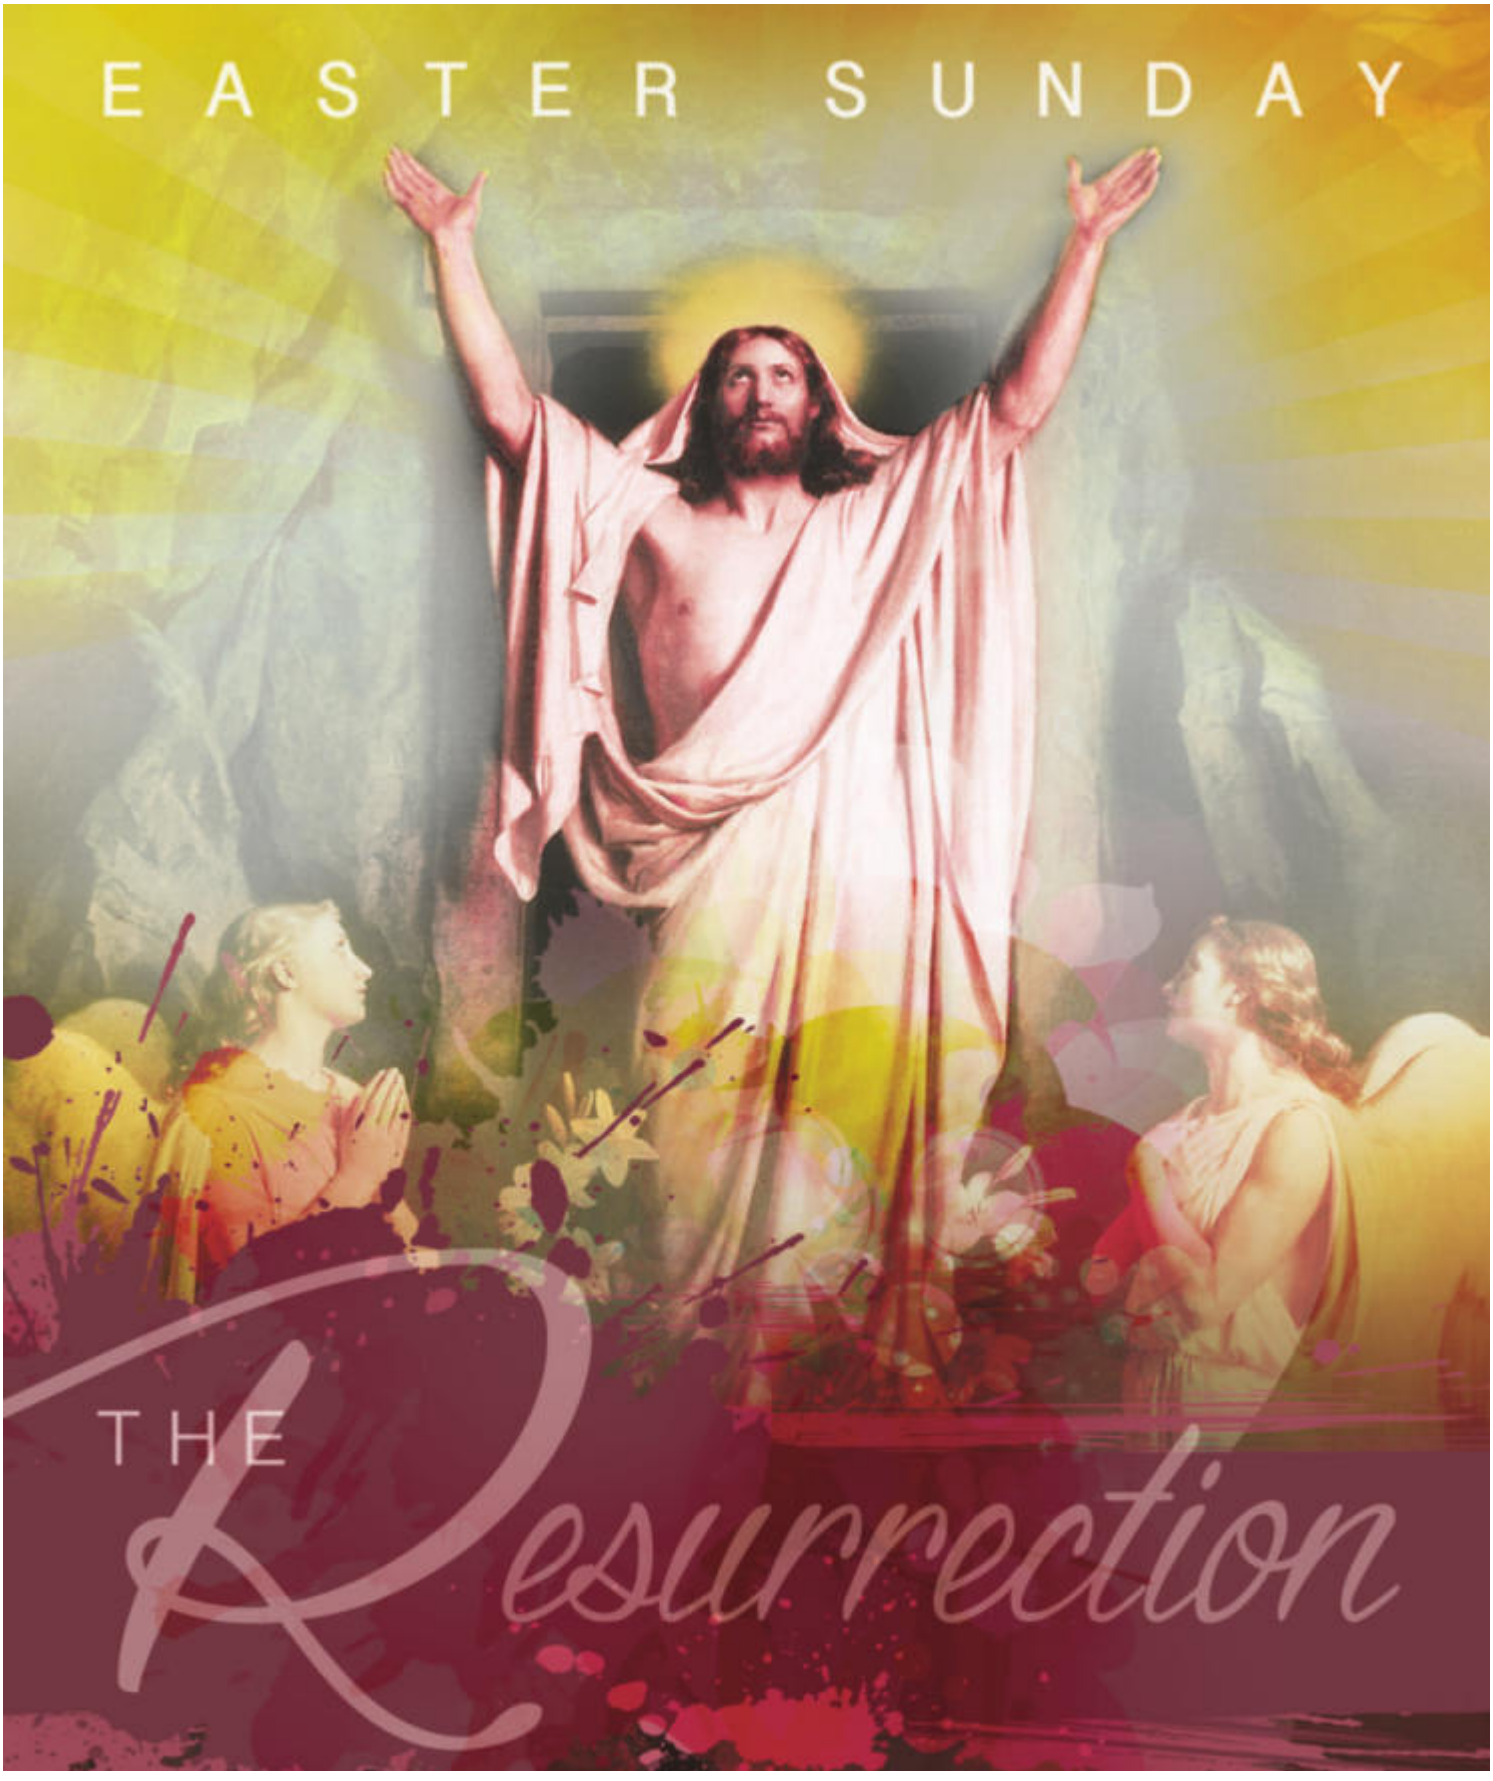
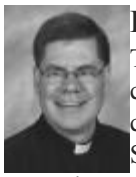
John Paul II Cluster





