Our Lady of the Rosary

October 7, 1571. It was on this day the combined naval forces of the Pope, Spain, and Venice defeated Ali Pasha of the Ottoman Empire at the Battle of Lepanto, near Athens. The Ottomans had around 300 ships, and they lost almost all of them, either sunk or taken. They also lost 7500 of their men. On the contrary, the forces of the Pope, Spain, and Venice lost only a few of their ships. Moreover, they were able to release 15,000 Christian rowers who were slaves on the Turkish ships.

Pope Pius V attributed this great victory to the power of the rosary rather than the power of cannons, as the rosary confraternities at Rome and elsewhere were holding rosary processions during the time of the battle. Hence, he introduced the Feast of the Blessed Virgin Mother of Victory in 1572 to commemorate this unbelievable victory. His successor, Pope Gregory XIII, renamed this feast the Feast of the Holy Rosary the following year. But in 1969, the feast's name became 'Our Lady of the Rosary.' This feast is now being celebrated on October 7. Because the feast of Our Lady of the Rosary is celebrated in October, the month of October is now dedicated to the rosary.

According to legend, it was our Blessed Mother herself who asked St. Dominic (1170-1221) to say the rosary as a form of prayer. Pope St. Pius V, who was a member of the Dominicans, approved the rosary in its present form and promoted it as a popular Christian devotion. Rosary as a prayer is primarily based on Scripture as all its 'mysteries' are taken from the context of incarnation and redemption. Also, the first part of the prayer, 'Hail Mary' is totally taken from the New Testament. The second part, however, was added by the Church.

For Pope John Paul II, the rosary was his most favorite form of prayer. In fact, it was through his devotion to the Blessed Mother that he became closer to the Lord Jesus. Let us also remember to say the rosary every day and grow in our devotion to the Mother of our Lord Jesus. If we are faithful in saying the rosary, we can be confident that she will be with us to protect us, especially at the time of our death.

Nuestra Señora del Rosario

7 de Octubre de 1571. Fue ese día en que las fuerzas navales combinadas del Papa, España y Venecia derrotaron a Ali Pasha del Imperio Otomano en la Batalla de Lepanto, cerca de Atenas. Los Otomanos tenían alrededor de 300 barcos y los perdieron casi todos, hundidos o capturados. También perdieron 7,500 de sus hombres. Por el contrario, las fuerzas del Papa, España y Venecia perdieron sólo algunos de sus barcos. Además, pudieron liberar a 15,000 remeros Cristianos que eran esclavos en los barcos Turcos.

El Papa Pío V atribuyó esta gran victoria al poder del rosario más que al poder de los cañones, ya que las cofradías del rosario en Roma y otros lugares realizaban procesiones del rosario durante la época de la batalla. Por lo tanto, introdujo la Fiesta de la Santísima Virgen Madre de la Victoria en 1572 para conmemorar esta increíble victoria. Su sucesor, el Papa Gregorio XIII, cambió el nombre de esta fiesta a Fiesta del Santo Rosario al año siguiente. Pero en 1969, el nombre de la fiesta pasó a ser "Nuestra Señora del Rosario". Esta fiesta ahora se celebra el 7 de Octubre. Debido a que la fiesta de Nuestra Señora del Rosario se celebra en Octubre, el mes de Octubre ahora está dedicado al rosario.

Según la leyenda, fue nuestra Santísima Madre quien pidió a Santo Domingo (1170-1221) que rezara el rosario como forma de oración. El Papa San Pío V, que era miembro de los dominicos, aprobó el rosario en su forma actual y lo promovió como una devoción cristiana popular. El Rosario como oración se basa principalmente en las Escrituras, ya que todos sus "misterios" se toman del contexto de la encarnación y la redención. Además, la primera parte de la oración, 'Ave María', está totalmente tomada del Nuevo Testamento. La segunda parte, sin embargo, fue añadida por la Iglesia.

