From the Office of the Bishop

To the Clergy and Faithful of the Diocese of St. Augustine

Since the release of the declaration of Fiducia Supplicans, there has been an enormous amount of commentary and a frustrating amount of confusion. Because of the genuine concern from so many people, it is important to offer some comments about this document.

Cardinal Victor Fernández, the prefect for the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith, has spoken further in various interviews to clarify some points. But confusion has continued. In that light, I offer these comments for the Diocese of St. Augustine.

Fiducia Supplicans makes clear that marriage; “is the ‘exclusive, stable, and indissoluble union between a man and a woman, naturally open to the generation of children.’ (FS 3) Further, this same paragraph clarifies behavior, saying that, “it is only in this context that sexual relations find their natural, proper, and fully human meaning.” This firm teaching of the Church is repeated throughout the document and in follow-up interviews.

What follows is a reflection on the theology of blessings in the history of the Church. It would be helpful to everyone to reflect on what are called, “among the most widespread and evolving sacramentals.” (FS 8) It is certainly the common experience of bishops and priests to be asked spontaneously for blessings. Sometimes it is clear what the reason is and sometimes not. Priests occasionally must explain that a blessing is not appropriate for the situation, but usually, goodwill is presumed.

The controversy around Fiducia Supplicans has focused on the section titled, “Blessings of Couples in Irregular Situations and of Couples of the Same Sex.” The debate is about what precisely is being blessed. The document itself identifies what is required to seek a blessing.

“These forms of blessing express a supplication that God may grant those aids that come from the impulses of his Spirit – what classical theology calls ‘actual grace’ – so that human relationships may mature and grow in fidelity to the Gospel, that they may be freed from their imperfections and frailties, and that they may express themselves in the ever-increasing dimension of the divine love.” (FS 31) I want to highlight the line that says a blessing asks for aid to “grow in fidelity to the Gospel.” This is a presumption for ongoing conversion. The Gospel demands repentance and growth from all who walk the path of the narrow way. To seek a blessing is to recognize human weakness and be strengthened by God’s grace in the way of perfection.

The path of the Christian is one of conforming our lives to Christ’s, not asking God to do things according to the norms of human society. Each one of us is called to discover the truth of our life with God. This is increasingly difficult in a society where many people demand self-determination. Every blessing from God should seek the will of God who knows us better than we know ourselves. In the context of this document, the way of perfection that gives freedom is the life of chastity. Each of us needs God’s blessing to live this virtue according to our state in life.

Another question has been why this declaration is needed, at this time. What seems consistent during the papacy of Pope Francis is the call to mercy. Mercy is an aspect of love and the perfection of the Christian life is a growing practice of love. Each of us should reflect on how we offer mercy to others in concrete form. Jesus most certainly offered mercy in the Gospel as part of the movement toward God. He didn’t reserve mercy only for those fully converted. We are called to respond to the challenge of offering mercy in an imperfect world. We should speak the full truth of the Gospel and Fiducia Supplicans states the truth about marriage and sex. At the same time, we recognize that the truth of Jesus Christ is also the mercy of God lived in the more perfect love of neighbor.

In response to the declaration of Fiducia Supplicans I ask all clergy to continue your efforts to accompany parishioners in the challenges of living the Gospel.

This document should help all people understand the value of blessings and seek the strength of God in all their struggles. As this declaration makes clear, blessings for those with same-sex attractions should avoid giving false impressions, and yet convey the closeness of the Father with all of those who seek his will. My hope is that this will open the door for deeper conversations with those who desire to live in chastity despite the challenges of our culture.

I ask all the faithful to exercise humility and compassion. Seek to grow according to the model of Jesus, and to commit to personal prayer. During these contentious times, we should be measured in our criticisms. Our witness should be one of the peace that is found in Christ no matter the circumstances.

We seek the intercession of the martyrs of La Florida. They faced challenges that came with hatred and confusion in a heroic manner. They responded with the faith of saints and gave the full witness of the cross. May our witness help fulfill our mission and bring the Kingdom of God to this beloved land.