From the Desk of Fr. Beckman:

The Easter season – beginning on Easter Sunday and continuing for 50 days – is an opportunity for us to cultivate a spirit that defines who we are as Christians. So what does living the spirit of the Easter season mean in practical terms? Here are three concrete suggestions. Live with Joy! Joy is a deep-down gladness that cannot be taken away, even in the midst of sorrow. The Passion and Resurrection of Jesus teach us that suffering is transformed through faith in the Risen Christ. With this faith, we are able to hold on to an enduring sense of joy even in the midst of the sadness we experience from the loss of a loved one, a failure to achieve an important goal, or a setback during recovery from an illness, or going through the anxieties of a world and national pandemic like the coronavirus epidemic. Live without Fear! The Resurrection teaches us that God can overcome anything, even death. When the Risen Christ appears to the women at the tomb and later to his disciples, his first words are "Do not be afraid!" (Mt 28:5). These words speak to our hearts, helping us cope with the fear from the loss of a job, a serious illness, or a crumbling relationship. Our faith allows us to trust that God can overcome our most serious problems. Live with New Eyes! Easter means to live with a sense of newness. Just as the return of spring lifts our spirits and makes us feel like the whole world is new, the Resurrection of Jesus makes "all things new" (Rev. 21:5). The Easter spirit is a spirit of renewal that enables us to show up at work with a positive attitude, to renew relationships that have been taken for granted, and to express appreciation and affection to those closest to us. It means to see the world through new eyes—God´s eyes. We can use these 50 days to cultivate an Easter spirit that enables us to be truly Christian: embracing joy, living without fear, and seeing the world again—as if for the first time.

