For God gave us a spirit not of fear but of power and love and self-control. 2 Timothy 1:7

This actually gets to the root of the true meaning of the Fear of the Lord. It is not about being afraid of what God might do to us. It is a response of love that is so strong you would never want to do anything that would hurt the other person. That is the spirit of God within us. He loves us unconditionally and He calls us to love the same way. We will fall short of that ideal but, if we approach our relationships with that same attitude of not wanting to cause any hurt, we will at least have a shot at succeeding in doing our best.
