REFLECT & RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

First Reading:

The prophet Habakkuk is encouraged to be patient and trust in the Lord's timing. Is patience one of your virtues?

Second Reading:

Paul urges Timothy to live his life of faith with courage and self-control, especially in difficult situations. How might you support a family member or friend struggling this week?

Gospel:

Jesus taught the Apostles that one way to increase your faith is to have the attitude of a servant. How would you describe your attitude most days?

©LPI

Our readings today show us that living a stewardship way of life, that is, a life focused on serving God and His Kingdom, is not easy. They also show us that our lives belong to God, not to us, and that God will indeed bring about the fulfillment of His kingdom. We just need to have faith that He can do it and commit to our small part in His grand design.

We can all relate to the frustration expressed in the First Reading from Habakkuk. "How long, O Lord? I cry for help but you do not listen!" "Why do you let me see ruin; why must I look at misery?" The Lord knows that the life of a steward is not easy. When we look around us, it can seem as if all our efforts are in vain. We spend time praying, but nothing happens. We are faithful to our ministry, but no one seems to notice. We give generously of our financial resources, but the needs around us remain great. Despite all this, the Lord urges us to remain faithful. "For the vision [the fulfillment of His kingdom] still has its time, presses on to fulfillment and will not disappoint."

Our Second Reading from St. Paul's letter to Timothy offers encouragement on the difficult path of discipleship, reminding us that we have all the tools we need to remain faithful. Paul says to "stir into flame the gift of God that you have...." Through the sacraments, the Word of God, and the teachings of the Church, we have every possible grace and blessing needed to continue moving forward on the stewardship path. We simply need to return to them over and over so as to stir these gifts into flame. Paul instructs us to "guard this rich trust with the help of the Holy Spirit that dwells within us." Relying on the abundant spiritual gifts God has given to us, and relying on the Holy Spirit's strength, we can bear our share of hardship well for the sake of the Gospel. This is both our privilege and responsibility as Christian stewards.

Jesus makes this privilege and responsibility clear in today's Gospel passage from Luke. When the apostles ask the Lord to increase their faith, He tells them that even a mustard seed-sized faith is all that is needed to move mountains (because it is God who does the heavy lifting). We need only take the tiniest step forward, and He will do the rest. It is a true privilege to cooperate as servants in the work of building His Kingdom.

Living our lives in His service is also very much our responsibility, as Jesus explains through the parable of the unprofitable servant later in this passage. Our Lord describes a scene in which a servant has just come in from tending to the master's affairs and asks whether it would be reasonable for the master to begin waiting on his servant. Of course, it would not be reasonable. The servant would be expected to continue to serve his master until he has completed the work the master has given him that day. Jesus says we should have this same attitude before God. The time, talents, and treasure entrusted to us are all God's. Our very lives belong to God. Whatever we do on God's behalf with our lives and our gifts is simply our God-given responsibility.

The stewardship way of life makes the privilege and responsibility of serving Christ and His kingdom a reality.

ACT OF SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

My Jesus, I believe you are really here in the Blessed Sacrament. I love you more than anything in the world, and I hunger to receive you. But since I cannot receive Communion at this time, Feed my soul spiritually. I unite myself to you now, as I do when I actually receive You in Holy Communion. Amen.

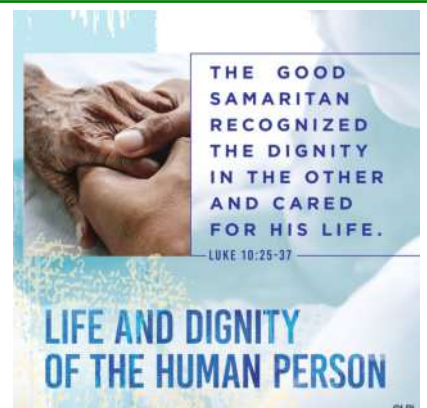

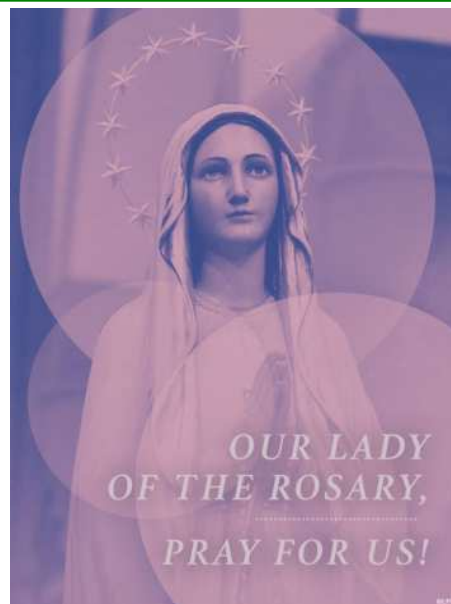

LIVE THE LITURGY - INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

The Apostles beg Jesus for increased faith, but they don't really want faith. They want a magical feeling of certainty that requires no effort. Real faith must grow and sprout roots in fertile soil. Real faith requires attention and work. Are we willing to work? © LPi

POPE LEO XIV'S UNIVERSAL PRAYER INTENTION: OCTOBER

For collaboration between different religious traditions

Let us pray that believers in different religious traditions might work together to defend and promote peace, justice, and human fraternity.

