BAPTISMS

Congratulations to the parents and families of Gunner Edward Graham, Wyatt William Koenig, Clara Ann Van Cleve, and Edwin Richard Steinhauser, baptized on July 23.

DEAR PARISHIONERS,

Dear Parishioners,

"But God said to him, 'You fool, this night your life will be demanded of you; and the things you have prepared, to whom will they belong?'" God said to him, "You fool!"

Now, I haven't heard that phrase directed toward anyone for quite some time, "You fool," and I believe that it does take on a different significance depending on the context and circumstances when it is applied especially within the context of marital relationship between a wife and her husband.

"You Old Fool" may refer to the husband as a "Fool" in Love with his wife as she giggles embraced in his arms during an intimate moment. We can understand the significance of that name applied to the husband. The wife may call her husband an "Old Fool" which would take on a different nuance when they become locked in the intense heat of an argument that is going nowhere.

We need to realize the context and circumstance.

As we reflect on the scripture readings for the weekend the question that is posed for our consideration is, "What is the significance of the name calling and what is the context and circumstance when God says to the rich man, "You Fool." Is the rich man a "fool" in Love with another or is he a "fool" lost in himself?

I believe the latter to be true. When God calls this man a fool God is sharply criticizing, condemning him because he lacks a "Godly" sense and good judgment. All of the scripture passages this weekend attempt to raise our minds above our material world; our carnal passions; our self interests which are usually rooted in our selfishness.

Let's start with the first reading from Ecclesiastes which begins, "Vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!" Ecclesiastes is attempting to goad us into an active response after we take some serious time to review what our motivations are in life. Have we become so consumed with the attempts to attain the comforts of this world that we have become overly preoccupied with them; filled with envy or anxiety over them; and fixed on accumulating them – so much so that we have forgotten to live life and truly love others? Have we worshipped idols? Have we idly worshipped God? When we look in the mirror is it vanity or humility that looks back at us? These are hard questions we need to continually ask ourselves.

The Gospel of Luke presents the parable of the Rich Fool, a farmer who produced a bountiful harvest. Instead of expressing thankfulness to God and generosity to the poor, he resorts to his wicked ways of hoarding and being greedy. He is more concerned with amassing his wealth and maintaining his material status than he is with the state of his own soul. Do we act like him by expressing more concern for ourselves than we do for others? Do we selfishly squander our time, talent and treasure rather than give it back joyfully to the Lord through his Church? These are harder questions we need to continually ask ourselves.

St. Paul, in his letter to the Colossians, directs our hearts and minds to that which is really important as he says, "Brothers and sisters, if you were raised with Christ, seek what is above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Think of what is above, not of what is on earth." Paul is really telling us what has already been said in the other two readings. Get rid of our evil inclinations. Do not succumb to the powers of immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire and the greed that is idolatry. How much are our hearts and minds consumed with the things that are of this world and are not of God? Has our vision been impaired by the darkness and deception of sinfulness and selfishness? Have we sold our soul for what appears to be glittery or glamorous or grand – that which appears to be the jackpot – which only, in the end, will amount to a pot of "Fool's Gold" which is worthless?

There is a story of a conversation between a young ambitious man and an older man who had lived life. Said the young man, "I will learn my trade." "And then?" said the older man. "I will set up in business." "And then?" "I will make my fortune." "And then?" "I suppose that I shall grow old and retire and live on my money." "And then?" "Well, I suppose that some day I will die." "And then?" came the last stabbing question.

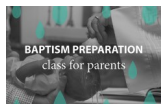

Please be mindful of the fact that although some of us may be underprivileged or some may be over privileged in many different ways, we are all destined to die. I will state that again. We are all destined to die. "And then?" Are we storing up treasures in heaven, seeking what is above, being a fool in love with God and God's ways? Or, are we being swept away by this world, caught up in immorality and mesmerized by self importance as we are entranced by vanity? "Vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!" Are we a fool lost in ourselves, locked in our stubborn ways?

Wherever you go in life never forget the gift of faith that you have been given. Never forget your vocation as a baptized Catholic – your calling to be holy and to be of humble service. Never forget your obligations to worship God above all other things. Never forget your responsibility to support and contribute to your parish community through offering your time, your talent and your treasure. And finally, no matter what the world hands you or whatever you strive for in this life, be that a wonderful business proposition or a lucrative lifestyle, don't ever be played for a fool.
