From the Pastor, Fr. Patrick Behm

This week, we celebrate the Ascension of the Lord. This Solemnity celebrates the moment when Jesus Christ took His rightful place at the right hand of the Father. In doing so, He has also opened the path for us, His disciples, to join Him one day in the Kingdom.

Perhaps more than any other celebration in the Church, the Ascension speaks to the “urgency of evangelization,” to steal the title of a wonderful little book by Dr. Ralph Martin. Dr. Martin is a theology professor at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit. In Matthew’s Gospel, it’s at the Ascension that Jesus gives His “great commissioning,” where He exhorts the Apostles to “go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have told you.” He then promises that He will be with us always, “until the end of the age.”

So, what is evangelization? That’s a word we use a lot, but sometimes, I think we have a faulty understanding of what it actually is. First, evangelization is different from catechesis. These two things are related, but they are not the same thing. Catechesis is teaching someone the faith. Evangelization, on the other hand, is sharing the faith with someone to bring that person to faith in Jesus. In other words, evangelization is the first step in the process of forming a disciple.

Evangelization (sharing the faith) ----> Catechesis (teaching the faith) ----> Mission (sending a disciple out to make more disciples)

FOCUS, the Fellowship of Catholic University Students, takes the same ideas and rebrands them using the terms Win ----> Build ----> Send. We win a soul for Jesus, we then build the person up by teaching him or her all that Jesus has taught us, and then we send the person out to go and repeat the process.

The point of the Ascension is this . . . our faith isn’t meant to be something personal, something we keep hidden. It’s meant to be shared with the world.
