'Lent is a time for growth'

Our gospel reading today has made up the use of images, showing us one of the most important moments in the life of Jesus: the enlightenment or transfiguration about the fulfillment of his mission. Such a mission will not take place through a success or a triumph but through humiliation and defeat. Here is then where Jesus got the final light that revealed to him, his mission: the word of God contained in the Old Testament. That is where Jesus discovered how the Messiah was not destined for glory, but would have to suffer much, be humiliated and rejected by people, as Isaiah says of the Servant of Yahweh. And what do Peter, James and John understand of all this? Now note a curious detail: whenever something turns up that has something to do with the passion and death of Jesus, these three disciples are "heavy with sleep!" The same will in fact happen also in the Gethsemane: they fall asleep! Strange, isn't it? How is it that their eyes are heavy with sleep during these most sensitive moments? Their sleep has a symbolic meaning: its significance is that they do not understand what is happening to Jesus. When he was working miracles or other wonders, or when crowds acclaimed him, they are wide awake, but now that he begins to speak of giving up his life, of having to take up the last place, of saving the world from evil forces, they refuse to understand, they slowly close their eyes and begin to sleep, and can thus keep dreaming about applause and triumphs! But only after his death will they start to understand how the way of the cross is the way that leads to life. That is the transformation, growth which is at the heart of Lent.
