Gifts the World Cannot Give

Confirmation is a sacrament of challenge, but also of great comfort. Jesus, in his long communication to his disciples and friends at the last supper, gives them a challenging message, of course, but also words of real comfort. Yes, even as he is preparing them for his impending suffering and death, Jesus juxtaposes the grim news that he will soon leave them with the promise that he will still remain with them, a paradox they cannot yet understand. Jesus also states that he or the Father actually, will send them an Advocate (Paracletos) – a HOLY SPIRIT which Jesus had already promised to send to them. What a marvelous promise! And, in saying that his Father would send another Advocate, Jesus must be pointing to his own role of being their advocate or defender, all through his lifetime. After all, was he not their true guide, their shepherd and counselor?

We too need to recall as we move towards the Feasts of Ascension and Pentecost that Jesus has sent us, too, the gift of the Holy Spirit. He and His Father gave us this Spirit at the time of our actual confirmation! And they send Love often, promising through the Spirit to be with us always.

Another special motif found all through John's 14th chapter finds its way into today's gospel passage. I refer to the theme of Peace. For Jesus says "I give you peace! Not as the world gives, do I give peace. Let not your hearts be troubled or afraid." Now they are about to be plunged into the biggest confusion, pain and sadness they have yet known. But I believe Jesus makes this statement in order to prepare them for the future. They will remember his words, finding that a deep inner peace flows through them when they look back on all he meant for them. And, after the Resurrection truth is made clear, they will truly be at peace learning that –all along, he was only trying to ensure their peace, joy, and well-being.

Although I cannot remember much from my own Confirmation, in Albany, NY of 1953 (was a mere sixth grader then, quite new to anything like real Christian witness!) I might even then have been looking for peace, that inner peace "which the world cannot give." One spends a lifetime searching for this. So when I saw, in her poem "Wanderer"-- certain lines from the Carmelite Jessica Powers, I wanted to share them. To me they suggest One who searches night and day to find those most in need of such peace, people who, like the disciples way back then, and like many a pilgrim even now, might have echoed her words:

*"How did I ever come then to the light?. ..
I who betrayed the truth over and over,
and let a tangle of dark woods surround me?*

*Simple the answer lies: down cliffs of pain,
through swamps and desert, thicket &
terrain,
oh, Someone came and found me!"*

Aventuras espirituales

Continuar profundizando deliberadamente con los Ejercicios Espirituales en esta temporada de Pascua.

Regalos que el mundo no puede dar

La confirmación es un sacramento que a la vez nos brinda un reto y nos da el aliento para enfrentarlo. Jesús, conversando con sus discípulos durante la última cena, les presenta con un reto, pero también les da palabras de aliento. Jesús, ante su inminente sufrimiento y muerte, prepara a sus discípulos anunciándoles la triste noticia de su pronta partida prometiéndoles a la vez que estará siempre con ellos; una paradoja que los discípulos aún no pueden entender. Jesús también anuncia que Él (o más bien el Padre) les enviará un paráclito, el ESPÍRITU SANTO que Jesús ya les había prometido con anterioridad. ¡Qué maravillosa promesa! Y, al decir que su Padre les enviaría a un paráclito o protector, Jesús enfatiza su propio papel de defensor y protector de por vida. ¿Después de todo, no era Jesús su verdadero guía, pastor y consejero?

Nosotros también debemos acordarnos, conforme nos acercamos a las Fiestas de la Ascensión y Pentecostés, que ¡Jesús y el Padre ya nos enviaron el don del Espíritu Santo cuando recibimos el sacramento de la Confirmación! A través de su Espíritu, Dios cumple su promesa de estar siempre con nosotros enviándonos su amor.

También hay otro tema importante en el capítulo 14 del evangelio de San Juan que escuchamos en la lectura de hoy: el tema de la Paz. Jesús dice: "La paz les dejo. No se las doy como la da el mundo. No pierdan la paz ni se acobarden." Los discípulos se van a hundir en la mayor confusión, dolor y tristeza de sus vidas, y preparándolos para ello, Jesús les anuncia su Paz. Los discípulos recordaran sus palabras, y descubrirán la paz interior que fluye a través de ellas cuando en retrospectiva entiendan el significado de todo lo que Jesús les dijo. Después de la Resurrección, cuando la verdad se vuelve clara a los discípulos, ellos alcanzan realmente esa paz dándose cuenta que Jesús trató de asegurar su paz, bienestar y gozo todo el tiempo.

