A Message from Fr. Matt

©LPI

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

My mom was a really smart lady. She had a way of kind of "taking the air out" of a situation or dispute that let us see it rightly. I remember watching a movie with my mom and one of the characters swore, using the "F-word". I was probably 13 or so. I felt so uncomfortable. I was sure that my mom had never heard that word or if she had, she must be so upset that we were watching a movie with such language. My mom stopped the movie and instead of being angry or disgusted, she told us how stupid that writing was. They didn't even use the word in a grammatically proper way. She challenged us not to speak like this because she said, we were smarter than this. She took the air out of the moment. Instead of it being a moment of cringing and awkwardness, she made it a moment to think, learn and be challenged. There was another moment like this that I remember. A few of us were arguing about who was the favorite child. Some of my siblings were saying that I acted like I was. Can you imagine that?? So, we asked my mom. Now she could have sat down and told us the good things about each of us and tried to make each of us feel special, but she didn't. It was a stupid question. She wasn't going to choose one of us. So, she said; "I don't like any of you!" We laughed. We knew without a doubt that she loved us, but her response took the contentiousness out of the room. She had this talent for transcending situations and getting us to focus on what was really important.

There is an old saying, "the enemy of my enemy is my friend." It is a cynical way of thinking. It is the kind of thinking that got the Pharisees and the Herodians together in today's Gospel. You see, the Pharisees and the Herodians couldn't have been further apart in the way that they saw the world. Pharisees were scrupulously observant of the Mosaic Law. The Herodians were collaborators with the occupying Roman government. They were not friends. They looked at each other with disdain. They had very different goals and ends in mind. But they were united by the fact that Jesus was a threat to them, although in what way they were uncertain. They come to Jesus with a question about taxes. They think that they have given him two choices. One choice will make Him a breaker of the Law of Moses. The other choice will make Him a breaker of the law of the Roman Empire. Either way, they think, they will get Jesus in some trouble and maybe then they can get rid of Him. But Jesus takes the air out of the room. Jesus transcends the dispute. The coin they show him as the way to pay the tax has the image of Caesar on it. So Jesus says, it must belong to Caesar. But then, He reminds them whose image and likeness is on them; God's. So, they must belong to God. Jesus transcends the argument. He moves it from a petty dispute, a baited trap to see whose side He is on, to a deep challenge about what each of us owe to God. Jesus pretty much tells them, "I don't like any of you," and then shows the depth of His love for all of them by challenging them to think about something much more important, their relationship with God.

So often, when we don't agree with another person, we look at them as enemies. We inflate our disagreements falsely into the most important things. It kind of comes back to an age-old problem that I think gets us in trouble a lot. You and I think that we have stuff figured out. We think that we know absolutely what is right. We think that we have God figured out. We know whose side God is on and it sure isn't the side of the people who don't see things the way that I see them. This is arrogance. We do not have God figured out. We cannot contain God in our small understanding. We can only seek Him out and seek a relationship with Him. Look at the First Reading. Do you think that Israel, when they were in exile, saw Cyrus the King of Persia as their friend? No, they did not. Yet God used Cyrus to rebuild Jerusalem and the Temple. The person Israel saw as their greatest enemy turned out to be their great friend. God works that way sometimes. It is hard to understand and figure out. Our problem is that we try to. This isn't our place. This figuring out is again, arrogance. We are asking the wrong questions. Fighting the wrong battles. God transcends the enmity that we think is so important. It is not us versus them. It never has been. It is us and God. Nothing is more important.

This week, I am going to try to be a little more like my mom. When disputes come up, I am going to try to take the "air out of the room," and pivot, transcend the dispute to focus on what is really important. Maybe you could think about this too. This is what Jesus did. He didn't allow Himself to be drawn into petty disputes. He didn't play their games. He turned the focus to what was really important. Give to God what belongs to God. You belong to God. So does the person you dislike the most. So too does the person who we think is most evil in the world. God is working. We can't even imagine what God has in store. Focus on your relationship with Him. Nothing is more important.

Peace and Love,
Fr. Matt

DID YOU KNOW?

THE CHI RHO

The Chi Rho—a symbol that looks like a "P" with an "X" superimposed over it—is a Christogram.

IHS represents "Jesus" in Greek, while the Chi Rho stands for "Christ": the letters X (chi) and P (rho) are the first two letters of "Christ" in Greek.

Constantine had a dream in which Jesus instructed him to make a likeness of the symbol and use it as a defense against his enemies.

Constantine won the Battle of the Milvian Bridge and soon after converted to Christianity.

He continued to use the Chi Rho as his battle-symbol and on other official items such as coins.

Its use quickly spread throughout the empire, and it is now one of our faith's most common symbols.

It's time for the Annual Turkey Dinner on Sunday, November 12th, 11:30am-6:00pm. This fundraiser benefits students through tuition assistance at our very own St. Wendelin school. Proceeds stay local and help our own families and neighbors! Come enjoy a delicious turkey (or ham) dinner with all the fixings.

Volunteers and donations are greatly appreciated. Sign up to help on the Sign Up Genius Link on the St. Clare Parish website, or pick up a sign up sheet in the back church. Also, if you live in a well traveled area, please consider displaying a Turkey Dinner Yard sign, they can be found in the vestibule.

"I would now like to say a special word to women who have had an abortion. The Church is aware of the many factors which may have influenced your decision, and she does not doubt that in many cases it was a painful and even shattering decision. The wound in your heart may not yet have healed. ...But do not give in to discouragement and do not lose hope. ...The Father of mercies is ready to give you his forgiveness and his peace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation."

Saint Wendelin School Teacher Feature!

A little about Saint Wendelin School's Fourth Grade Teacher, Mrs. Lee Dittman.

My name is Lee Dittman. I received two Bachelors of Science Degrees (Elementary Education and Early Childhood Development) from Clarion University in 1998. I taught several years in public and private school in Ohio, Colorado and Michigan. Then, I stayed home when my husband and I had our children. We have been married for 25 years (started dating 32 years ago). We have a 14 year old son, who is an 8th grader at Karns City High School. Our 22 year old daughter recently relocated to Kentucky where she is attending Medical School.

Much of our time was/is spent watching our kids play sports: soccer, basketball, baseball and track. Once our kids were in school I resumed my teaching career. I have taught public and private school since 2016. I was at St. Wendelin from 2017 to 2020 and am so happy to be back. I am teaching 4th grade this year and I am loving it!! In our spare time, my family loves to travel.