De la Oficina del Obispo

Al Clero y Fieles de la Diócesis de San Agustín

Desde la publicación de la declaración de FiduciaSupplicans, ha habido una enorme cantidad de comentarios y una frustrante cantidad de confusión. Debido a la preocupación genuina de tanta gente, es importante ofrecer algunos comentarios sobre este documento.

El Cardenal Víctor Fernández, prefecto del Dicasterio para la Doctrina de la Fe, se ha pronunciado en varias entrevistas para aclarar algunos puntos. Pero la confusión ha continuado. En ese sentido, ofrezco estos comentarios para la Diócesis de San Agustín.

FiduciaSupplicans deja claro que el matrimonio; “es la ‘unión exclusiva, estable e indisoluble entre un hombre y una mujer, naturalmente abierta a la generación de hijos’ (FS 3) Además, este mismo párrafo aclara el comportamiento, diciendo que, “es sólo en este contexto que las relaciones sexuales encuentran su significado natural, propio y plenamente humano”. Esta firme enseñanza de la Iglesia se repite a lo largo del documento y en las entrevistas posteriores.

Lo que sigue es una reflexión sobre la teología de las bendiciones en la historia de la Iglesia. Sería útil para todos reflexionar sobre lo que se llama “entre los sacramentales más difundidos y en evolución”. (FS 8) Es ciertamente experiencia común de obispos y sacerdotes que se les pidan bendiciones espontáneamente. A veces está claro cuál es el motivo y otras no. En ocasiones, los sacerdotes deben explicar que una bendición no es apropiada para la situación, pero por lo general se presume buena voluntad.

La controversia en torno a FiduciaSupplicans se ha centrado en la sección titulada “Bendiciones de parejas en situación irregular y de parejas del mismo sexo”. El debate gira en torno a qué es exactamente lo que se está bendiciendo. El documento mismo identifica lo que se requiere para buscar una bendición.

“Estas formas de bendición expresan una súplica para que Dios conceda aquellas ayudas que provienen de los impulsos de su Espíritu –lo que la teología clásica llama ‘gracia actual’-, para que las relaciones humanas maduren y crezcan en fidelidad al Evangelio, para que sean liberados de sus imperfecciones y debilidades, y para que puedan expresarse en la dimensión cada vez mayor del amor divino”. (FS 31) Quiero resaltar la línea que dice que una bendición pide ayuda para “crecer en la fidelidad al Evangelio”. Esta es una presunción de conversión en curso. El Evangelio exige arrepentimiento y crecimiento de todos los que caminan por el camino angosto. Buscar una bendición es reconocer la debilidad humana y ser fortalecido por la gracia de Dios en el camino de la perfección.

El camino del Cristiano es el de conformar nuestra vida a la de Cristo, no pedirle a Dios que haga las cosas de acuerdo con las normas de la sociedad humana. Cada uno de nosotros está llamado a descubrir la verdad de nuestra vida con Dios. Esto es cada vez más difícil en una sociedad donde muchas personas exigen autodefinición. Toda bendición de Dios debe buscar la voluntad de Dios que nos conoce mejor que nosotros mismos. En el contexto de este documento, el camino de perfección que da libertad es la vida de castidad. Cada uno de nosotros necesita la bendición de Dios para vivir esta virtud según nuestro estado de vida.

Otra pregunta ha sido por qué es necesaria esta declaración en este momento. Lo que parece constante durante el Papado del Papa Francisco es el llamado a la misericordia. La misericordia es un aspecto del amor y la perfección de la vida Cristiana es una práctica creciente del amor. Cada uno de nosotros debería reflexionar sobre cómo ofrecemos misericordia a los demás de forma concreta. Jesús ciertamente ofreció misericordia en el Evangelio como parte del movimiento hacia Dios. No reservó misericordia sólo para aquellos completamente convertidos. Estamos llamados a responder al desafío de ofrecer misericordia en un mundo imperfecto. Debemos decir toda la verdad del Evangelio y FiduciaSupplicans declara la verdad sobre el matrimonio y el sexo. Al mismo tiempo, reconocemos que la verdad de Jesucristo es también la misericordia de Dios vivida en el amor más perfecto al prójimo.