Para el Papa Juan Pablo II, el rosario era su forma favorita de oración. De hecho, fue a través de su devoción a la Santísima Madre que se acercó más al Señor Jesús. Recordemos también rezar el rosario todos los días y crecer en nuestra devoción a la Madre de nuestro Señor Jesús. Si somos fieles al rezar el rosario, podemos estar seguros de que ella estará con nosotros para protegernos, especialmente en el momento de nuestra muerte.

Nossa Senhora do Rosário

7 de Outubro de 1571. Foi neste dia que as forças navais do Papa, Espanha e Veneza derrotaram Ali Paxá do Império Otomano na Batalha de Lepanto, perto de Atenas. Os Otomanos tinham cerca de 300 navios, e eles perderam-nos quase todos, afundados ou perdidos. Também perderam 7,500 dos seus homens. Pelo contrário, as forças do Papa, Espanha e Veneza perderam apenas alguns dos seus navios. Além disso, eles foram capazes de libertar 15,000 remadores Cristãos que eram escravos nos navios Turcos.

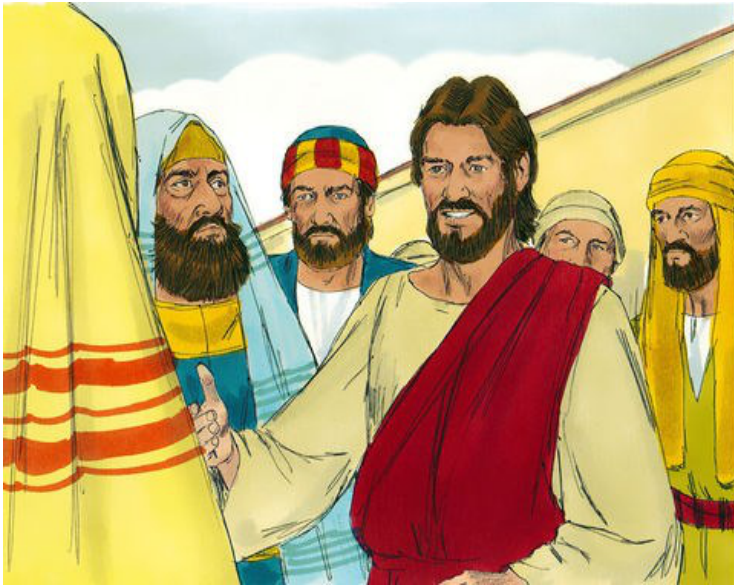

O Papa Pio V atribuiu esta grande vitória ao poder do rosário e não ao poder dos canhões, já que as confrarias do terço em Roma e em outros lugares estavam realizando procissões do terço durante a altura da batalha. Por isso, introduziu a Festa da Santíssima Virgem Mãe da Vitória em 1572 para comemorar esta inacreditável vitória. O seu sucessor, o Papa Gregório XIII, renomeou esta festa de Festa do Santo Rosário no ano seguinte. Mas, em 1969, o nome da festa passou a ser 'Nossa Senhora do Rosário'. Esta festa está agora a ser celebrada no dia 7 de Outubro. Porque a festa de Nossa Senhora do Rosário é celebrada em Outubro, o mês de Outubro é agora dedicado ao terço.

Segundo a lenda, foi a própria Mãe Santíssima que pediu a São Domingos (1170-1221) que rezasse o terço como forma de oração. O Papa São Pio V, que era membro dos Dominicanos, aprovou o terço na sua forma actual e promoveu-o como uma devoção Cristã popular. O Rosário como oração baseia-se principalmente nas Escrituras, pois todos os seus 'mistérios' são retirados do contexto da encarnação e da redenção. Além disso, a primeira parte da oração, 'Avé Maria', é totalmente retirada do Novo Testamento. A segunda parte, no entanto, foi acrescentada pela Igreja.

Para o Papa João Paulo II, o terço era a sua forma favorita de oração. De facto, foi através da sua devoção à Santíssima Mãe que se aproximou do Senhor Jesus. Lembremo-nos também de rezar o terço todos os dias e crescer na devoção à Mãe de Nosso Senhor Jesus. Se formos fiéis na oração do terço, podemos estar confiantes de que Ela estará connosco para nos proteger, especialmente no momento da nossa morte.