No me puedo acordar mucho de mi propia Confirmación allá en 1953 en Albany NY, (¡apenas en sexto año y con mucho por aprender de cómo ser un verdadero testigo de Cristo!). Quizás haya estado buscando esa paz interior "que el mundo no puede dar" y que uno se puede pasar toda la vida buscándola. Así que cuando leí un verso del poema "Caminador Errante" de Jessica Powers, una monja Carmelita, quise compartirlo con ustedes. El verso me sugiere a alguien que busca día y noche a los más necesitados de esa paz de Dios; alguien que, como los discípulos de aquel entonces, e incluso como muchos peregrinos de hoy día, harían eco:

*"¿Cómo fue posible que yo llegara a la luz...
yo que traicioné la verdad una y otra vez,
y me deje envolver por una enredadera
obscura?"*

*La respuesta es sencilla: allá en el fondo de los acantilados del dolor,
a través de pantanos y desiertos, espesos matorrales y terracería...
¡Oh, alguien vino y me encontró! "*

Come Down, O Love Divine

By Jeff Rice, Pastoral Associate for Liturgy & Music

Down Ampney is a village in Gloucestershire, England and the birthplace of composer Ralph Vaughan Williams in 1872. Among many musical achievements, Vaughan Williams composed and arranged dozens of hymn tunes as part of a project to compile "The English Hymnal," one of the most prominent hymnals in use in the Church of England. Vaughan Williams was part of a movement of composers at the turn of the twentieth century who were interested in collecting, recording, and using folk music in their work. This was a turn away from the more sentimental, sappy Victorian music of the 19th century. Folk tunes tended to be more organic, surprising, and authentic. The work of musicians like Vaughan Williams not only preserved many tunes that would have likely been lost to history since they relied on being passed down orally, but also placed in the voices of congregations a treasure trove of wonderful melodies that were expertly arranged and set to wonderful texts. In addition, Vaughan Williams composed his own hymn tune melodies that were influenced by this folk tradition.

The hymn we are singing at the beginning of Mass this weekend, "Come Down, O Love Divine" is an excellent example of an original Vaughan Williams hymn tune inspired by folk melodies. The text itself is from a poem by 14th century Italian mystic Bianco da Siena, "Descend, Amor santo." It was translated into English and published in the mid-19th century by Richard Frederick Littledale. As part of the original "English Hymnal" Vaughan Williams composed a new melody to set the text of Littledale's translation. He named the tune itself "Down Ampney" after his birthplace. Here is the text:

*Come down, O Love divine,
seek thou this soul of mine,
and visit it with thine own ardor glowing;
O Comforter, draw near,
within my heart appear,
and kindle it, thy holy flame bestowing.
O let it freely burn,
till earthly passions turn
to dust and ashes in its heat consuming;
and let thy glorious light
shine ever on my sight,
and clothe me round, the while my path illuming.
And so the yearning strong,
with which the soul will long,
shall far outpass the power of human telling;
for none can guess its grace,
till Love create a place wherein the Holy Spirit makes a dwelling.*

Sometimes with these older hymn texts, the words fly by so quickly, and they are so dense with imagery and meaning, we don't have a chance to really engage them. What I like about the Vaughan Williams tune "Down Ampney" is that it slows down the text a bit, and really emphasizes certain words. It's written so that each stanza is broken in half. The first three lines of each stanza have their own little contained melody. For the final three lines of each stanza, Vaughan Williams creates a dramatic leap which creates this sense of crying out to the Spirit even more. You'll notice too that the tune doesn't have a steady beat that we are accustomed to in almost all the music we consume these days. This is typical of folk music (from all over the world really) driven by more complex rhythm that serves the text.

While in his original conception, Vaughan Williams wrote for an organ accompanying a congregation of unison singers (perhaps with a descant on the final verse) it's neat to see how the music has been rediscovered appropriated over its century of life. There are magnificent full choral, brass, and organ arrangements, there are orchestral fantasias on the melody, there are quiet piano solo improvisations, and there are simple presentations of a singer with a guitar. We tend to compartmentalize everything into boxes, especially assigning musical styles of what we like and don't like, but good music is good music, and it tends to return "to dust and ashes" our artificial categorizations. What could be more indicative of the Holy Spirit at work in the world. "None can guess its grace," indeed.

¿Qué diferencia hay entre un sacerdote diocesano y un religioso?

Hay sacerdotes “diocesanos” y sacerdotes “religiosos”. ¿Cuál es la diferencia?