En respuesta a la declaración de FiduciaSupplicans, pido a todo el Clero que continúe sus esfuerzos para acompañar a los Feligreses en los desafíos de vivir el Evangelio.

Este documento debería ayudar a todas las personas a comprender el valor de las bendiciones y buscar la fuerza de Dios en todas sus luchas. Como deja claro esta declaración, las bendiciones para aquellos con atracción hacia el mismo sexo deben evitar dar impresiones falsas y, aun así, transmitir la cercanía del Padre a todos aquellos que buscan su voluntad. Mi esperanza es que esto abra la puerta a conversaciones más profundas con aquellos que desean vivir en castidad a pesar de los desafíos de nuestra cultura.

Pido a todos los fieles que ejerzan humildad y compasión. Buscar crecer según el modelo de Jesús y comprometerse con la Oración personal. Durante estos tiempos polémicos, debemos ser mesurados en nuestras críticas. Nuestro testimonio debe ser el de la paz que se encuentra en Cristo sin importar las circunstancias. Buscamos la intercesión de los Mártires de La Florida. Se enfrentaron de manera heroica a desafíos que venían acompañados de odio y confusión. Ellos respondieron con la fe de los santos y dieron el pleno testimonio de la cruz. Que nuestro testimonio ayude a cumplir nuestra misión y traer el Reino de Dios a esta amada tierra.

Do Escritório do Bispo

Para o Clero e os Fiéis da Diocese de Santo Agostinho

Desde a divulgação da declaração de Fiducia Supplicans, tem havido uma enorme quantidade de comentários e uma quantidade frustrante de confusão. Devido à preocupação genuína de tantas pessoas, é importante divulgar alguns comentários sobre este documento.

O cardeal Victor Fernández, prefeito do Dicastério para a Doutrina da Fé, falou em várias entrevistas para esclarecer alguns pontos. Mas a confusão continua. Por isso, eu ofereço estes comentários para a Diocese de Santo Agostinho.

Fiducia Supplicans deixa claro que o casamento; "é a 'união exclusiva, estável e indissolúvel entre um homem e uma mulher, naturalmente aberta para a geração de filhos'. (FS 3) Além disso, este mesmo parágrafo esclarece o comportamento, dizendo que "é apenas neste contexto que as relações sexuais encontram o seu significado natural, próprio e plenamente humano". Este firme ensinamento da Igreja é repetido ao longo do documento e nas outras entrevistas.

O que segue é uma reflexão sobre a teologia das bênçãos na história da Igreja. Seria útil que todos refletissem sobre o que se chama "entre os sacramentos mais difundidos e em evolução". (FS 8) É certamente experiência comum dos bispos e sacerdotes serem solicitados espontaneamente por bênçãos. Às vezes é claro qual é a razão e às vezes não. Os sacerdotes ocasionalmente devem explicar que uma bênção não é apropriada para a situação, mas, geralmente, a boa vontade é presumida.

A controvérsia à volta da Fiducia Supplicans centrou-se na secção intitulada "Bênçãos de Casais em Situações Irregulares e de Casais do Mesmo Sexo". O debate é sobre o que exactamente está sendo abençoado. O próprio documento identifica o que é necessário para ter uma bênção.

"Estas formas de bênção exprimem uma súplica para que Deus conceda as ajudas que provêm dos impulsos do seu Espírito – aquilo que a teologia clássica chama 'graça real' – para que as relações humanas amadureçam e cresçam na fidelidade ao Evangelho, para que se libertem das suas imperfeições e fragilidades e se expressem na dimensão sempre crescente do amor divino." (FS 31) Quero destacar a frase que diz que uma bênção pede ajuda para "crescer na fidelidade ao Evangelho". Trata-se de uma presunção de conversão contínua. O Evangelho exige arrependimento e crescimento de todos os que percorrem o caminho estreito. Procurar uma bênção é reconhecer a fraqueza humana e ser fortalecido pela graça de Deus no caminho da perfeição.

O caminho do Cristão é o de conformar a nossa vida à de Cristo, não pedir a Deus que faça as coisas segundo as normas da sociedade humana. Cada um de nós é chamado a descobrir a verdade da sua vida com Deus.