Sunday Readings Explained– 221 - Fr. Tony Kadavil

Twenty-seventh Sunday in Ordinary Time, Isaiah 5:1-7; Philippians 4:6-9; Mathew 21:33-43

Parable of the Wicked Tenants

Introduction

The common theme of today's readings is the necessity of bearing fruit in the Christian life and the consequent punishment for spiritual sterility, ingratitude and wickedness. In today's first reading, called Isaiah's Song of the Vineyard, the prophet describes God's care of, and expectations for, His Chosen People. God's Chosen People have failed to bear fruit in spite of the blessings lavished upon them by a loving and forgiving God. Further, they have been poor tenants in the Lord's vineyard. Hence, God laments: "I expected my vineyard to yield good grapes. Why did it yield sour ones instead?" In the Responsorial Psalm (Ps 80), the Psalmist pleads with God to look down from Heaven and to "take care of this vine," knowing that if any good is to come of the vine, it will be God's doing and not the people's. In the second reading, Paul tells Philippians about the high expectations he has for them, reminding them that they need to become fruit-producing Christians by praying and giving thanks and by practicing justice, purity and graciousness in their lives. Giving a theological explanation of Israel's history of gross ingratitude through a parable, Jesus, in today's Gospel, reminds us Christians that, since we are the "new" Israel, enriched with additional blessings and provisions in the Church, we are expected to show our gratitude to God by bearing fruits of the kingdom, fruits of the Holy Spirit, in our lives, and to give God the Glory for these accomplishments.

First Reading, Isaiah 5:1-7

By the late eighth century BC, God's people in the Promised Land had become divided into a Northern Kingdom, Israel, with its capital in Samaria, and a Southern Kingdom, Judah, whose capital was Jerusalem. Assyria was the dominant power in the region, and it controlled the Northern Kingdom. Isaiah assured both Kingdoms that a new King would come to the throne in Judah and would see to the reunion of the North and the South and the expulsion of the Assyrians. But in the earlier chapters of his prophecy, the prophet had criticized his own unfaithful people. In today's first reading, called Isaiah's Song of the Vineyard, the prophet describes God's care for, and interest in, His Chosen People. "What more was there to do for My vineyard that I had not done?" Yahweh asks. Following the classic Biblical imagery, Isaiah's prophecy describes Israel as a non-productive vineyard. Though God has done everything necessary to produce a good crop, the vineyard yields only "wild grapes."

From the call of Abraham (about 1800 B.C.), and especially after the Exodus (1300 B.C.), the history of God's chosen people was one continuous reminder of God's benevolence towards them. But Israel — God's Vineyard — failed Him miserably, producing wild and bitter grapes. Israel disobeyed God by perpetuating injustice and shedding the blood of the innocent. We are reminded that the same God of love and benevolence has shown even more love and benevolence to His new 'chosen people'— the Church. He sent His prophets to reveal Himself and His message to the Jews, but He has sent His own Divine Son to live and die in our midst — for us! By Baptism, which Jesus instituted, we are made the children of God and heirs of Heaven. But by our cold indifference to God and our excessive attachment to worldly goods, many of us become, and remain, more ungrateful than the Israelites. Thus, we, too, are the unproductive Vineyard the Heavenly Father says He will destroy, laying it waste. Let us pay attention to this strong warning and become His grateful and generous children.

Second Reading, Philippians 4:6-9

Since the Christians at Philippi have received the Gospel enthusiastically and have continued to support Paul after he has evangelized them, Paul tells them affectionately of the high expectations he has for them and shows them how they are to become fruit-producing Christians. Using the Greek moralist phrases, "whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is gracious," Paul instructs them to accept and live in the true peace of God by "prayer and petition with thanksgiving,” and to “keep on doing what they have learned and received and heard and seen” in him. Paul’s words of instruction as to how the Philippians should be fruit-bearing vines are equally applicable to us. We, too, must grow in our relationship to God through prayers of adoration and thanksgiving. These should be followed by prayers of contrition for our failings, and of petition in which we ask for spiritual and temporal favors. Paul assures us, too, that such prayers will bring peace of mind in this life and eternal peace and happiness in the life to come.

