A leaf, one of the last, parts from a maple branch:

it is spinning in the transparent air of October, falls followed its flight, no one will distinguish it now as it lies among other leaves, no one saw what I did.

I don't pretend to have an answer to the various upheavals in the last four months or so, or for that matter do I have desire to spout a religious opinion of God's intentions through all of this. ### Continued from page one....

weather creates a bit of anxiety, our season of Autumn with its magnificent colors and changes, and stark beauty, brings us close to the breath of our Creator. As we hear in Ecclesiastes: "For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven." Not to mention Psalm 8: "I look at your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, which you have set in place." Weather can be fickle during this season of Autumn but our Creator always leaves us with glimpses of beauty and stark simplicity as the humidity and temps drop. Take the time to clear away the endless voices, face time on screens, daily distractions and consider a few moments or more outside—alone with your thoughts—possibly guided by the whisperings of the Spirit. Mountains, seas and forests are grandeur, but the simple deposit of nature—anywhere—is a marvelous reflection of our Creator's Spirit. Consider the thoughts of writer and activist Rachel Carson who forewarned us about the delicate balance between the preservation of nature and our human advancements: "Those who contemplate the beauty of the earth find reserves of strength that will endure as long as life lasts. There is something infinitely healing in the repeated refrains of nature -- the assurance that dawn comes after night, and spring after winter."

And Ann Frank, holed up in hiding for most of her last few years alluding the Nazi repression: "The best remedy for those who are afraid, lonely or unhappy is to go outside, somewhere where they can be quite alone with the heavens, nature and God. Because only then does one feel that all is as it should be and that God wishes to see people happy, amidst the simple beauty of nature. As long as this exists, and it certainly always will, I know that then there will always be comfort for every sorrow, whatever the circumstances may be. And I firmly believe that nature brings solace in all troubles."

Sometime during this Autumn season, however much you need to bundle up, take a "Prayer-Walk," and maybe repeatedly. Regardless of the distance or time taken, you merely step outside, acknowledge God's presence and His Son at your side with the Sign of the Cross. No need for ritual prayers to be silently prayed; rather, allow yourself to take in the various thoughts that cross your mind and especially the hidden beauty within the stark simplicity of this season we call Autumn. And "saunter," as John Muir would say, not constricted by time or pace, but by the patience of nature. As you return to the door of your humble abode, pray the Lord's Prayer and make the Sign of the Cross, a gesture of acknowledgment and graciousness for Christ's companionship along the walk. As someone informed me years ago about entering a 'retreat time,' "Don't anticipate, merely participate." In the words of John Muir—the founder of our National Park System—speaking from his Christian perspective: "In every walk with nature one receives far more than he seeks." Our Savior and Holy Friend, Christ Jesus, himself 'sauntered' miles in the many Prayer Walks that centered his mission away from the numerous distractions and voices.

God Bless You, Fr. Tim

For the enjoyment of poetry I leave you with Angela Morgan's poem.

God The Artist

God, when you thought of a pine tree,

How did you think of a star?

How did you dream of the Milky Way

To guide us from afar.

How did you think of a clean brown pool

Where flecks of shadows are?

God, when you thought of a cobweb,

How did you think of dew?

For Your Information

Fr. Tim

How did you know a spider's house
Had shingles bright and new?
How did you know the human folk
Would love them like they do?

God, when you patterned a bird song,
Flung on a silver string,
How did you know the ecstasy
That crystal call would bring?
How did you think of a bubbling throat
And a darling speckled wing?

God, when you chiseled a raindrop,
How did you think of a stem,
Bearing a lovely satin leaf
To hold the tiny gem?
How did you know a million drops
Would deck the morning's hem?

Why did you mate the moonlit night
With the honeysuckle vines?
How did you know Madeira bloom
Distilled ecstatic wines?
How did you weave the velvet disk
Where tangled perfumes are?
God, when you thought of a pine tree,
How did you think of a star?

Together In Faith

By Sharon Mayer
Director of Faith Formation

As a parent, God has entrusted us with the care and upbringing of another human being, our child. As such, this also means we have a special job and responsibility to form them in their faith. This is a very serious undertaking. We have our children baptized and at that time we promise to raise those children in the church and teach them about God. The gift of Grace is given. Along the way there are many people to help us- grandparents, aunts, uncles, godparents, friends, Catechists. It is the Catechists I would like to focus on. They are a special group of people with a devotion and understanding of the Lord's teachings, willing to pass this knowledge onto to children. These folks, along with parents taking their child to Mass to hear God's word and receive Jesus to themselves, is what cultivates in them the desire to do good and be good. It is one of the finest things we can do for our children.

I have had many opportunities to sit back and watch Catechists in action and it is MAGNIFICENT! They are wonderful and I appreciate them all. Please remember your child's Catechist in your prayers and ask God's blessings for them as they teach this year.

I feel like we should not be talking about October already. The fall is my favorite season, but I feel like I am just getting a handle on September. October is the month of the Rosary. Our third grade is one group who will be learning about the Rosary and how to say the Rosary in October. The annual candlelight Rosary for grades 6-12 will not be held this year due to distancing regulations, but each class could hold their own if they wish. This gives them an opportunity to say the Rosary together and pray for a special intention of their own. At the end of the month, students will focus on All Saints/ All Souls feast days as well as Halloween in a NOT scary way. Even with the changes this year, learning about our faith continues.

So far, our students have been great, and curious-they want to learn- and I want them to learn. I enjoy finding ways to help them do just that. If you should feel like you have some time to give on a Wednesday afternoon for an hour or so, please give me a call. I would love to have you. People always have something to contribute even if it isn't on a weekly basis. Unless a family goes to church regularly or reads the bulletin or newsletter, they really are not aware what all goes on in parish life. This year is even more difficult. Many things have been suspended or scaled back until the pandemic eases.