Isto é cada vez mais difícil numa sociedade em que muitas pessoas exigem a autodeterminação. Toda a bênção de Deus deve seguir a vontade de Deus que nos conhece melhor do que nós mesmos. No contexto deste documento, o caminho da perfeição que dê a liberdade é a vida da castidade. Cada um de nós precisa da bênção de Deus para viver esta virtude de acordo com o nosso estado de vida.

Outra pergunta tem sido a de saber por que razão esta declaração é necessária, neste momento. O que parece consistente durante o papado do Papa Francisco é o apelo à misericórdia. A misericórdia é um aspecto do amor e a perfeição da vida Cristã é uma prática crescente do amor. Cada um de nós deve reflectir sobre como oferecemos misericórdia aos outros de forma concreta. Jesus certamente ofereceu misericórdia no Evangelho como parte do movimento em direcção a Deus. Ele não reservou misericórdia apenas para aqueles plenamente convertidos. Somos chamados a responder ao desafio de oferecer misericórdia num mundo imperfeito. Devemos falar toda a verdade do Evangelho e Fiducia Supplicans afirma a verdade sobre o casamento e o sexo. Ao mesmo tempo, reconhecemos que a verdade de Jesus Cristo é também a misericórdia de Deus vivida no amor mais perfeito ao próximo. Em resposta à declaração da Fiducia Supplicans, eu peço a todo o clero que continue os vossos esforços para acompanhar os paroquianos nos desafios de viver o Evangelho.

Este documento deve ajudar todas as pessoas a entender o valor das bênçãos e procurar a força de Deus em todas as suas lutas. Como esta declaração deixa claro, as bênçãos para aqueles com atração pelo mesmo sexo devem evitar dar falsas impressões, e ainda assim transmitir a proximidade do Pai com todos aqueles que buscam a sua vontade. A minha esperança é que isso abra as portas para conversas mais profundas com aqueles que desejam viver na castidade, apesar dos desafios da nossa cultura.

Peço a todos os fiéis que exerçam humildade e compaixão. Procurai crescer segundo o modelo de Jesus e comprometei-vos com a oração pessoal. Nestes tempos contenciosos, devemos ser medidos pelas nossas críticas. Nosso testemunho deve ser uma de paz que se encontra em Cristo, não importa as circunstâncias.

Buscamos a intercessão dos mártires de La Florida. Eles enfrentaram desafios que vieram com ódio e confusão de forma heroica. Eles responderam com a fé dos santos e deram o pleno testemunho da cruz. Que o nosso testemunho ajude a cumprir a nossa missão e a levar o Reino de Deus a esta terra amada.

Sunday Readings Explained– 234- Fr. Tony Kadavil

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time, I Samuel 3: 3-10, 19; I Corinthians 6: 13-15, 17-20; John 1: 35-42

Call to Rebuild Broken Lives

Introduction

Today's theme is Divine vocation. Everyone is called by God to be something, to do something for others with his life and with his unique gifts. Hence, today's readings remind us of our personal and corporate call to become witnesses for the Lamb of God and to lead lives of holiness and purity. We are told that each of us, as a Christian, is personally called to discipleship, which demands an ongoing response of commitment. The first reading describes how Yahweh called Samuel to His service. The boy Samuel responded to God promptly, as instructed by his master and mentor, Eli, saying, "Speak, Lord, Your servant is listening." Hence, God blessed him in the mission entrusted to him, and Samuel became an illustrious figure, ranking with Moses and David as a man of God. In the Responsorial Psalm, the psalmist sings, "Behold, I come to do Your will," voicing his recognition that his vocation has called him to obedience to what God has commanded him to do.

In the second reading, we listen to St. Paul speaking to us, too, as he reminded his readers that they had a Divine call, a call to holiness. He argued that Christians had to keep their bodies pure and their souls holy because in Baptism they had become parts of Christ's Body and the temples of the Holy Spirit. In the Gospel, John the Baptist introduced Jesus to two of his disciples as the, "Lamb of God." They followed Jesus to His residence, accepting his call to "come and see." They went with Him and stayed with Him that day. Then Andrew brought his brother, Simon, to Jesus, introducing Jesus to him as the Messiah. Thus, today's Gospel describes the call of the first apostles.

