Spiritans in the Archdiocese of Cincinnati/Covington

In 1851 Archbishop John B. Purcell visited Fr. Francis Libermann and asked him to staff the Inter diocesan seminary in Cincinnati. He consented. The Congregation asked Fr. Ignace Schwindenhammer to embark with some companions for the U.S.A. Somehow the affair fell through. It was only when the Congregation was expelled from Germany as Jesuit-related that, in 1872, the Congregation decided to begin a province by opening a college in Covington, Kentucky. The provincial designate, Fr. Joseph Strub, could only go later, and Fr. George Ott was temporarily placed in charge by the Congregation. When they arrived in Covington, the local bishop told them they had come "one year too soon." There was no place for them to stay together, so Fr. Ott went to Cincinnati to explore possibilities.

Archbishop Purcell received him with open arms and offered St. Boniface in Piqua with its five mission stations. The Congregation eagerly accepted Archbishop Purcell's offer of having a parish in Berlin (Forte Loramie), and a House for Brothers near Pontiac was acquired. The Spiritans earned their bishop's praise for doing the work they were doing.

Fr. Ott, however, had overlooked that all these little places in a very rural area offered no chance to develop a new province. The Congregation needed to work in or near a large city. When Fr. Strub arrived in 1874, he saw this mistake at once and decided to withdraw gradually from most of these little stations. The departure was hastened by a conflict with Archbishop Purcell, who began to assign some Spiritans to different stations without the consent of their religious superiors. In late 1876 all Spiritans had left Ohio, except two who left the Congregation to join the diocesan clergy.

In 1891 Archbishop William Henry Elder asked the Spiritans to come and take over the ministry to the blacks in Cincinnati Archdiocese, but this couldn't materialize until the time of Archbishop John T. McNicholas, OP, in 1928, three years into his episcopate as Archbishop of Cincinnati. The parish given to the Spiritans was St. John the Baptist Church in Dayton.

The Archbishop asked the Spiritans to care for the growing African American Community in Dayton, and on September 5, 1928, Fr. Edward Malloy became the first Spiritan Pastor for St. John the Baptist Parish between Krug and William Street in Dayton.

He enrolled twenty-five adults and 25 children in the parochial school, 20 African-Americans. Fr. Edward C. WHITE succeeded Fr. Malloy with a congregation of 155 adults and 57 children in the school. The other pastors after him were the Frs. Henry J. THESSING, 1936-1945; Joseph POBLESCHKE, 1945-1945; John M. LUNDERGAN, 1947-1948; THESSING again until 1950; James KILBRIDE, 1950-1959; Paul LIPPERT, 1959-1963.

St. John's Parish was truly Home to the African American Catholics in Dayton until 1963, when this Church had to give way to the new highway, now I-75 & State Route 35. The Archbishop asked parishioners to join St. James and Resurrection parishes, while a few opted to go to St. Agnes. In 1994 with the abrupt departure of Fr. Tom Stricker, the Holy Ghost (Spirit) Fathers were again asked to serve the Parish of Resurrection and Fr. Freddy Washington was appointed the Pastor. These two parishes merged in October 1999 when constraints led to the closure of St. James Parish. These two parishes continued their Journey of finding a neutral location where they could worship together and give a chance to their long-awaited dream of having a church on their own. Thanks to God, on May 14, 2005, a new parish and new Church built under the supervision of Fr. Francis Tandoh, a Spiritan priest from Ghana, were dedicated by Archbishop Daniel Pilarczyk with his first appointed Pastor Fr. Francis Tandoh, a Spiritan priest.

The Pentecost Novena

We continue our Pentecost Novena every day this week until Saturday May 27th.

Sent to Serve

Jesus said to them again,

"Peace be with you. As the Father sent me, so I send you. " When he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit." John 20:21-22

What Important work does Jesus ask of you at this time in your life?

Use this question for personal prayer, beginning a meeting, or conversations with others to prepare for the May 28, 2023 readings:

Reading I Acts 2:1-11, Descent of the Holy Spirit

Reading II 1 Corinthians 12:3-7 Many gifts, one Spirit, and the analogy of the body

Gospel John 20:19-23 Appearance to the disciples

Celebration Masses together as a vibrant Family

The Beacons of Light recommends that the Family of Parishes celebrate the Eucharist together sometimes during the year. The Beacons process suggests Christmas Vigil and Easter Vigil. The Worship Commission attempted to do something together at the Christmas Vigil and Easter but it couldn't be materialized. A recent meeting of the Pathway team, suggested taking the opportunity of pending anniversaries to come together and celebrate each other present in the Eucharist. These recommendations were affirmed by the Family Council at their special meeting.

