From Abby Drath, Administrative Assistant:

“Behold, the bridegroom! Come out to meet him!” Matthew 25:6

The Church, in this thirty-second week of Ordinary Time, as we prepare for the end of this liturgical year in three weeks, continues to remind us about “the end things”. In the Parable of the Ten Virgins, we often reflect on the question, “Are we prepared?” But this question is more than just a reflection on our external preparedness, the practical preparations for leaving this earth, but it is more deeply a question of interior preparations to meet Jesus, our Bridegroom and to enter into the eternal banquet of beatitude (happiness) he has invited us to.

Are we keeping the light of faith trimmed and burning in our hearts through an intimate friendship with Jesus in daily prayer? Or, rather, are we expecting to be able to enter the banquet of Heaven on the resources and faith of others as we see in the request of the foolish virgins who asked the wise virgins to give them what they had so they could also enter the banquet? The foolish virgins in the end heard the excruciating words of Jesus, “I do not know you.” We also will hear these terrible words from our Lord, if we rely only on the faith of those around us or have failed to work at forming a habit of keeping vigil with our Lord and listening to His voice in daily prayer and growing in wisdom through the truths of the Faith. Without these habits, we will grow weary and will find ourselves ill-prepared to enter into the heavenly banquet. Instead, let our hearts cry out with the Psalmist “My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God!” Let us resolve to grow in our relationship with our Lord now through daily prayer, attentive and active participation in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, frequent reception of the Sacraments, and practice of the works of mercy. We ask for the grace to persevere in the preparations of our souls to welcome with joy the coming of our beloved Bridegroom.

Eucharistic Amazement:

“What is a pyx?”

Reflection #24

What is a pyx? A pyx is a small, round container specifically designed to carry the consecrated host (Jesus) to a person who is homebound. The design and size may vary but it has only one sacred purpose and may not be used for anything else. The person with a pyx must take Jesus directly to the one who will receive Him. This is a valuable service to parishioners who are unable to come to the Church. Please call the office for information on taking Holy Communion to the homebound.

Desde Abby Drath:

'¡ He aquí el novio! ¡Sal a su encuentro!' -Mateo 25:6

La Iglesia, en esta trigésima segunda semana del Tiempo Ordinario, mientras nos preparamos para el final de este año litúrgico en tres semanas, continúa recordándonos acerca de “las cosas finales”. En la parábola de las Diez Vírgenes, a menudo reflexionamos sobre la pregunta: “¿Estamos preparados?” Pero esta pregunta es más que una simple reflexión sobre nuestra preparación externa, los preparativos prácticos para dejar esta tierra, sino que es más profundamente una pregunta de preparación interior para encontrarnos con Jesús, nuestro Esposo y entrar en el banquete eterno de la bienaventuranza (felicidad), él nos ha invitado a hacerlo.

¿Mantenemos la luz de la fe recortada y encendida en nuestros corazones a través de una amistad íntima con Jesús en la oración diaria? O, mejor dicho, ¿estamos esperando poder entrar al banquete del Cielo con los recursos y la fe de los demás como vemos en el pedido de las vírgenes insensatas que pidieron a las vírgenes prudentes que les dieran lo que tenían para poder entrar también al banquete del Cielo? ¿banquete? Las vírgenes insensatas al final escucharon las insoportables palabras de Jesús: “No se conozco”. Nosotros también escucharemos estas terribles palabras de nuestro Señor, si confiamos sólo en la fe de quienes nos rodean o si no hemos trabajado para formar el hábito de velar por nuestro Señor y escuchar Su voz en la oración diaria y crecer en sabiduría a través de las verdades de la Fe. Sin estos hábitos, nos cansaremos y nos encontraremos mal preparados para entrar al banquete celestial. En cambio, dejemos que nuestros corazones clamen con el salmista: “¡Mi alma tiene sed de ti, oh Señor, Dios mío!” Resolvamos crecer en nuestra relación con nuestro Señor ahora a través de la oración diaria, la participación atenta y activa en el Santo Sacrificio de la Misa, la recepción frecuente de los Sacramentos y la práctica de las obras de misericordia. Pedimos la gracia de perseverar en la preparación de nuestras almas para acoger con alegría la venida de nuestro amado Esposo.

Welcome Father William Dun-Derry Nov. 18-19!

Father William is returning to share with us about a Multipurpose Center for Youth Formation and Human Development in Ghana. It will be used for church services, education programs for children, youth formation, catechesis and religious education, evangelization, human development and other community programs. This is an impoverished rural area with an extremely high illiteracy rate (80% among women and 73% among men) due to poverty and the lack of schools. The area lacks drinkable water, health care facilities, schools and places of worship (chapels) in rural communities. About 80% of the inhabitants of the area are worshippers of African Traditional Religion, but are open to Christianity. About 70% of the Catholic population in this diocese are youth. Parishioners from one rural community (mostly women and children) walk over 4 miles to attend Mass. Please pray about contributing to this important project in Fr. William's home community.

Annual Tootsie Roll Drive—Thank You!

The Knights of Columbus Bicentennial Council 6781 would like to thank everyone that made a donation to our Tootsie Roll Drive the weekend of October 21/22. Because of your generosity we collected over $1,400! This money will be distributed to local organizations that help people with intellectual disabilities - God bless you all!
