Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

Today's Gospel delivers a sobering message. Jesus is at the height of his popularity because of the miracles the crowds are witnessing and the wisdom he is imparting as he teaches. The throng realizes this person is unique and claims to be the son of God. As more people listen to him, Jesus drops a bombshell: you cannot be a follower if you don't renounce everything and everyone else. That's straight black-and-white talk.

I think back to a hymn we sang 50 years ago at a prayer meeting. It was rousing with simple, meaningful lyrics. Though none go with me, I will still follow...the world behind me, the cross before me. After singing that hymn, I began to ponder the words. If I meant what I was singing, Jesus had to become my focus, my purpose for living, and the centre of all my thoughts and actions. My allegiance was to Christ and no other. Jesus had to become much more than my Sunday hour at Mass. That's quite the commitment.

This responsibility to make Jesus our cornerstone can be daunting and solitary. However, our focus on the challenge has to be coupled with a trust that we are not alone in making this commitment. God will provide the grace and faith we need to follow him.