Gospel Reading, Mathew 21:33-43

Context and the objective: The parable of the wicked tenants is an allegory told by Jesus during Passover week in the Temple precincts of Jerusalem. A parable normally presents one lesson and the details are not relevant. In an allegory, on the other hand, each detail has a symbolic meaning. This story is one of the three “parables of judgment” which Jesus told in response to the question put forward by the Scribes and the Pharisees about his authority to teach in the Temple. It was intended to be a strong warning to the Jews in general -- and to the Scribes and the Pharisees in particular, as they were planning to kill Jesus, the Messiah for whom Israel had waited for centuries. Thus, this parable of the wicked tenants is a theological summary of the entire history of the ingratitude, infidelity, and hard-heartedness of the Chosen People. Its importance is shown by its appearance in all the three Synoptic Gospels.

Background of the parable: The parable reflects the frictions in tenant- landlord relations in Palestine. Most of the vineyards were owned by rich, absentee landlords living in Jerusalem, Damascus, or Rome, who leased their lands to tenants and were interested only in collecting rent. The country was seething with economic unrest. The working people were discontented and rebellious, and the tenant farmers had picked up the revolutionary slogan, “land for the farmer.” Hence, they often refused to pay the rent previously agreed upon and, in some cases, assaulted the landowner’s representatives. It is natural, then, that Jesus’ parable should reflect the popular hatred of foreign domination and the monopolizing of agricultural land by a rich minority who supported Roman rule.

Old Testament roots of the parable. The New Jerusalem Bible says of the vineyard image: “The theme of Israel as a vine, chosen and then rejected, had been introduced by Hosea, 10:1, and was to be taken up by Jeremiah, 2:21; 5:10; 6:9; 12:10, and Ezekiel, 15:1-8; 17:3-10; 19:10-14; cf.

Ps 80:8-18; and Isaiah, Is 27:2-5. Jesus gave it a new twist in the parable of the wicked husbandmen in Mt 21:33-44 and parallel Gospel passages. In John 15:1-2 Jesus unfolds the mystery of the ‘true’ vine. Other aspects of the vine theme appear in Dt 32:32-33 and [Sirach] 24:17.” This powerful prophetic allegory was so well-known that Jesus’ Jewish audience immediately understood that he was talking about them in the parable. But Jesus makes changes in Isaiah’s imagery. He makes himself the vineyard owner’s son and adds the concept of “tenant-farmers.” Here, instead of Yahweh destroying the wild vines, Jesus’ owner, according to the judgment of the audience whom Jesus asked for a judgment, “will bring that wicked crowd to a bad end and leases the vineyard to others who see to it that he has grapes at vintage time.” In this parable, the ungrateful and murderous tenants are the uncooperative vines of Isaiah. Jesus then turns the crowd’s stern verdict, calling for rejection and destruction, against themselves through a telling quotation of Psalm 118, “the stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone.”

Meaning of the parable: As an allegory, this parable has different meanings:

1. Like the Jews, the second- and third-generation Christians also understood God as the landlord. The servants sent by the landowner represented the prophets of the Old Testament. They were to see to it that God’s Chosen People produced fruits of justice, love, and righteousness. But the people refused to listen to the prophets and produced the bitter grapes of injustice, immorality, and idolatry. They persecuted and killed the prophets. (See 1 Kgs 19:10, 14; 2 Chr 24:18-22; 36:15-16; Acts—7 :51-53; Mt 23:29-39).

As a final attempt, the landowner sent his son, (Jesus), to collect the rent (fruits of righteousness), from the wicked tenants (the Jews). But they crucified him and continued to lead a lives of disloyalty and disobedience. Hence, God’s vineyard was to be taken away from His chosen people and given to a people (Gentile Christians), who were expected to produce fruits of righteousness. “The basic theological thrust of the parable of the vineyard is to place the suffering and death of Jesus in line with the mistreatment of God’s messengers throughout the centuries. (Daniel J. Harrington, SJ). The parable of the vineyard, in both Isaiah’s account and Jesus’ reformulation of it for his contemporaries, must in some way be a message given to today’s Church. Although we believe in Jesus’ promise that the armies of Hell will not prevail against us, that should not lead us to think that we ourselves cannot squander the gift of the vineyard. (John Kavanaugh, SJ).

