “all things were made through him, and without him was not anything made” (John 1:3). St Paul says of Christ, “all things were created through him and for him” (Colossians 1:16). Finally, the author of the letter to the Hebrews says, “by faith we understand that the world was created by the word of God, so that what is seen was made out of things which do not appear” (Hebrews 11:3). Through these Scriptures and countless more, we would say with faith and justifiable reason that God created the universe and all that is within it. More specifically, what the quotes above are hinting at, the Father chose to create in the Son. Think back to Genesis: “God spoke and it came to be”—with each day of creation God used His Word to create (Genesis 1:3, 6, 9, 11, 14, 20, 24, 26).

Any creation holds an image, a reflection, a fingerprint of the artist who made it. We can tell the difference between a Beatles song and a Stevie Wonder song, or between the prose of Ernest Hemingway and J.R.R. Tolkien, or between a painting of Leonardo da Vinci and Vincent van Gogh. Each work of art reveals to us a bit about who the artist is. It is the same with creation. “The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork” (Psalm 19:1). So creation itself is a revelation of God and speaks to us about who He is and what He desires for us.

Here is where science is a great blessing. The deeper we go in understanding how the world around us works, the more is shown to us of who God is. Take for instance the law of gravity. Because of the atmosphere we live in and the strength of Earth’s gravitational pull, we walk solidly on the ground. We don’t hop like we would on the moon. We are grounded, held in relation to this planet. It is an analogy of our relationship with God. If we were to leave Earth’s atmosphere unprotected we would die, we’d float in the massive void of space in cold nothingness. Each portion of creation reveals to us the Creator. It is a book to be read, admired, and reflected upon; and it is the first place that historical man encountered God.

ARCHBISHOP AYMOND HERE AT 5 PM MASS, MAY 25

Archbishop Gregory Aymond will confirm seven of our young adults on Sat 5/25 at the 5 pm Mass. Whether or not you have a family member being confirmed, you're invited to attend this special occasion and the reception afterwards. An archbishop's visit is a wonderful reminder that our parish is part of a much bigger, wider Catholic family—the Archdiocese of New Orleans—indeed, the worldwide Catholic Church.

Our shepherd is taking the time to come out to be with us; he wants to spend time with us. If you can, come spend time with him.

If you'd like to contribute food for the reception, please call Renée Herbert, 985-630-1121.

Christ is risen! He is risen indeed! Alleluia! Happy Easter!
¡Cristo ha resucitado! ¡Sí, él ha resucitado! ¡Aleluya! ¡Feliz Pascua!

YOU AIN'T SEEN MUFFIN YET

Next weekend, May 11-12, after all Masses, our Altar & Rosary Society will roll out an amazing spread for their annual Bake Sale. These ladies don't loaf around! Funds raised at this one event are kneaded all year to purchase items for the church, such as vestments, vessels, etc. Let's support their efforts; it's the yeast we can do. So, remember to bring some dough; you're gonna feel crumb-y if you miss it!

WOW!!!

You are amazing parishioners! You have donated 900 pounds of food, mostly peanut butter and tuna, throughout Lent! Thank you for helping the Help Center of Churches Food Bank feed so many families in need. Please continue to help us feed the hungry by picking up a few extra items every grocery trip and bringing them every week. Monetary donations can be placed in our weekend collections; cash should be in a marked envelope, and checks must be made out to Help Center or HCOG.

Thank you. Your kindness changes lives.

De-cluttering: it's all the rage

Once a year, Holy Family offers you a chance to declutter your home and your life, while doing something good with the stuff you're letting go of. Our annual garage sale (all proceeds benefit Religious Education) is on Saturday, June 1. Start collecting your gently used items (no clothing) now. Donations will be accepted from 8 am-4 pm, Monday 5/27-Friday 5/31. No sooner, please. Contact Renée Herbert for info, 985-630-1121.

Altar & Rosary members, please note:
your May meeting is 5/14, not 5/7,
as the May calendar shows.

Blood drive update

The KCs thank all who donated, or attempted to donate, last weekend. Although we didn't reach our goal, we refuse to B-negative! When we get another blood drive date set up, we will circulate that information, so stay tuned.

Save the date!