El ministerio sacerdotal confiado a los apóstoles fue, posteriormente, comunicado por ellos a otros que los sucederían en la misión, a los cuales llamaron Episcopos (obispos) (1 Tim 3,1ss; 2 Tim 1,6). Este ministerio, además de la potestad de celebrar los sacramentos, conlleva el oficio pastoral. Con el tiempo, los mismos apóstoles van asociando a su ministerio a otros a los que llaman presbíteros (Hch 14,23), sin olvidar la presencia casi inmediata de los diáconos (Hch 6,1-7). Así, cada comunidad cristiana, situada en un territorio determinado, estaba pastoreada por un obispo con un grupo de presbíteros y diáconos, situación que continúa hasta hoy. El oficio del presbítero (sacerdote) ha sido siempre el de colaborar con su obispo en el ministerio pastoral de la Iglesia.

Por otra parte, desde los primeros siglos de la Iglesia, se empezó a gestar un movimiento de personas que de manera individual se alejaban de la vida común para dedicarse únicamente al Señor, especialmente yéndose al desierto, conocidos como eremitas y anacoretas.

Con el tiempo, se empiezan a reunir en grupos para compartir este estilo de vida. Esto es el germen de los que más adelante se llamará vida religiosa.

Esta consiste en vivir la consagración al Señor, como sacerdote o como hermano, en una comunidad con un carisma específico, esto es, la intención con la cual fue fundada: atender a los jóvenes, a los niños sin hogar, a las prostitutas, a los enfermos, a los privados de libertad, a los inmigrantes, entre otros.

Esto nos lleva, entonces, a hablar del modo de vivir diverso del único sacerdocio confiado por el Señor Jesús a su Iglesia, esto es, sacerdote diocesano y sacerdote religioso. Es el mismo sacerdocio vivido de modo diverso, en cuanto a su comunidad específica.

El sacerdote diocesano tiene un modo de vida que brota de lo que los apóstoles fundaron en las primeras comunidades: un obispo y un grupo de sacerdotes con él pastoreando un territorio determinado llamado Diócesis (de ahí su nombre, diocesanos). El carisma particular está inspirado en Cristo Buen Pastor, que da la vida por sus ovejas (Jn 10). Propiamente, atienden las parroquias y otras dependencias de la diócesis. Están bajo la autoridad exclusiva de su obispo, por medio de las promesas hechas el día de su ordenación: castidad y obediencia.

El sacerdote religioso tiene las mismas facultades de un sacerdote diocesano, es decir, la capacidad de celebrar los sacramentos, pero lo que lo distingue es su modo de vivir. Ya no es entorno a un obispo en una diócesis determinada, sino en una comunidad específica de religiosos, con un carisma propio, inspirado por el fundador de tal comunidad, bajo la autoridad de un hermano superior de la misma comunidad.

Toda la comunidad bajo la autoridad y cuidado del obispo de la diócesis en la que reside. Cada uno profesa, antes de su ordenación sacerdotal, los votos de pobreza, castidad y obediencia. Así tenemos a los Redentoristas, Vicentinos, Carmelitas, Siervos de Jesús, Franciscanos, Salesianos, Jesuitas y muchos más.

En síntesis, es el mismo sacerdocio, sólo que el diocesano lo ejerce bajo la autoridad de un Obispo en un territorio específico llamado Diócesis, mientras que el religioso lo ejerce bajo la autoridad de un Superior, siguiendo el carisma de su fundador y viviendo en una comunidad.

Please welcome new clergy

Hi St. Raphael,

Great news! I'm thrilled to announce that Adam Rosinski, S.J. has been assigned to St. Raphael as a Parochial Vicar for a one year assignment. He'll begin his ministry here on June 22.

Some of you may remember Adam, as he spent five ("wonderful" in his words) months here in 2011 as a Jesuit Novice. He recently finished his theology studies at Boston College and will be ordained a priest on June 8. St. Raphael will be his first assignment as a Jesuit priest. He was previously ordained a deacon in September 2018.

I would like to introduce you to Adam. He grew up in Philadelphia and is the oldest of four siblings. He first met the Jesuits as an undergrad at the University of Scranton. After graduating with his Bachelor's Degree he worked for a short time as a high school teacher before entering the Jesuits in 2009. In addition to Raleigh, his Jesuit formation has taken him to Syracuse, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, and internationally to Bolivia and Spain. During his formation, he's spent time as a student, teacher, coach, campus minister, sports chaplain, and spiritual director. What a great addition to our diverse parish community!

