Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God? You are not your own, for you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body. 1 Corinthians 6:19–20

You do not belong to yourself. So you do not have the right to do whatever you want. There is a misunderstanding between freedom and liberty. It stems from the Enlightenment which extended the concept of freedom to include more liberty to do what you want. Freedom has limits based on how an action affects others. So you have Free Will but that is bound by how you follow God's will. You can choose not to do so but that enters into liberty, not freedom.
