

You can play Sharks and Minnows with water squirters by having the sharks tag minnows with water instead of tagging with a hand. The goal is for a minnow to cross the yard to the other side before a shark tags them. If a minnow is tagged, it becomes a shark and tries to tag minnows the next round. When there are only one or two minnows left, they become the sharks in the next round.

Here's how to play:

- Choose who will be the shark(s).
- The shark stands in the middle of the play area and says "Fishy, fishy, come out and play".
- The minnows slowly walk towards the sharks.
- At any time, the shark can yell "Shark Attack!".
- At that point, the minnows must run to the opposite boundary line without being tagged.
 - If a minnow is tagged, it also becomes a shark.

You can also play Sharks and Minnows in a pool. In this version, the shark stands in the middle of the pool, and the minnows stand out of the water on one end of the pool. When the shark yells "Go!", or "Fishy, fishy, cross my ocean", the minnows jump in the pool and try to cross to the other side without the shark tagging them.