- The Picnic on September 10, 2023, at Triangle Park.
  - One Hundred and Fifty years of Congregation of the Holy Spirit, Spiritans, of which Fr. Benoit and Fr. Francis are members. The climax is on May 28, 2023, a Sunday.
  - Celebration of Seventy-Five Years of Queen of Martyrs Church December 10, 2023.
- The intent is to celebrate Mass together at least four times during the year.

Temporary Name for the Family

Each Family of Parishes is asked to create a name that identifies the Family of Parishes. Ideally, we want to avoid referring to our Family of Parishes by geography and numbers (more creative than "NE - 8 Region Family of Parishes").

Already, more than 20 parishes within the Archdioceses have selected a temporary name for their Family of Parishes. So, we want to join that list!

The Naming Guidelines for the Family of Parishes include:

- The name of the Family is temporary and not intended to be the final canonical name of the parish.
- The name should NOT be identical to an existing church.
- The name does NOT have to follow the canonical constraints of a church, such as the name of a saint.

The archbishop does NOT need to approve the Family name. He will need to approve the eventual new canonical parish name.

All said and done; your suggestions are welcome. The following are some of the temporary names received:

Dayton- Germantown Connection
St. Martin de Pores
Holy Spirit, Family of Parishes
Spirit of Peace
Spirit of Mercy
Evangelical Hearts
Queen of Grace and Mercy
Inner City Grace
Our Lady of Welcome
Holy Spirit Catholic Church of the Valley

Feel free to add yours in the box below and put it in the collection box or call the Parish office, or email Pastor@unitedinhope.org between now and May 24, 2023.

The Real Presence MIRACLE OF AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS 1345

On March 15, 1345, a man named Ysbrant Dommer, was very seriously ill and near death. The parish priest administered the last rites to him, and he received Holy Communion. Shortly after the priest left, the man became violently ill and expelled the contents of his stomach. The woman in attendance immediately collected the material in a basin and threw it into a large open fire in the hearth. The next morning the woman went to the hearth to revive the fire and was startled to see the Host, fresh and brilliant, lying among the coals that still supported a steady flame. She quickly snatched the Host from the fire, carefully wrapped it in a clean linen, placed it in a chest for safekeeping, and summoned the priest who immediately returned to the house. He placed the Host in a pyx and washed the cloth in which it had been wrapped, then carried the Host to the parish church of St. Nicholas (which is now the property of non-Catholics). The following morning, the priest found the pyx empty, but the Host was discovered by the same woman in the same chest when she opened it to remove some linens. The priest was again summoned to return the Host to the church. This disappearance and rediscovery was repeated the next day. Then the priest assembled other members of the clergy for consultation and all agreed that the occurrences were a direct proof of God's power, and apparently a sign that the miracle should be openly honored. The miraculous Host was then carried in solemn procession to the church. The church authorities, headed by the Bishop, held an extensive inquiry before permitting the clergy to spread information about the event. The house in which the miracle took place was soon turned into a chapel because the Host of the miracle was kept on the altar. About 100 years later, in 1452, a great fire destroyed most of Amsterdam and threatened the Holy Place. In an attempt to save the miraculous Host, locksmiths were called in to open the tabernacle, but their efforts were unsuccessful. Their tools broke off and the flames and heat forced them to retreat. When the fire was finally extinguished, another miracle was discovered: lying amid the smoldering ruins, untouched by the fire, was the vessel containing the miraculous Host, together with its silken cover. The long list of favors which had been received by the people previous to the fire was greatly increased when the chapel was rebuilt. Enormous crowds flocked there and participated in its annual procession. In 1845, the fifth centennial of the miracle, a grand public demonstration took place and has continued every year on the anniversary of the miracle.

75th Year Queen of Martyrs Church

After four months of organization, Queen of Martyrs Church had grown to 380 families. Plans for a temporary church was being completed. This building, although temporary as the church proper, would be created so it could be used in the future for a recreation center and social hall.

A festival at Circle park was scheduled to help raise money for the new church building. Several thousand people were expected to attend. Free bus service was offered to and from Keowee Street and Hall Avenue. A chicken dinner was served from 4 pm with dancing and music at 8:30 pm until the close at 11:30 pm.

*He speaks these words not as one who merely observes our pain, but as one who experienced immense suffering. And the very wounds that bear witness to his suffering indicate the essence of our identity and worth: we are loved by God.
