From Stewardship Sunday

Brent Speak offered this stewardship talk at the end of Mass in October, during the kickoff of the annual Catholic Stewardship Renewal. Several parishioners who were at a different Mass that weekend asked for a printed copy of the talk. We thought it might be encouraging to the parish as a whole, so with Brent's permission, we offer it here:

My name is Brent Speak. My family and I have been attending here for around 7 years. The first Mass that we actually attended was the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary. If you would have told me 10 years ago, that I would be standing up here and giving a personal narrative (a testimony of sorts) of how it was that I came to come to Mary Immaculate, a Catholic Church, I would have scarcely believed you. You see, I was born and raised a Protestant—in the Fundamentalist/Evangelical strain. We were not nominal Protestants, either. We went to church twice on Sundays, as well as once on Wednesday nights. That doesn't include Sunday school and children's church, as well as church camps and various revivals and everything that comes along with those. My brother is a pastor in Macon, and I was even a deacon (akin to the Parish Pastoral Council) at the time I was called out of that church. I will always be grateful for the formation that I received, even though I ultimately realized that it was fundamentally inadequate, that is to say, incomplete.

My joining the Church was not much short of being miraculous, I suppose. I have heard multiple times that people either marry their way into the Church or read their way into the Church. I was neither, and yet, I was both.

I was reconciled to the Church on December 18th, 2016—this happened to be our wedding anniversary. This was improbable in and of itself. I recall once telling a girl who was chasing me, “I could never date a Catholic.” And while this was in part an evasive maneuver, it was also true. Somehow, she eventually caught me, and we were married at St. Bonaventure in Marceline. I promptly “converted” her to a Protestant, or maybe she just started coming along with me without too much protest.

This continued on for about 15 years of marriage. Little did I know that things were going to shift dramatically (and somewhat miraculously). Since moving back to Kirksville, my kids had always attended school here at Mary Immaculate. As it would happen, Msgr. Cox was assigned to be the pastor. Growing up, my wife knew him well. When Msgr. Cox realized that she was no longer a practicing Catholic, he began to pray for her daily. My wife began to feel the call to come home. She never relayed this feeling to me. However, she began to pray for God to spur my reconciliation, and He did. Out of the blue, for 3 nights in a row, I was awakened in the middle of the night with the overwhelming sense that I should become Catholic. The next Sunday, while I was sitting in my former church running the soundboard, I knew that I was no longer where I belonged. I was called to be Catholic. I was called to conversion. At that moment, I sent an email to the Director of Religious Education at Mary Immaculate and asked to join the RCIA classes.

My brother being a pastor, and my father a deacon at the church that I used to attend, I knew that I would have to be able to give an answer for why I chose this path. So, I started to read. I read and I read, because I wanted, when questioned, to have an intellectual leg to stand on. Also, I had been called to be Catholic—there was no question about that in my mind—but I really wanted to thoroughly know what I said I believed.

RCIA was a process that changed my life. Because I grew up Protestant, the concept of an ongoing conversion was completely lost on me. As I began to learn about my new Faith, it became more than just a cognitive assent. A change of heart occurred, as well as a change of mind.

God spurring me along to join RCIA was a miracle, but not the only one. God then sent me another miracle, a tangible miracle, in that I was able to come into contact with dynamic members of the body of Christ: that is His Church. Pat Lehr, Don Crosby, soon to be Deacon Chris Korte were with me as I went through this process. I learned, I grew, I changed. I began to realize what it meant to live a sacramental life. I have always heard that I was supposed to be part of the Body of Christ, but they made it seem more tangible than I had previously experienced (not that I didn't encounter dynamic and devout Christians growing up, because I did). Their teaching, fellowship, and the life that they lived, God used as a witness to His grace in my ongoing conversion.

God's grace brought me to the Church. God's grace also brought me to members of the Body of Christ who picked me up and carried me along the way. Without answering their call to stewardship, the local congregation would certainly be different. I know that I would certainly be different.

I am called, we are all called. Sometimes my answering the call is hampered by self-doubt, lack of time and all of the other excuses that I can devise. However, I know my life would be less had others not given of their time and talent. I pray that I can be such a member of the Body of Christ that down the road that I may be used as an instrument of God's grace in someone else's life. While I know that I may occasionally fail, I do love what Monsignor Makarewicz said once in a homily. I know that I am pulling it a little out of context, but he said, "Remember the invitation continues." I do pray that I will always echo the prophet Isaiah in saying, "Here am I Lord, send me."

Bishop McKnight's Prayer Intention for February: For the depressed and those suffering from mental illness; may the active compassion of the Church bring healing and consolation to those who are tempted to despair.

The Holy Father's Prayer Intention for February: We pray that those with a terminal illness, and their families, receive the necessary physical and spiritual care and accompaniment.

Until February 13, we are collecting canned soup for the PAC Souper Bowl. MI donated about 900 cans last year, and we need to bump it up to 1000 to win. Let's do it, in honor of Dana Delaware! Feel free to bring donations to the parish center any time we're open.

Thank you to Monsignor Makarewicz and Mary Immaculate parishioners for the prayers, love, visits, memorial gifts, food, cards and phone calls extended to our family during the illness and death of our wife, mother and sister, Cartalene Ruddell. We rejoice knowing Cartalene has joined her sister, Margery Leavitt and their parents, Carter and Mary Patton, in eternal paradise. Again, thank you for the prayers offered during this difficult time and for continued prayers for Ronald, the Ruddell children and Cartalene's sisters, Mary Maye Bennett and Jo Ellen Hays.

Ronald now resides in Chesterfield, close to their daughter. If you wish to contact him his address is 1020 Woodsmill Road, Apt. 329, Chesterfield MO 63017. His phone number is: 314.392.9645.

Blessing of Throats: Everyone will have the opportunity to receive the traditional Blessing of Throats in honor of St. Blaise after all the Masses this weekend. St. Blaise of Sebaste was a physician and the bishop of Sebastea, in modern-day Armenia, around the 3rd century A.D. Not much is known about his life, but we do know that many people came to him seeking healing for body and soul. St. Blaise became associated with blessings of the throat after a miracle he performed shortly before his death. According to his Acts, as St. Blaise was being taken into custody by the Roman authorities, a child nearby was choking on a fishbone. His mother threw herself at the saint's feet and begged him for his intercession. Blaise prayed for the child, who was then cured. As a result, St. Blaise often intercedes for protection against illnesses and injuries of the throat. (Some accounts state that Blaise had been given two candles and formed the candles in a cross around the boy's throat.) The tradition of blessing throats dates back to the 8th century and is derived from the Book of Blessings, a liturgical book that contains instructions for Catholic ritual blessings. Within the Book of Blessings is the Order of the Blessing of Throats on the Feast of Saint Blaise, which states that, to bless someone's throat, two candles are joined with a red ribbon and the sign of the cross is made while the priest or deacon says the following: "Through the intercession of St. Blaise, bishop and martyr, may God deliver you from every disease of the throat and from every other illness. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."