First Reading, 1 Samuel 3:3-10, 19

The book of Samuel begins with a long narrative of what we might call ancient Israel's middle history. Moses, Aaron, and Joshua were gone from the scene. The period of rule by Judges had begun (at about 1000 BC). The first chapter describes how Samuel was born to a long-barren couple by divine intervention. They dedicated him in his early childhood to God's service in the Temple at Shiloh, as an apprentice to the priest Eli. The boy's duties included attendance during the night near "the Ark of God," a most sacred cult object and a place of unique Divine presence among the people. God called Samuel one night and Samuel thought it was his master Eli. Twice God called, twice Samuel went to Eli and twice Eli told him to go back to sleep. The third time God called and Samuel went to Eli, the old priest realized what was going on, and told Samuel, "Next time, say, 'Speak, Lord, Your servant is listening.'"

The threefold repetition of God's call indicates genuine experience rather than hallucination. Eli knew the proper response for all God's followers: "Speak, Lord, for Your servant is listening." Only those willing to carry out the Lord's wishes will be able to hear God calling -- even in the middle of the night. Though Eli had served God faithfully, it was Samuel whom God called. Samuel became an illustrious figure, ranking with Moses and David as a man of God. The lesson for us is that God often calls ordinary people, including the young, to serve within the community. Consequently, we need guidance in discerning and responding to His will. Our lives as God's followers revolve around seeking, finding and responding to God's calls.

Listening to the call of God is to hear, understand, and accept it in word and action. Is God calling me today for a special mission? What is he saying to me? Am I really listening?

Second reading, 1 Corinthians 6:13c-15a, 17-20

The letter is addressed to all members of the church at Corinth. Corinth was a bawdy seaport in cosmopolitan Greece and the center of intellectual ferment. The vices of every seaport, plus the philosophical ferment of ancient Greece, were all part of these peoples' lives, and gave rise, in part, to the need for this letter. One of the greatest besetting sins of the pagan port-town of Corinth was prostitution. A few Christians even tried to justify prostitution as part of the Christian liberty which Paul had preached to them. Corinth was a difficult place to preach a new doctrine and a new morality, but Paul had dared to preach both, provoking intense controversy. The pagan Corinthians believed that the soul of man was the important part and the body a mere piece of matter. They looked on the body as a matter of instincts to be fulfilled, including the sex instinct. Therefore, they argued, one ought to let the desires of the body have their way. Some of the Christian Corinthians had apparently picked up these pagan ideas. So Paul reminded them that they were "sanctified and called to be holy" like all who call on the name of Jesus. Just as God called Samuel and Jesus called his apostles, the Corinthian Christians were called to lead a life of holiness. Paul's argument runs like this: since God's Spirit dwells in us, we have become temples of God and consequently our bodies are sacred. In addition, Christ gave his life in order that man might be redeemed, body and soul. Hence, a man's body is not his own to do with as he likes; it is Christ's, and a man must use it, not for the satisfaction of his lusts, but for the glory of Christ.

Gospel Reading, John 1: 35-42 L-15

John's selfless witnessing: John's Gospel presents John the Baptist as a self-effacing figure whose role is preeminently one of witnessing. Instead of building up his own following, John selflessly directed his disciples to Jesus. John the Baptist gave testimony to Jesus by pointing Him out as the Lamb of God (vv 29, 36); Andrew called him the Messiah (v 41) and Nathaniel called Jesus Rabbi, Son of God, and King of Israel (v 49). Jesus completed the epiphany, declaring Himself the Son of Man (v 51). In the Synoptic gospels, Jesus called the disciples away from their fishing boats to follow him (Matt 4:18-22, et. al). But in the Fourth Gospel, they went to Him at John's direction rather than in response to Jesus' call. Instead of leaving their boats, they left John. On the second day of Jesus' public ministry, John the Baptist introduced Jesus to the Jews as the "Lamb of God." (Jn 1:29). He repeated the name on the third day in introducing Jesus to two of his own disciples as described in today's Gospel.