October is Respect Life Month. Join Catholics nationwide praying a special novena for the protection of human life from conception to natural death. Get daily intentions, brief reflections, and more. Visit usccb.org/respectlife.

OUR CATHOLIC FAITH

7 CATHOLIC DEVOTIONS TO CHANGE YOUR WEEK

In Catholic tradition, each day of the week has some particular devotional subject. These entered popular piety over time with the rise of votive Masses in the early Church. Votive Masses, offered for a special intention rather than a fixed feast, eventually led to texts being assigned to different days of the week in order to commemorate certain mysteries and persons.

Some of these took shape through Alcuin's Liber Sacramentorum, proliferating over the centuries until various popes and councils reined them in, leaving the days with different liturgical characters. The Missal of Paul V (1570) organized the votives this way:

- ◆ Monday: Trinity
- ◆ Tuesday: Angels
- ◆ Wednesday: Apostles (also St. Joseph, after 1920)
- ◆ Thursday: Holy Spirit (also the Eucharist was added in 1604)
- ◆ Friday: The Cross and the Passion
- ◆ Saturday: Mary

Since the revision of the liturgy, the votives are left up to the priest and not associated with particular days.

The association, however, remains an aspect of popular piety. This traditional assignment of certain aspects of the faith to each day of the week can give focus and structure to the week, similar to the way the Liturgy of the Hours gives structure to the day. Likewise, each month is dedicated to something particular, such as May for Mary and June for the Sacred Heart. When we combine all of this with the liturgical calendar (either traditional or revised), we encounter an elaborate web of sanctification through the medium of time.

SUNDAY: THE RESURRECTION AND THE TRINITY

Sunday is always fixed as the day of the Resurrection, but by the second millennium, it was becoming associated more particularly with the Trinity due to the preface of the Trinity and the daily Office. The faithful began to separate this devotion, with the Father remembered on Sunday, the Son on Monday, and the Holy Spirit on Tuesday, leading to various distinct votive Masses. Eventually, the practice was suppressed because it was seen as detaching the Persons from each other in a way that could cause confusion. In some places, the Trinity was separated from the Resurrection and remembered on Monday, while the role of the Holy Spirit in the Church was remembered on Thursday. Eventually, this commemoration became focused on Sunday.

MONDAY: SOULS IN PURGATORY

In the early Middle Ages, there was a popular belief that the souls in Purgatory received relief from their trials from sundown Saturday night until sunrise on Monday morning in anticipation of their redemption. Since the souls were thought to return to their suffering on Monday morning, it became traditional to ease their transition with special prayers and commemorations. For many centuries, this meant priests could add prayers for the souls on any Monday not assigned to another purpose, and the faithful took up this practice. The Holy Spirit is commemorated on this day in some traditions.

TUESDAY: THE ANGELS

Likewise, votive Masses were added for the Angels on Mondays, perhaps with the idea that they were the first of God's creation and thus should stand at the head of the week. They were also considered guides and shepherds of the souls in purgatory, linking the dead and the angels in a particular way. Pius V moved the votive for the angels to Tuesday, but in popular piety, they sometimes remain on Monday, along with the souls in their care.

WEDNESDAY: THE APOSTLES AND ST. JOSEPH

Once again, here we see popular piety following liturgical practice as first the apostles and then St. Joseph are assigned to Wednesday. Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday are days of a more solemn order, as we see in the Ember Day fasts on these days. With Mary assigned to Saturday and the Cross on Friday, that left Wednesday as the only remaining "high" weekday, which is why it was assigned to St. Joseph, where he was eventually joined in honor by the apostles.

THURSDAY: THE HOLY EUCHARIST

This one should be obvious: the institution of the Eucharist at the Last Supper occurred on a Thursday, so we recall the sacrament on this day. It is often accompanied by a Holy Hour in adoration before the exposed Eucharist. It's also a good opportunity to meditate on Jesus' agony in the garden, a very fruitful devotional practice.

FRIDAY: THE CROSS AND THE SACRED HEART

Fridays obviously have a distinct character because of the crucifixion. These are days of penance and sacrifice in which we give up eating meat, although, since the Council, we may replace that with some other penitential practice. On Fridays, we remember the passion and death of Jesus all year, not just on Good Friday.

The first Friday of the month is also devoted to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. In a revelation to St. Margaret Mary Alacoque, grace and final repentance were promised to those who took communion on the first Friday for nine consecutive months. From this promise grew a special devotion to the Sacred Heart on Fridays.

SATURDAY: THE VIRGIN MARY

From at least the ninth century, people have been observing special devotions to the Blessed Mother on Saturdays, and that continues to the present time in the liturgy. There are various reasons suggested for this — Mary was the only person who did not abandon Jesus and kept vigil on Saturday, the day is close to Sunday — but it's a long-standing tradition that's integrated into the life of the Church.
