TAKE TIME FOR RELATIONSHIPS

It is important for us to set aside time for our relationships. A little bit of family-time each day should be a goal, even if not always looking the same from day to day: dinner together, night prayers, going to an event together. Spouses should try to have a chance each day to have some quiet time together, and perhaps a dedicated "date night" each month. We should try to visit our family if they are close, or connect over the telephone or write a letter. All of our human relationships need dedicated time and attention. The same is true for our relationship with the Lord. A week ago the Fraternus men and mentors set aside some time especially for the Lord with their Fall excursion, and next week the Fidelis ladies are doing the same. They have some fun over those two days, but also have a lot of time carved out for the most important relationship in our lives, including prayers such as the Rosary, periods of Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, and opportunities for Confession, along with Holy Mass, fulfilling their Sunday obligation to do what is "right and just": worshipping God for who He is and for all He blesses us with.

Adults have similar opportunities here in our parish and elsewhere. Four weeks from now is the women's Welcome Retreat, starting on Saturday the 28th. Two weeks later, the men's Welcome Retreat will be held. I encourage retreats of some form for us all, because we need to make time for the relationships that matter to us, and the Lord should matter immensely to us. These retreats are great because they are held in our parish and organized by parishioners according to a trusted and fruitful format, but uniquely our own. If you can make yourself available those weekends (sacrificing other opportunities is something almost all of us have to do) then I encourage you to consider it. If you give God a weekend, you will reap dividends, I assure you – just not for your bank account!

Speaking of accounts, I want to thank you for your attention to the Annual Bishop's Appeal video last weekend, which I thought did a praiseworthy job of humble transparency for how the diocesan budget is allocated. This gives great assurance that our contributions to the appeal are important and impactful, bearing fruit in real ways through various ministries. Please discern with the Lord how He is directing you to support the appeal this year. Consider 1% of your annual income as a starting point of your discernment, and let God lead you from there. Generosity with God never goes unnoticed, even if the benefits are stored up for eternity. I think God usually gives spiritual rewards (fruits of the Holy Spirit and virtues) even in this life, but the gift should be given without such calculations and expectations. We give because we have received. We are stewards and are meant to use our goods in a way that would please God and be of benefit to others.

As you turn in your pledge cards (even if it is a one-time donation or you cannot contribute this year), our diocese is growing more closely united in this joint effort. May God help us to truly live as one body in Christ Jesus and build up His Kingdom one day at a time, one soul at a time.

FIRST SATURDAY DEVOTIONS TALK

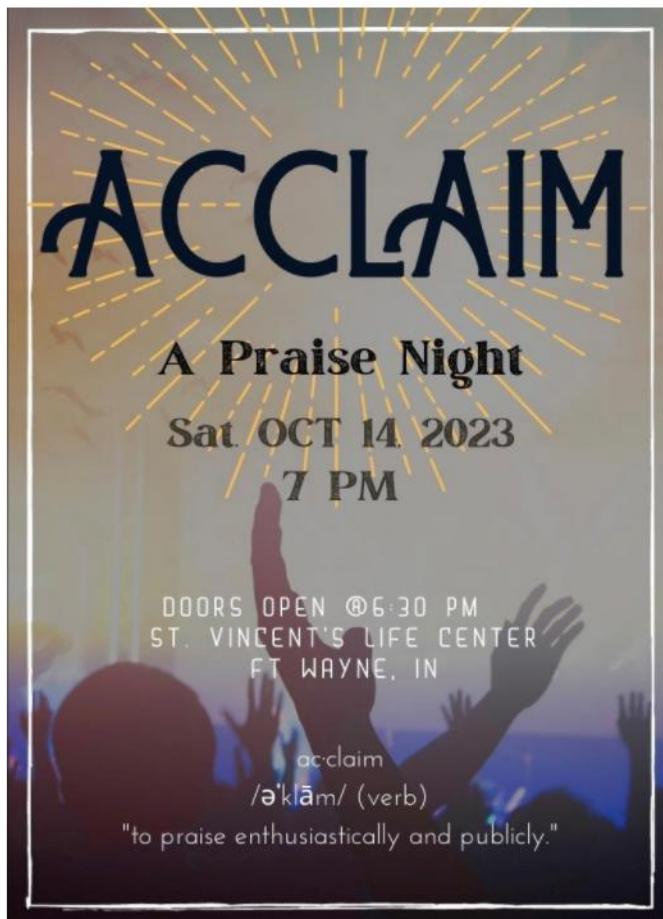

Father Glenn Kohrman will present a talk on The Holy Rosary, with a special focus on First Saturday devotions, on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church, 4500 Fairfield Avenue. For more info, call Karen Glotzbach at 260-744-4393.

A WALK TO REMEMBER

The tenth annual Walk To Remember for Perinatal and Infant Loss will be Saturday, Oct. 7, from 10 am to 2 pm at the Huntertown Family Park Pavilion, 2303 Woods Road in Huntertown. This FREE event is an opportunity for parents and family to come together in the journey they walk and know they aren't alone in their grief. The Walk offers something for everyone. Our highlighted activity is a one mile memorial walk around the park following a banner with your baby's name on it. We will also have other stations with additional activities leading up to the walk itself, such as:

- Resource Tent: Filled with information on many area organizations that specialize in memorial items, support groups, and so much more.
- Chalk Art: A wonderful activity for the entire family to draw on a section of the 1-mile path to remember your baby.
- Family Craft: This year's craft is an ornament to honor your angel baby.
- Family Photography: We have beautiful props and a professional photographer to capture your family – a keepsake that can be added to the ways you continue to remember and honor your angel baby's memory.
- Refreshments: We are always overwhelmed with our donation from Prairie Farms and other local companies who provide milk, juice, coffee, hot cocoa, snacks, and baked goods.
- Free Raffle: We have been working with area companies to create several lovely care baskets to raffle off. Something to bring a smile to your day, if just for a moment. There is no cost to participate, you will receive a ticket to enter to win whichever basket you would like.
- Balloon Release: each family will receive a balloon following the memorial walk, which they can write a message to their angel baby, which will be released together.

A gentle reminder that absolutely everything we do at Walk to Remember is at no cost to you, so please join us.

One of our two School Resource Officers, Officer Adam Brown, recently paid a visit to Mrs. Busch and her Preschool class. Students got to meet Officer Brown's canine partner, Rizzo. The two have been together since 2018. Officer Brown discussed with the students how he and Rizzo help people stay safe not just here in our school, but out in our community as well. We are grateful to have both Officer Brown and Officer Matt Todd serving at our school this year!