Lamb of God: This is the most meaningful title given to Jesus in the Bible. It is used 29 times in the book of Revelation. It sums up the love, the sacrifice and the triumph of Christ. John's introduction might have brought five pictures of the "lamb" to the minds of his Jewish listeners. 1) The Lamb of Atonement (Lev. 16: 20-22). A lamb was brought to the Temple on the Day of Atonement ("Yom Kippur"). Placing his hands over its head, the high priest transferred all the sins of his people to the lamb. It was then sent into the wilderness (as the lamb who takes away the sins of the Jews) to be killed by some wild animal. 2) The Lamb of Daily Atonement (Ex. 29: 38-42; Numbers 28: 1-8). This was the lamb sacrificed on the "Black Altar" of the Temple every morning and evening to atone for the sins of the Jews. 3) The Paschal Lamb (Ex. 12: 11ss.). The Paschal Lamb's blood saved the firstborn of the Jewish families in Egypt from the "Angel of destruction." The event was memorialized yearly in the sacrifice of the Paschal Lamb at Passover. 4) The Lamb of the Prophets, an image portraying one who, by his sacrifice, would redeem his people: "The gentle lamb led to the slaughterhouse" (Jer. 11: 19), "like a lamb to the slaughter" (Is 53:7). Both, as we know, refer to the sufferings and sacrificial death of Christ. 5) The Lamb of the Conquerors. The picture of a horned lamb on the Jewish flag at the time of the Maccabean Liberation War was used as a sign of conquering majesty and power. The great Jewish conquerors like Samuel, David and Solomon were described by the ancient Jewish historians as "horned lambs."

Christ as Lamb of God is a title familiar to us. In the Eucharist, at "the breaking of the bread," we proclaim what the Baptist said, in word or song. Our traditional "fractional anthem" is the Agnus Dei – "Lamb of God, who take away the sin of the world, have mercy on us/grant us peace." In this prayer, we give expression to our deepest understanding of the identity and purpose of Jesus Christ as our Lamb and Lord. By his life of love and sacrifice, we believe and affirm that he is the one who came and continues to come into a broken world to take our sins upon himself.

Stages in God's call: In the opening verses of today's Gospel, John points out to his disciples that the One who is passing by is the "Lamb of God." Two of John's disciples follow Jesus who turns and asks them what they are seeking. Somewhat confused, they ask Jesus where he is staying. Jesus does not tell them. Instead, he invites them to "come and see." For each of us, belief in Jesus develops in stages, which John appears to be describing. First, we respond to testimony given by others. Then, having "seen" where Jesus dwells - within believers, as individuals and as community - we move to commitment based on our own experience of the risen Lord.

Finally, our conversion is completed when we become witnesses for Jesus. In Andrew's case, his conversion reveals his belief in Jesus as the Messiah. He then brings his brother Peter to Christ. Jesus looks at Simon and says, "You are Simon son of John. You are to be called 'Cephas' or 'Peter.'" Cephas is the Aramaic word for "rock" and so is the Greek word "Petros." This kind of name-change has precedents in the Old Testament (Gen 17:5, 32:28).

Such name-changes indicate the beginning of a new life—a new purpose—a new relationship with God. Simon's new life in Christ is symbolized by his new name, "Peter," conferred by the Master. The evangelist sets out a challenging pattern for evangelization. The first people to be evangelized preached Jesus in their turn to relatives, friends, and even to strangers. We, too, must find and grow in faith through the lifelong seeking of God's will, coming to God through Jesus, whom we find in the local Christian community.

Life Messages

1. Our Christian call is to live and die like the Lamb of God. (A) We live like a lamb: a) by leading pure, innocent, humble, selfless lives, obeying Christ's commandment of love. b) by appreciating the loving providence and protecting care of the Good Shepherd in his Church. c) by partaking of the Body and Blood of the Good Shepherd in the Holy Eucharist and deriving spiritual strength from the Holy Spirit through prayer and the Sacraments. (B) We die like a sacrificial lamb: a) by sharing our blessings of health, wealth and talents with others in the family, parish and community; b) by bearing witness to Christ in our illness, pain and suffering; c) by offering our suffering for the salvation of souls and as reparation for our sins and those of others.

