Better is the end of a thing than its beginning, and the patient in spirit is better than the proud in spirit. Ecclesiastes 7:8

This section of Ecclesiastes presents ideas or actions in tension with one another. One is presented as preferable over the other. Here we see that finishing something is better than just beginning it. That leads into the second part. Being patient and completing a task is much better than saying what you are going to do. We can talk all we want. It is in action that our words find their completion.

Go raibh síocháin Chríost a bheith in éineacht leat.
