Saint Margaret of Scotland Feast day November

16 For Saint Margaret—a wife, a mother, and a queen—giving money was never enough. She was with those who were poor, making sure they had food and clothes. Margaret was born about 1045. She was raised in the Hungarian court, for she was from the line of nobility. When she was 12, she was sent to the English court of Edward the Confessor and further educated. When the Normans conquered England,

Margaret, her mother, her brother, and her sister tried to return to Hungary. Their ship was blown off course and landed in Scotland. They were welcomed by King Malcolm III, who fell in love with the beautiful and gentle Margaret. They were married in 1070. Scotland was a rough country, and although Malcolm was a good man, he was more of a soldier than a scholar or courtly gentleman. But Margaret helped him become a virtuous, gracious leader. They had eight children; all of them grew to love those who were poor and to care for them as their parents had. The youngest, David, was thought of as a saint by the people. Margaret was prayerful. She gathered women together to study the Scriptures and to embroider vestments and altar cloths. She was always surrounded by beggars, and she gave them money and clothes. She helped ransom the English who had been captured, and she set up homes and hospitals for those in need. She and her husband would go to church during Lent and Advent. On the way home, they would wash the feet of poor people in need and give them money. At home, Margaret fed nine orphans who were brought to her daily. She brought a love of the arts and education to the people, and they loved her in return. Her children are believed to be primarily responsible for two centuries of progress and peace in Scotland. Margaret died four days after her husband's death in 1093. In 1250, she was canonized and later declared patroness of Scotland.

"A man in this world must solve a problem: to be with Christ, or to be against Him. And every man decides this, whether he wants to or not. He will either be a lover of Christ or a fighter of Christ. There is no third option." +St. Justing Popovich

Immigration Fee Changes

The Diocese of Providence's Office of Immigration and Refugee Services would like to inform our immigrant community that the United States immigration office (USCIS) is increasing their fees for most of their applications, including becoming a citizen. Legal Permanent Residents who wish to become US citizens are currently charged $725 for the process, but very soon the fee will increase to $1,200. It is important to apply now to avoid this fee increase.

Please call the Diocese immediately to learn more about the increases or any other immigration question you might have. Monday – Friday from 9am – 4pm at gflores@dioceseofprovidence.org. Phone: (401) 278-2532 Fax: (401) 277-9027. Thank you for your time, Genesis Flores (Immigration Case Worker)

"The fear of God illumines the soul, annihilates evil, weakens the passions, drives darkness from the soul and makes it pure. The fear of God is the summit of wisdom. Where it is not you will find nothing good. Whoever does not have the fear of God is open to diabolical falls." +St. Ephraim Syrian is able to support numerous ministries and programs of the Diocese of Providence, R. I., providing social, educational and spiritual support to thousands of Rhode Islanders each year regardless of race, creed or background. Your gift makes a real impact! Thank you for helping us serve so many!

Because of generous people like you, the Catholic Charity Appeal

Our goal for the Catholic Charity Fund Appeal 2020 is $15,500.00. So far we have raised 46 1/2 % of our goal, that is $7,208.00 ! Those of you who have not yet made a contribution. Please make use of the envelopes in the pews. Hopefully, we can reach our goal before the end of November. God bless you always .

Being a Practicing Catholic

One of the essential qualities of internal Catholic practice (certainly not the only, there are many more requirements) is that the Catholic at minimum submit his intellect and will to the authentic teachings of the Church on faith and morals. These, along with the extraordinary or ordinary infallible definitions or teachings, define the "standards of excellence that are appropriate to, and partially define, the form of activity" of Catholic practice.

If these "standards of excellence" are denied, then one is not a practicing Catholic--but something else. As Archbishop Chaput recently put it, "If they don't believe what the Church teaches, they're not really Catholic."

The person who claims to be a practicing Catholic while refusing at least religious submission of intellect and will to the all Church's ordinary teaching, including that related to the ordination of women, artificial contraception, abortion, and homosexuality (to pick a few of the hot-button issues) is being disingenuous. In fact, I am of the opinion--as are most orthodox theologians--that the submission of faith, or theological assent (something greater than religious submission) is demanded here. These moral teachings are part of the "standards of excellence" that are part of the Catholic practice.

To dissent, to refuse religious submission of mind and will, to reject these "standards of excellence" is to step outside the Catholic practice. It would be akin to a lawyer arguing before the Supreme Court of the United States that neither the U.S. Constitution nor the laws passed by Congress and signed into law by the President apply in the premises, but rather, that the Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the laws made by the National People's Congress of China ought to apply. Whatever would be going on in such a hypothetical, such an advocate would not be practicing law, although an argument could be made that he is practicing clownship or buffoonery.

Someone who dissents from the ordinary teaching of the Catholic Church, i.e., someone who fails to give religious submission of intellect and will to those teachings, is outside of Catholic practice, which necessarily translates to the fact that he or she--whatever he or she is--is not a practicing Catholic. They are perhaps practicing clowns or practicing buffoons or practicing pagans or practicing Catholic apostates, but they are certainly not practicing Catholics. (by Andrew M. Greenwell)

Catechism News!!!

Due to current restrictions concerning COVID-19, it will be impossible to hold CCD classes in the rectory. As an alternative, families may choose one of the following options for the upcoming year:

- *Online Catechism classes through Catechismclass.com (registered by the HNJ Parish) – approx.. cost of $40 per child.
- *Homeschool Curriculum (books can be provided by HNJ Parish) – cost of text books approximately $40 per child
- *Catholic School preparation (for children preparing for Sacraments, school curriculum must cover preparation, otherwise must participate in Online or Home-school option. Please arrange for note from School.)
- *Hiatus Year (no CCD instruction for 2020/2021, resume attendance in previous year once COVID restrictions are lifted).

Families should carefully consider the best option for their personal situation. We appreciate that for a child attending school remotely, the addition of having to complete CCD classes at home may be too much both for children and parents. If you are considering the online option, please keep in mind that families are responsible for providing their own technology to access the online platform. If you would like to use parish textbooks, we will provide you with both the instructional text and the accompanying workbook.

What happens next?

Each family will receive a survey to complete in which they will be able to specify how they would like each of their children to participate in religious education for the current academic year. We appreciate that the decision may be different for individual children in the family and that is fine. The survey will remain open until November 10, 2020 and also be posted on the parish website and Facebook page. Based upon their responses, families will be contacted with regard to next steps.

All children of the parish, grades 1 – 8, should register through the CCD survey.

God Bless.

Thanksgiving with the Parish Youth Groups

It has been quite a while since the Parish has gotten together to prepare Thanksgiving food baskets. This year our Youth Group from the A.C.C. will revive this tradition. There will be bins or boxes at the entrance of the Church and Chapel to receive donations of NON-PERISHABLE items: canned vegetables, instant mashed potatoes, rice, oil, pasta, etc. Please do not bring any frozen items since there is no place to store them. Gift Cards would also be very welcome.

The youth will then prepare the boxes for the eligible families. Several will be set aside for a special donation to Crossroads.

PLEASE NOTE THAT THIS MUST BE DONE QUICKLY.

REMEMBER:

- ♦ Applications will be accepted only until 7:00 PM on Friday November 20th.
- ♦ Drop off applications in the designated basket in the Church, Chapel or Rectory.
- ♦ Distribution of Baskets will occur after each Mass on Sunday November 22nd.
