but God shows his love for us in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.
Romans 5:8

It is often said that God hates the sin but loves the sinner. While that is a nice thought, I believe that God's very nature would not allow Him to hate anything. While God does not wish us to sin, He knows that we will and He still loves us. There is definitely a life lesson in that. People we love will not always do what we expect or live up to our ideals. But do we still love them? Sometimes it may be difficult but we must rise above our own expectations and accept everyone where they are. That is what God does. While He wishes us to be better, He does not withhold His love when we fail. Otherwise, we would be lost. Neither should we give up on our loved ones who may disappoint us. We must still love them through their humanness if we expect the same from God.

Go raibh síocháin Chríost a bheith in éineacht leat.