2. Our call is to rebuild broken lives. Like the missionary call of Samuel and the apostles, we too are called. Our call is to rebuild broken lives, reconciling them to God's love and justice through Christ Jesus, our Lamb and Lord. Through Baptism into the Body of Christ, we are empowered and enabled by the Holy Spirit to free the oppressed. Through the love of the Lamb of God, we are called to better the lot and improve the broken spirit of all who have been exiled from the possibility of hope, exiled from God's righteousness or burdened by the yoke of spiritual, social, economic, and political dislocation. In other words, through the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, the glorified Lamb, we are called to empower the human spirit with a sense of identity and purpose.

3. Our call is to bear witness to the Lamb of God. Today's Gospel reminds us that being a disciple of Jesus means that we are to grow in faith and become witnesses for him. Bearing witness to Christ is an active rather than a passive enterprise. Knowing Jesus is a matter of experience. One could know the Catechism of the Catholic Church, all 700 pages of it, by heart, and still not know Jesus. Bearing witness to Christ, then, demands that we should have personal and first-hand experience of Jesus. We get this personal experience of Jesus in our daily lives – through the meditative reading and study of the Bible, through personal and family prayers and through the Sacraments, especially by participation in the Eucharistic celebration.

Once we have experienced the personal presence of Jesus in our daily lives, we will start sharing with others the Good News of love, peace, justice, tolerance, mercy and forgiveness preached and lived by Jesus. The essence of our witness-bearing is to state what we have seen, heard, experienced and believed, and then to invite others to "come and see." Other people will see Jesus in our lives when we love, forgive and spend time doing good. A dynamic and living experience of Jesus will also enable us to invite and encourage people to come and participate in our Church activities.

Next week-end will be the annual diocesan Respect Human Life collection (pink envelope). These funds are used by St. Augustine Human Life and Dignity ministry to financially assist the many parts of this pro-life ministry. Those assisted will include: the 28 pregnancy centers, the 5 maternity homes, healing after abortion with Rachel's Vineyard retreats, Support After Abortion, Red Bird Ministry (for those who have lost a child from miscarriage through adulthood), the Mausoleum for the Precious Ones (under construction at San Lorenzo Cemetery in St. Augustine), Human Trafficking seminars (conducted by Ruby Peters, a powerful and informed presenter), End of Life seminars (presented by Fr. Leonard Chuwa, educated in bio-ethics - informed and compassionate, with insight into end-of-life planning), the prison ministry (daily cell-front ministry to death row inmates), and special needs (with the Morning Star school, summer camp - Camp I Am Special, and workshops to encourage parishes to evaluate their welcoming and involvement in this population). This is a very diverse ministry and any financial assistance is always greatly appreciated. Thank you in advance for your usual generosity.

Please stay alert to what is happening on the State level with the proabortion initiative that would allow abortion up until the moment of birth. Meanwhile please help others to understand the impact that this amendment would have on the pro-life strides that have already been accomplished in Florida. PRAY, PRAY, PRAY for LIFE.

Quotes of Saints

"The Holy Eucharist is a need of the heart of Christ, just as it is a need of our hearts." "Sanctify and dedicate yourselves in all things in the spirit of love which prompted Our Lord to institute the Holy Eucharist, wherein He perpetuates the gift of His love to the glory of the Father."

St. Peter Julian Eymard

No other sacrament accomplishes more for our souls. It takes away sin, strengthens virtue and enriches the soul with the abundance of all spiritual gifts.

St. Thomas Aquinas

"When the Sisters are exhausted, up to their eyes in work; when all seems to go awry, they spend an hour in prayer before the Blessed Sacrament. This practice has never failed to bear fruit: they experience peace and strength,"

Blessed Mother Teresa

"How sweet, the presence of Jesus to the longing, harassed soul! It is instant peace, and balm to every wound."

St. Elizabeth Seton

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

In today's first reading, we hear Samuel respond eagerly, "Here I am!" each time the Lord calls him. May we, too, be listening for the call of God in our lives and be ready to say like the psalmist, "Here I am, Lord; I come to do your will."