Please join me in warmly welcoming Adam to our parish community.

See below for a statement from Adam.

A.MD.G.,

Adam's message to the St. Raphael community

Dear St. Raphael community,

Beginning my priesthood in a parish is special because, in a parish, a priest is called to walk with and minister to the people at every stage of life's journey. I'm happy to return to St. Raphael especially because I had a wonderful, although short, experience here in 2011 when I was a Jesuit Novice. Your parish community taught me a great deal about my own vocation, and I made some wonderful friends. Returning after my priestly ordination, I know that the people of St. Raphael will teach me how to be a good priest.

I'm also very excited and love that St. Raphael is such a large diverse (age, ethnicity, language, etc.) parish. And, I'm looking forward to being a part of the Diocese of Raleigh, a local Church that has seen extraordinary growth and flourished since it was established almost a century ago!

God bless,

Adam Rosinski, S.J.

Por favor, Démosle la Bienvenida al Nuevo Sacerdote

Hola San Rafael,

¡Buena noticia! Con gran alegría les anuncio que Adán Rosinski, S.J. ha sido asignado a San Rafael como Vicario Parroquial por un año. Él comenzará su ministerio el 22 de junio.

Algunos de ustedes podrán recordar a Adán, puesto que pasó cinco (en sus propias palabras “maravillosos”) meses aquí en el 2011, como principiante jesuita. Recientemente terminó sus estudios de teología en la Universidad de Boston y será ordenado sacerdote el 8 de junio. San Rafael será su primer destino como sacerdote jesuita. Fue ordenado diácono transitorio en septiembre de 2018.

Adán, creció en Filadelfia y es el mayor de cuatro hermanos. Su primer encuentro con los jesuitas, fue como estudiante en la Universidad de Scranton. Después de graduarse, trabajó durante un breve periodo de tiempo como profesor de la escuela secundaria antes de entrar en la Compañía de Jesús en el 2009. Chicago, Filadelfia, Boston, e internacionalmente a Bolivia y España. Durante su formación, ha pasado el tiempo como estudiante, maestro, entrenador, ministro universitario, capellán de los deportes, y director espiritual. Es de gran alegría que él se adhiera a nuestra diversa comunidad parroquial!

Por favor, démosle una calurosa bienvenida a Adán a nuestra comunidad parroquial.

A.MD.G.,

Fr. Phil

Mensaje de Adán a la comunidad de San Rafael

Querida comunidad de San Rafael,

Iniciar mi sacerdocio en una parroquia es especial, porque en una parroquia, un sacerdote está llamado a caminar con y atender a las personas en cada etapa del viaje de la vida. Estoy feliz de regresar a San Rafael sobre todo, porque tuve una maravillosa, aunque corta experiencia en el 2011, cuando era un principiante jesuita. Su comunidad parroquial me enseñó mucho acerca de mi propia vocación, y he hecho algunos amigos maravillosos. Regresando después de mi ordenación sacerdotal, sé que la comunidad de San Rafael me va a enseñar cómo ser un buen sacerdote.

También, estoy muy contento y me gusta que San Rafael sea una gran parroquia diversa (edad, origen étnico, idioma, etc.). Y, estoy mirando hacia adelante, para ser parte de la Diócesis de Raleigh, una Iglesia local que ha experimentado un crecimiento extraordinario y florecido, desde que se estableció hace casi un siglo!

Dios les bendiga,

Adán Rosinski, S.J.

PROTECT BABIES BORN ALIVE:

Sometimes babies are born alive during an attempted abortion and are left alone to die, or even killed. Please join the Respect Life Committee in urging our U.S. Rep. David Price to vote to stop infanticide. Please also thank Rep. George Holding for singing the petition and protecting life. Text ALIVE to 50457 or visit www.babiesbornalive.com.

SPIRITUAL ADOPTION - At four months, 17 weeks, your baby is 5 1/2 inches long and weighs nearly 5 ounces. She has fingernails and toenails. True hair is starting to grow on her head and her taste buds are working. She has REM sleep, which means she is dreaming. The number of nerve cells are growing at a particularly fast rate this month and the brain looks very much like an adult brain.

Daily readings are available on the website of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops at usccb.org.

Las lecturas diarias están disponibles al hacer clic en el calendario en el sitio web de la Conferencia de Obispos Católicos de los EE. UU.: usccb.org.