2. The Lord's Vineyard at present is the Church, and we Christians are the tenants from whom God expects fruits of righteousness. The parable warns us that if we refuse to reform our lives, to become productive, we, too, could be replaced as the old Israel was replaced by the "new" Israel. We cease being either God's Vineyard or the tenants of God's Vineyard when we stop relating to others as loving servants to their Master. In the parable, the rent the tenants refuse to pay stands for the relationship with God and with all the people of Israel which the religious leaders refuse to cultivate. This means that before anything else, God checks on how well we are fulfilling our responsibilities to each other as children of God. The parable teaches that instead of glorying in our privileges and Christian heritage, we are called to deeds of love, including bearing personal and corporate witness that invites others into God's kingdom.

Parable also challenges us to ask the question: How do we treat the prophets of our time? Over the centuries, how many prophets in our Christian communities have been rejected, abused and even killed? How did we treat Joan of Arc, Thomas More, Oliver Plunkett and, in our own times, Bishop Oscar Romero, Martin Luther King, the countless victims of violence in Africa, (Rwanda, among other places), Central and South America -- not to mention Northern Ireland? The sad fact is that they were killed not by pagans but by fellow-Christians, tenants in the Lord's vineyard.

Second image: An application of Psalm 118:22-23 introduces a second image at the end of the parable: The Church, the interim expression of the final-age Kingdom, as a building made of stone whose cornerstone is Jesus. This image has its Old Testament roots in Is 8:14-15 and Dn 2:34, 44-45. That Jesus is "head of the corner" affirms his essential role in the salvation of God's people. He is the cornerstone, placed at the corner of the foundation where two rows of stones come together, and also the keystone or capstone completing the arch and supporting the entire structure. Verse 44 is reminiscent of the comment, "You can't break God's laws; you can only break yourself on them," which is rather like saying, "You can't break the law of gravity; you can only break yourself by ignoring it." People in every age have the option of accepting or rejecting Jesus. If we accept Jesus and his Church as the cornerstone of our lives, He becomes a sure foundation. If we reject him, we are the losers. Hence, let us build our lives on Jesus Christ, the cornerstone.

Life Messages

1. Are we good fruit-producers in the vineyard of the Church? Jesus has given the Church everything necessary to make Christians fruit-bearing: i) The Bible to know the will of God. ii) The priesthood to lead the people in God's ways. iii) The Sacrament of Reconciliation for the remission of sins. iv) The Holy Eucharist as our spiritual Food and Drink. v) The Sacrament of Confirmation for a dynamic life of Faith. vi) The Sacrament of Matrimony for the sharing of love in families, the fundamental unit of the Church. vii) Role models in thousands of saints. We are expected make use of these gifts and produce fruits for God.

2. Are we fruit-producers in the vineyard of the family? By the mutual sharing of blessings, by sacrificing time and talents for the members of the family, by humbly and lovingly serving others in the family, by recognizing and encouraging each other and by honoring and gracefully obeying our parents, we become producers of "good fruit" or good vines in our families and give God the Glory for these accomplishments.

Quotes of Saints

"Do you realize that Jesus is there in the tabernacle expressly for you - for you alone? He burns with the desire to come into your heart...don't listen to the demon, laugh at him, and go without fear to receive the Jesus of peace and love..."

"Receive Communion often, very often...there you have the sole remedy, if you want to be cured. Jesus has not put this attraction in your heart for nothing..."

"The guest of our soul knows our misery; He comes to find an empty tent within us - that is all He asks."

"How I loved the feasts!.... I especially loved the processions in honor of the Blessed Sacrament. What a joy it was for me to throw flowers beneath the feet of God!... I was never so happy as when I saw my roses touch the sacred Monstrance..."
- St. Therese of Lisieux
