Tuesday Adoration at OLPH

Is anyone interested in participating in a regularly scheduled Adoration time at OLPH? It would be held on Tuesdays and the hours would depend on how many are interested and what times they are available to commit to. If you don't feel you can commit to doing it each week but would be willing to be a substitute, that would be great too. There does seem to be an interest in this so hopefully we can get enough people to commit so that everyone can get the times that work best in their schedule. St. Jude parishioners are welcome as well! If you are interested, please call Amy Sobolik at 847-2334, text to 701-741-9297 or email acsobolik@gmail.com. Thank you!

“Without the help of grace, men would not know how ‘to discern the often narrow path between the cowardice which gives in to evil, and the violence which under the illusion of fighting evil only makes it worse.’ This is the path of charity, that is, of the love of God and of neighbor. Charity is the greatest social commandment. It respects others and their rights. It requires the practice of justice, and it alone makes us capable of it. Charity inspires a life of self-giving: ‘Whoever seeks to gain will lose it, but whoever loses his life will preserve it.’” <sup>ccc1889</sup>

Jesus has never stopped telling the world that he wants to be its Good Samaritan, that his commandments and sacraments are the healing ointment for our wounds of selfishness and sin. Throughout the centuries he has expressed this message in many ways. He never tires of trying to convince us that he loves us completely, powerfully, passionately, with no strings attached. In the sixteen-hundreds, he communicated this message to the world in a series of visions that he gave to St Margaret Mary Alacoque, a humble French nun. These visions were the beginning of the famous devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. When he first appeared to St Margaret Mary, he stood in front of her and showed her his heart, describing it as a furnace of love. Then he reached out and took her heart in his hands. She saw her heart as if it were a tiny little atom. Jesus put it inside his own heart, where it caught fire and started to burn with the flames of his love. On another occasion, he allowed her to look directly at his heart. She wrote later that it was as bright as the sun and as clear as crystal. Driven into the top of it was a cross. On one side was a deep gash - the wound he had received on Calvary when the soldiers thrust a spear into his side. Wrapped tightly around the middle of his heart was a ring of thorns. Jesus explained that these thorns were the indifference and ingratitude that he received from the men and women whom he loved, for whom he had died, for whom he had become the world's Good Samaritan.

OLPH Altar Candle Holder

New Candle Holders have replaced the vintage and worn out older ones. We are looking for donors to help with the cost. If you can help and support this effort, please cut this out of the bulletin and submit with a gift to help defray the cost that adorns the altar at Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

“Jesus said to him, ‘Go and do likewise.’” LUKE 10:37

This was Jesus’ command at the end of the Good Samaritan story. Did you know that the Samaritans and Jews despised each other? The moral of the story is to love our neighbor. That means loving someone you may not know or someone that looks different than you or someone that you don’t like. All without expecting anything in return.
