Mission Statement

God CALLS us to be disciples and FORMS us by our Catholic Faith to
ENCOUNTER Christ
EMBRACE deeper faith and EMPOWER Christian action.

How do I need to pray?

Again, it may not be praying more or saying more words but it may actually be as simple as creating silence in my life.

How will I bring holiness home by praying?

Dear Parishioners,

Teri Fairchild has volunteered to welcome new parishioners and continue to lead Initiation for Adults (RCIA). This is a big commitment on her part (5-10 hours/week), but will maintain an email address through our office (t.fairchild@dbqarc.org). You can either contact her directly by email or you can call the office and she will reach out to help us welcome new parishioners.

Are you feeling called to minister at St. Columbkille in a part time paid position? We are seeking another partner in ministry. While our needs are broad and varied, a successful minister enjoys inviting others to ministry as well.

If you would like to visit about a potential position with flexible hours, please contact the office. In Christ,

Fr. David

Sunday

"Give me a drink," So begins Jesus' conversation with the woman at the well in this weekend's Gospel. As their visit unfolds, we find that Jesus' thirst is not really about the water in the well beneath them. We never hear whether Jesus got a drink of it, or not.

What is clear is that Jesus' thirst is for this daughter of God. He wants to satisfy the yearning for belonging and being loved that has brought five husbands and now a sixth man into her life. Jesus' thirst is to be that perfect mate, that ideal spouse who completes her and orients every other relationship so they bring her closer to God, and not to disappointment time and time again.

Jesus has that same thirst for each of us! Whether married once, a multiple times, or never, Jesus thirsts to be that soul-mate to every son and daughter of God. He wants to drink us into that heart to heart conversation that convinces us we are precious to God, so we can respond by giving ourselves to the One who loves us so. How does the truth "Jesus thirsts for me" resonate in your heart? The question then is "will I let Jesus start that conversation?"

Some of us are journeying through the Lenten desert at St. Columbkille. Some this Lent are sorting through the voices competing for our attention at St. Joseph the Worker. Pope Francis on Ash Wednesday had this to say about letting Jesus start this thirst-satisfying conversation:

Let us imagine we are in a desert. The first sensation would be that of finding ourselves enveloped in a great silence: no noises, apart from the wind and our breathing...It's absence of words to make room for another Word, the Word of God, which caresses the heart as a light breeze...We are used to feeling everything about everything and we risk sliding into a worldliness that atrophies the heart, and there is no bypass to heal this, but only silence. It's hard for us to distinguish the Lord's voice, which speaks to us, the voice of conscience, of goodness.

Does your lent contain any silence so Jesus can ask you for a drink? Can you give pause to the moving from attraction to attraction that drives "being used to feeling everything about everything" Pope Francis finds will harden our hearts to the soft "give me a drink of you" with which Jesus is constantly caressing your heart? It will satisfy Jesus' thirst, and yours!
