THOUGHTS FROM SALESIAN SPIRITUALITY

"The just person is like a tree planted near running water, which bears fruit in its season. So too when charity waters one's soul, it produces virtuous works there, but each in its season." - St. Francis de Sales

WEEKLY PODCAST

The podcast is on break this week, but we invite you to review past episodes. Join us next week as we share some thoughts from our newest parishioners within the Holy Infant Family.

DATING FORMATION FOR YOUNG ADULTS

Marriage is important. Dating is hard. Why don't we do more to prepare ourselves to date? With a sprinkling of theology and a pound of practical advice, this two-session program will cover everything about the full experience of dating: from first dates through break-ups or marriage. Moderated by Deacon Kevin, participants will talk in small groups and hear from a panel of young adults who have lived the struggle. Some have even navigated it successfully! Lunch provided. Mass follows each session.

April 23, 1:30-3:30 pm. UNC Newman Student Activity Center.

OFFERING OF LETTERS

One in four children under five are severely malnourished. But it doesn't have to be that way. Every voice matters. With your help, we can reach the people with the power and resources to make hunger a problem of the past.

Bread for the World's mission to help end hunger in the U.S. and worldwide is put into action through ongoing advocacy efforts. We know hunger is solvable, and we're committed to educating and equipping people to join us in urging U.S. decision-makers to pursue a world without hunger. Learn more about our core campaigns around policies that can reduce global food insecurity, poverty, and hunger.

Bread for the World is practical and effective. Years of persistent advocacy and voice have helped triple poverty-focused development assistance to education, training, and sustainability measures that end hunger.

Advocacy is part of our Christian witness and discipleship. With your support, Bread for the World is committed to speaking truth to power. On May 7th at 9:45 am join Lloyd Schmeidler, long-time advocate with Bread for the World, and other interested parishioners to learn more about this Christian advocacy organization that urges U.S. decision-makers to do all they can to pursue a world without hunger.

CHRIST IS RISEN!

Christ is Risen! Alleluia!

Yes, Christ escaped the tomb where death reigns. In the words of the hymn The Lord of the Dance by English songwriter Sydney Carter in 1963:

"They cut me down and I leapt up high;
I am the life that'll never, never die.
I'll live in you if you'll live in me:

I am the Lord of the dance, said he."

The Resurrection of Jesus promises that things can always be new again. It's never too late to start over. Nothing is irrevocable. No betrayal is final. No sin is unforgivable. Every form of death can be overcome. There is no loss that cannot be redeemed. Every day begins as a blank page, upon which the grace of God revealed in our lives can be written in indelible ink and in bold letters.

As an Easter people, we claim that, just as Christ "leapt up high" from the tomb, we too leap with Christ from our grave. Most importantly, we trust that we not only leap from the grave of our earthly death but also from the mini graves of our failures and faults.

In believing that Jesus rose physically from the grave, we also believe that no matter what we've done, our future is forever full in Christ's light and waiting for wonderful new possibilities. And so, this coming Sunday we celebrate the Mercy of God, eternally present, eternally making us new.

Perhaps you've read countless encouragements from Saint Francis de Sales to "begin anew," to accept our failures, turn them over to God's mercy and start again. These Salesian encouragements come from the heart of the mystery of the Risen Christ.

We are now in the Easter Season, fifty days of celebrating the Lord of the dance leaping to new life for and in us. While death surrounds us in so many visages, within and without, it can seem overwhelming and even futile to attempt to believe in new life but we take heart. We look at the Risen One and see the power of Christ move through us and all of God's creation. We raise our voices in song and our hearts to the light. We praise God with life refreshed and forgiven, with the stone rolled back and glory given.
