AFFIRMING A CULTURE OF LIFE

Body parts in a Washington D.C. trash can. Tiny arms, legs, heads, torsos- the ugly, brutal reality of the abortion industry. The mainstream media ignores it; pro-abortion advocates shrug and say "that's the cost of a woman's freedom."

One is at a loss for words. . . .

What kind of "freedom" is this? Freedom to inflict the most horrific violence upon the most vulnerable of human beings- children in the womb. And, indirectly, upon their mothers. Rather than affirming the natural love of a mother for her baby, the child is seen as a threat to the mother's "freedom." Truly, this is a "culture of death."

Let us strive to rebuild a Culture of Life, one worthy of a civilized people.

Please vote "no" to Article 22 in November.

The Lyndonville Food Shelf is in need of help. In particular they are looking for toilet paper, peanut butter, canned fruits and vegetables, bread, hot dog and hamburger buns, spaghetti-os and ravioli. These are just suggestions.

They can be dropped off in the back of the church next Sunday.

If we all do a little it amounts to a lot.

Thank you!

St. J Community Food Shelf needs for May:

Kids snacks, tea bags, canned baked beans

Thank you so much for this is a wonderful way to reach out to the community needs.

Thank you

Camille

One Foot in Front of the Other

(By guest blogger, Laura Duquette)

Have you ever been through a difficult time where it seemed no matter which way you turned, some situation was derailing, another coming unglued and yet another just ripping at the seams? It's very unnerving to us and to our routines when things seem to suddenly fall apart, despite our best efforts at holding things together. These are times we need to talk ourselves out of despair and worry and continue to put one foot in front of the other, taking faith-filled steps and trusting that things will work out. I had a week exactly like this a few weeks back, and it is so much easier said than done. When living through turmoil, it can be very hard to remain calm and find the path out of it.

After the chaotic few days settled down, I began to think about the challenges I had been through and reflected on how I could better handle the next storm. I also felt relieved and thankful that the situations had been resolved and that peace had been recovered. It also made me reflect upon the fact that if it was hard for me to get through an exceedingly tough week, how much more difficult would it be for a child to weather life's storms?

The children who live at Kurn Hattin Homes have lived through very challenging storms in their lives, many of them much more profound, long-lasting and painful than what I had been through. Some of these challenges; such as, experiencing homelessness or witnessing domestic violence within their own families, are extremely painful and particularly arduous situations that are not so easily mended.

Therefore, our support of the Kurn Hattin Homes is crucial. At the Homes, they work tirelessly to provide a truly caring environment that allows the children to live out their childhood, understand their self worth and gain the tools to grow stronger and face life's difficulties. Of course, as with any challenge we overcome, the recollection of what was faced will remain, but at Kurn Hattin Homes, the children can experience a restorative process that will bring back some of what was lost, allow them peace and security in their daily routines, and give them new opportunities to learn and grow so they can persevere in their future.

Won't you join me in donating to the Kurn Hattin Homes with the St Nicholas Project this Easter?
