Rescuer of Sinners, Pray for Us

From Fr. Christopher Ankley

Dear Friends,

I want to write about two soon to be saints, a married couple, Blessed Charles of Austria and his wife, Servant of God Zita, both are on the pathway to canonization. Blessed Charles was the very last Emperor of Austria. Born in 1887 he was raised in a very devout royal family. They instilled in him a deep devotion to the Holy Eucharist and to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. He learned to always turn to prayer before making any important decision; it was one of his defining characteristics. He married Zita on October 21st 1911 and over the next 11 years, they had 8 children.

In 1916 after a series of tragic deaths in his family he became the emperor. This was not something he expected. He was way down the line of succession. This happened in the midst of World War I. And as Emperor, world peace became his ultimate goal. He was the only political leader of that time who wanted peace. As we know the war wreaked havoc on Europe, millions died. It also wreaked havoc on Blessed Charles and his family, in 1921 he was exiled to the Island of Madeira; he died a year later from pneumonia.

Charles and Zita were widely recognized for their good and holy marriage. In fact Blessed Charles' feast day is the day of his wedding. Most saints' feast day is the day of their death. So there is something special about how they lived their married life. Their hearts are preserved together in a reliquary in a small chapel in a Switzerland Monastery. And so here are 5 points of advice based on their life. Don't worry about remembering the 5 points; I have a laminated copy for you to put on your refrigerator door.

1. The primary goal of marriage is to get your spouse to heaven (children too). The day before their royal wedding, Charles said to Zita, "Now let's help each other get into Heaven." As we know marriage is a sacrament and God grants married couples special graces to fulfill their state in life, aimed at the ultimate destination of Heaven. Not always easy but with God all things are possible. You don't do it alone.

2. Entrust your marriage to God and to the Blessed Mother. We need all the help we can get. On the inside of their rings, Charles and Zita had this inscription "Sub tuum praesidium confugimus, sancta Dei Genitrix" ("We fly to thy protection, O Holy Mother of God"). Before going on their honeymoon they made a pilgrimage to the Shrine of Our Lady of Austria, entrusting their marriage to her. We should never be afraid to ask God and his Mother for help.

3. After the wedding day, it is no longer "me," but "we." Charles and Zita viewed themselves as a team. They worked together as a royal couple, they worked together in governing the state, they were not afraid to give or ask advice of the other. They both took an active role in raising and educating the children. They took seriously the biblical ideal of "becoming one flesh" in all things.

4. Continually fan the flame of love. Charles became emperor during World War I and that meant he had to travel and be away for long periods of time and this pained him a great deal. And so he had a telephone line installed reaching all the way from his military headquarters to the imperial palace. You can do this if you're the Emperor. He called her many times to stay close to her and the children. Charles' marriage and family was his top priority.

5. Love each other with an everlasting love that endures through any trial. Their love was more than a feeling; it was a choice to love each other, they willed it, they willed the good of the other. After their exile they clung to each other stronger than ever. Charles' last words to his wife were, "I love you endlessly."

That's advice from two saints of the 20th century and now advice from a saint of the 1st century. In our second reading St. Paul also gives us some marriage advice, "Wives should be subordinate to their husbands." I know that when I was a kid and this reading came up my dad would always elbow my mom, and my mom would just roll her eyes. And to our 21st century ears the word subordinate does sound oppressive, offensive, patriarchal, and just plain old-fashioned. But many theologians will say that this passage is a sheep in wolf's clothing. It looks ferocious on the surface but it is in fact very beautiful on the inside.

St. Paul uses the word subordinate, he doesn't say obey your husbands, he doesn't say subject yourselves to your husbands. He says wives subordinate yourselves to your husbands, meaning as someone absolutely equal in dignity to your husband, choose freely to entrust yourself to his loving care, that's what it means. And then the rest of the passage occupies itself with the husband. The husband is commanded to love, and the original Greek uses the agape form of love. This is a total selfless love. Husbands must love their wives totally and selflessly. The husband must love as Christ loves his Church, not as a boss, not as an oppressive master, and not as one who barks out commands, but loving as Christ loves.

For a husband to love as Christ loves is to take the initiative in being the Chief Servant. Christ handed himself over for his bride the Church. When the groom hands himself over for the bride, it is a joy for her to entrust herself into his loving care.

Marriage just like priesthood is a sacrament of service. When a Harry marries a Sally he should be saying to himself, "I want to serve Sally, like no one else, I want to serve Sally like no one else can, I want to pour my life out for her." In doing that he will find fulfillment. For everyone, single, married, widowed, priest, sister, all made in the image and likeness of God, when we serve, when we pour ourselves out for the other, we find fulfillment.

