MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear Parish Family,

Happy Father's Day! A warm blessing to all of our dads as we thank them for the gift of their fatherhood this Sunday. Just like the title "Mother," the title "Father" has profound relational and spiritual meaning. We need men and women to be heroic fathers and mothers in order to witness to life-giving family values for our Church and for our world.

We thank our 8:00 a.m. Mass choir director, Joe Trivisonno, for his many years leading music at this Mass. Joe has decided to hand over the responsibility of directing music for the 8:00 a.m. Mass to Brenda Zapotosky, who has sung in the choir and assisted Joe with music responsibilities for a number of years. Joe will continue to lead music at the 10:00 a.m. Mass. We thank all our musicians and choir members for sharing their gifts to lead us in glorifying our Lord through song at Mass. Please read Brenda's introduction in today's bulletin.

I mentioned a few weeks ago that we would likely see the start of our church roof replacement begin in early June. Due to some unforeseen delays on our contractor's end, the roof project has been delayed by a few weeks. I will keep you posted with updates. Our timeline is to have the church roof replaced by the end of the summer, at the latest.

On a personal note, please pray for my family this upcoming weekend. My sister, Elizabeth, is marrying her fiancé, Joel, this coming Saturday, June 24. I am presiding at their Wedding Mass and spending the weekend with my family to celebrate. I am proud of my little sister, "Lizzy," and her fiancé, Joel, and ask you to join me in thanking God for bringing them together in the Sacrament of Matrimony!

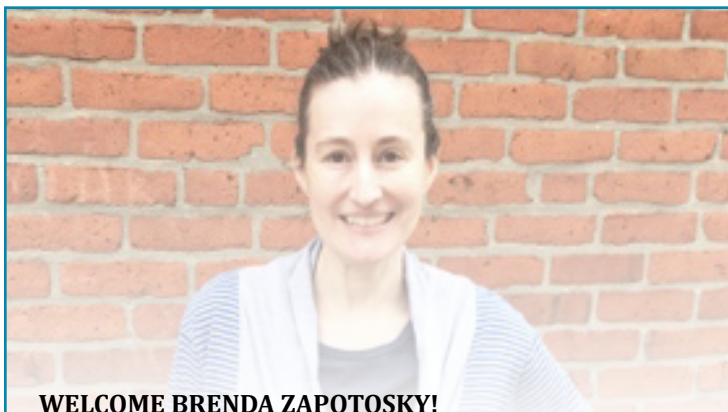

I am Yours in Christ,
Father Scott Goodfellow

SACRED HEART COUNSELING REFLECTION

Last week, we began a discussion about anger and the importance of managing anger, as well as exploring the roots of our anger. This week, I want to share strategies for finding some of these roots. "East of Eden" by John Steinbeck is one of my favorite books. In it, Steinbeck explores themes from the story of Cain and Abel. Steinbeck points out that the first thing that Cain experienced was rejection, which made him lash out at his brother, Abel. When we are hurt by others, our first instinct is to "hurt back," which is what Cain did by killing Abel. I wonder if Cain's primary intention was not to hurt Abel but to hurt God due to the feelings of rejection. This is often a good place to start with anger. If you struggle with anger, is it due to perceived rejection? A good thing to think about is the message that you are receiving from others that results in anger. A man reminded to take out the trash could be receiving a message that he is lazy for not taking it out or stupid for not noticing it. The woman reminding him about the trash may be receiving a message that she is not important enough or not loved by the trash remaining where it is. These are deeper pains that need to be explored in prayer and, potentially, counseling. With this information, we can find ways to have our identity better rooted in Christ instead of the messages that we perceive from others. Next week, we will discuss how to potentially resolve some of these deeper pains.

Luke Brown, LPCC, <https://www.sacredheartcleveland.com>

WELCOME BRENDA ZAPOTOSKY!

Brenda is excited to take on this new role as director of the 8:00 a.m. Choir. Brenda began singing in choirs in college when a fellow NDCL alum invited her to join the choir for the Sunday evening student Mass. Since then, she has continued to sing and cantor with a wide variety of parish groups including several of the different choirs here at St. Mary's Parish. She joined the 8:00 a.m. choir about 10 years ago and loves being a part of that choir family (which includes members of her actual family)! In addition to weekly Masses, Brenda cantors for weddings and funerals. Her many years of musical experience include leading music for Adoration services and retreats, singing her own original Christian music and once cantoring at the FEST!

Brenda grew up in Chardon as a St. Mary's parishioner and attended St. Mary School. She currently lives in Chardon township with her husband, Tom, and works as a freelance surface designer and illustrator. In addition to singing, some of her varied interests include sewing, reading and watching cooking competition shows.
