THE TREASURE OF OUR HEARTS

I wish you all a blessed holiday. Our freedom is a great gift for us. But it is not the greatest of our gifts.

As Catholics we are given a great treasure. Have you fully realized its value?

This past week on retreat with our Fidelis group (our youth sisters and their adult mentors) I spoke about the new stained glass window of the Last Supper. In the bottom panel we find on the right, the parable that is paired with this scene: a man discovering a treasure buried in a field. Among all the dirt, grass, rain, sun, and toil of life, we all find within the Church this treasure, perhaps buried under our distractions, worries, sins or maybe just our regularity with the sacrament, taking it a bit for granted.

This treasure, the Lord's true presence, fulfills His promise to remain with us until the end of the ages.

In the parable the man who finds the treasure realizes he needs to change his plans. He goes and sells all that he has to buy that field. What changes do we make for the Eucharist? If we are not changing, are we already saints? Or have we not realized the true value of this treasure?

Over the summer, it is important to not put God aside, or beneath other priorities. Do we give God our summer plans too? This is a challenge for myself as I walk this pilgrim road toward heaven while living in the same cultural atmosphere. Every season has its challenges. But we must keep our focus on His promise. If you find your attention slipping during this ordinary time, seek out a saint to show you the path forward. In fact, I think there are many saints who can speak to us today. Which is for you?
