DEACON'S CORNER

"Let him be crucified!" ... "Let him be crucified!"

I've always cringed inside whenever we say these words during the reading of the Passion on Palm Sunday. Hearing the words is one thing, but saying them is quite another. Yet, if I am participating in the readings at Mass, the crowd says, "Let him be crucified!"

These words terrify me. I'd like to think that I am a good Christian. I pray. I visit Jesus in Adoration. I treat others well. I have loving friends and, a loving family. But, actions speak louder than words, and every time I choose to sin they scream "Let him be crucified!" And that terrifies me.

My Lenten reflection has been to pay attention to the Mercy of God. After all, that is what Easter is all about. Some great images have come to mind, and I'll be sharing them in future homilies. The most important thing is that His Love, and His Mercy, are so great that they can easily overcome my terror. All I need to do is to turn away from my sin (repent), and fall into his loving arms. That's as easy as seeking out the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

May you have a Blessed Holy Week,

Deacon Todd
