SCRIPTURE READING REFLECTION

We are probably more familiar with St. Matthew's account of the Beatitudes. In today's Gospel we hear St. Luke's version. Jesus' words conclude with: "Love your enemies. Be merciful as your heavenly father is merciful." In today's first reading we have an Old Testament example of this. King Saul became so jealous of David's popularity that David had to fear for his life and flee the court. Saul then pursued him to kill him. In today's passage, we hear that David in turn had an opportunity to dispatch King Saul while he slept. Yet David refrained from doing so because he saw Saul as God's anointed, i.e. he saw his enemy as someone whom God had favored. In today's second reading we are reminded that in the new dispensation/creation, through baptism, we now all share the image of the resurrected Christ (whatever our moral habits might be). Thus we can earnestly pray in thanksgiving (= Eucharist) the words of today's Psalm response: "The Lord is kind and merciful." So must we be.

PALMS — There are baskets in the back of church to collect your blessed palms from Palm Sunday last year. If you return palms, they will be burned and used on Ash Wednesday. You can also drop them off at the rectory. Thank you.