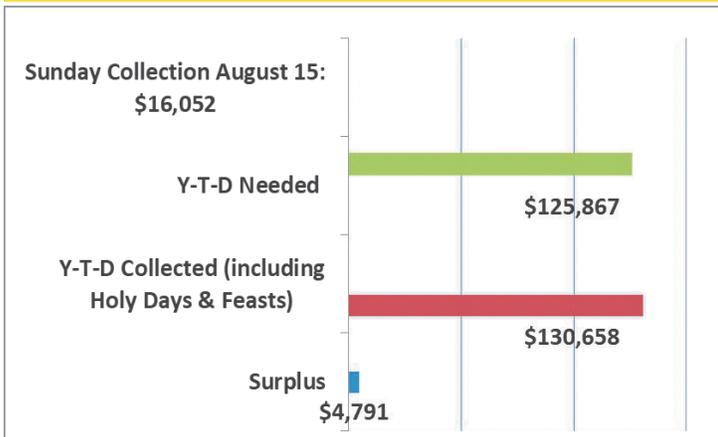

If I want happiness I find it and get it in serving. I find happiness by serving. If I go looking for happiness I'll never find it. Happiness comes from loving and loving looks like laying down our lives. And we never have to do this by ourselves; our Lord gives us the grace to do it. So ask for the grace, we don't do it by ourselves, stay connected to our Lord.

During Mass, let's beg God to pour out His grace on all our married couples at St. Joseph's, especially those finding it hard to serve each other.

Pax et Bonum,

Fr. Christopher Ankley

Sponsor of the Week

Our sponsors make it possible for our bulletin to be published free of charge to our parish. Please thank them for advertising in our bulletin.

My name is Emma Schuler, and I am the new apprentice from the Echo Program at the University of Notre Dame. I was born and raised in southern Indiana, and I graduated this spring with my undergraduate degrees from Indiana University. At IU, I majored in Political Science, Economics, and Spanish. Upon graduation this spring, I knew that the Lord was calling me to ministry and service to His Church, and I am thrilled that this call to ministry led me to the Echo Program and ultimately has placed me with your community here at St. Joseph Parish. I am excited to pray and work alongside all of you in the coming two years to promote the Gospel and grow in discipleship together. Some fun things to know about me are that I love to bake, I love puzzles and board games, and during my time at IU I was able to spend a semester abroad in Madrid, Spain. I am looking forward to getting to know each of you!

DID YOU KNOW...In 1987 St Joseph Parish celebrated the first Superfest. The purpose for the event was to bring the parishioners together for a weekend of fun, food and entertainment and as a major fundraiser for the parish.

Ten years later in 1997 St Jerome and St Philip parishes were invited to join Superfest as a means to join the Catholic community together to provide an event that can be enjoyed by people from the entire Battle Creek community. Hence the name change to All Saints Superfest. Over the past 34 years over $2 million has been generated for parish operating funds.

We request donations from individuals and businesses to help defray the cost of our tents, advertising and entertainment. We offer four options for prospective sponsors...Tent Sponsor ($1,000); Major/Event Sponsor ($500); Super Sponsor ($250) and All Saints Sponsor ($150). Please contact Ed Bauman (274-5173) if you can help support these efforts.

The Superfest Auction is also looking for donations of items and services for our live & silent auctions. Please contact Pete or Lois Werner (968-6574) if you are interested in donating to the auction. Superfest raffle tickets were distributed at the Masses. Additional tickets are available at the BCACS and parishes offices and the Church entrances. We encourage all parishioners to sell the tickets to your friends and neighbors or purchase yourself. The Grand Prize is $5,000 and the ticket price is $5.

Volunteer sign up forms are in the ticket envelopes. We encourage everyone to return the forms as soon as possible. You can also sign up online in SIGNUPGENIUS...click the SUG link at www.allsaintssuperfest.org or the AllSaintsSuperfest Facebook page.

Entertainment on Friday night will feature local favorite TONY FIELDS on Friday night. Saturday night will feature THE SPAZMATICs.

Visit www.allsaintssuperfest.org for more information.

St. Joseph Religious Education Religious Education begins on September 12 at 8:30 am with our first class as well as a meeting between parents, catechists, and myself! If you intend to register your child for this upcoming 2021-2022 year, the deadline is August 22. You can find links to the calendar for the year and the registration form on the parish website.

Our sincere hope for your child is that these classes facilitate the life-changing and transformative experience of encountering Jesus Christ, supporting the foundation of their formation in the "school of love" in the home. Much like any other subject of study or process of understanding, this experience takes place over the course of time, each new year building off the last, culminating in the great celebration of the Sacraments. As such, we hope your child will be able to enjoy the benefits of this education to the fullest by their presence at each year of study we offer, ensuring that they don't fall behind and that they have the best experience possible. The minimum requirement for the reception of the Sacraments of First Communion and Confirmation is two years of study (1st -2nd grade and 7th -8th grade respectively).

Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns via email at mcrean@bcacs.org or by phone at 788-3598. I look forward to meeting you and working with you this year! Most importantly please keep our work in your prayers.

"Our family was so lucky to join the Battle Creek Area Catholic Schools this year. We quickly learned how blessed we truly are! The advantages of BCACS are numerous. We found the teachers have high classroom expectations for learning and the small classroom size is conducive for this environment. They are dedicated to communication and parent engagement providing weekly, sometimes daily updates for the students' goals and objectives. BCACS is an amazing place for kids to learn and grow both educationally and spiritually."