HAVE A HAPPY EASTER SEASON! Fr. David Beckman

Personal Note: As I write this on Thursday, April 2, we are still deeply entrenched in physical isolation from one another, especially groups of 10 or more. Please know that I have still been offering Mass, doing the Stations of the Cross, and praying for you and an end to this devasting pandemic. It has also been a time for more personal prayer and spiritual reflection and reading. I have also been working on a series of talks that I am planning to offer in the near future (Advent 2020 or Lent 2021). So, I have made the extra down time into a sort of retreat. I have also organized some things that were getting a little cluttered in my life making positive use of the extra time spent at home and not in meetings, or other church activities, which normally dominate my time. This positivity has kept me from feeling isolated, alone, or bored. Instead I have been energized to make good and positive use of this extra time I have on my hands. I have found that I am even watching less television in the evenings because there are no sports, unless you want to watch old reruns, which I don't, and even the news can be caught up with in an hour of time. I encourage all of you to find some positive way for you to make good use of time in order to grow spiritually, as a family, or simply discovering what the most important things in life really are. Stay safe! Wash your hands! Cough and sneeze into your elbow! Remain 6 feet apart from others! PRAY! PRAY! PRAY! For an end to this debilitating pandemic virus that is crippling the world. Fr. David

Easter Sunday Homily

The doctrine of the resurrection is central to Christianity, so much so that St. Paul states: "If there is no resurrection from the dead, then Christ has not been raised; if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain… Then those also who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished. If, for this life only, we have hoped in Christ, then we are the most pitiable of all men" (1Corinthians 15:13-15, 18, 19).

It is truly extraordinary that Paul made the claim that if there is no resurrection from the dead, then the faith of believers is useless and that all who have died in Christ have died in their sins. Paul knows that if he is lying, then he and the other disciples have jeopardized the salvation of the whole Christian community, and furthermore, he emerges as a false witness (a perjurer) before God and is answerable to Him.
The consequences of lying to (or even deceiving) believers about the resurrection cannot be overstated, because the resurrection is the foundation of Jesus' claim to be the exclusive Son of God, and the unconditional love of God with us. For the early eyewitnesses it appeared that Jesus experienced a "supernatural causation" meaning that something happened to him. What happened to Jesus must be supernatural because it effects a transition from death to a new life.

The Risen Jesus appeared in the physical world so that his followers could verify that he truly was alive and not dead. But was this appearance simply a luminous translucent appearance, or was it a transformed bodily appearance? The vast majority of scholars hold that Jesus appeared in a transformed bodily form, and some scholars hold that this appearance also had luminescent features. After all, he told Thomas to touch his hands with the nail marks and to put his hand into his side (John 20:24-29). He even ate fish and bread with them (John 21). But he also told Mary Magdalene not to hold on to him because he had not yet ascended to his Father (John 20).

How was Jesus transformed? St. Paul says that this seed, this earthly body, was transformed with imperishability, glory, power, and spirit (See 1Corinthians 15: 35-37, 42-44, 47-49).

What would this look like? St. Paul gives only one explicit description, that it will be a "spiritual body." If we want to know how the imperishability, power, and glory of this "spiritual body" appeared, we will have to turn to the Gospel writers who describe Jesus power and glory as divine, so much so that the apostles bow down and worship Him. (See Matthew 28:17).

They were convinced that it was God appearing because of their references to him as "The Lord!" Furthermore, this powerful, glorious, spiritual, and divine-like appearance engenders fear and awe. They were startled and frightened and supposed that they had seen a ghost. And he said to them, "Why are you troubled" (Luke 24:37-38)?
Listen to Jesus' final message to his disciples before he ascended into heaven according to Matthew's account. Chapter 28, verses 16-20, is the very end of Matthew's book. I quote, "The eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus had ordered them. When they saw, they worshipped, but they doubted.

Then Jesus appeared and said to them, 'All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you, And behold, I am with you always, until the end of the age."

Faith requires that we recognize a need for God and His help to bring us out of darkness and alienation; it requires a recognition that there is something incomplete within ourselves, a recognition that we cannot by ourselves, or even with other people for that matter, overcome this alienation and incompleteness, and a recognition that the word, actions, and way of Jesus Christ are the vehicle for doing this.

When we see the evidence of the resurrection in light of Jesus' preaching about God's unconditional love, and acknowledge our need for that love; as the disciples did, then the assent of faith begins, the life of faith begins, and our dependence on God begins. The more that grace works in our lives, then the more we know that Jesus is "the way, the truth, and the life" (John 14:6).
