DEAR PARISHIONERS,

Easter Blessings to all of you!

Up to this moment during this past Holy Week we have recalled the story of the last days of our Lord, Jesus Christ. On Palm Sunday we read of the Lord's Passion account regarding his triumphal entry into Jerusalem and this his painful persecution. During those subsequent days, including Holy Thursday, we read accounts of his celebration of Passover with the disciples; the institution of the Holy Eucharist as well as the ministerial priesthood and we remember the example of the washing of the feet.

Within those accounts we were made keenly aware that he was destined, by the Old Testament prophets, to be the one who was the suffering servant among us. On Good Friday, again we were reminded of his anguish and agony in the garden; his betrayal; his denial; his scourging; his sentencing; his way of the cross; his crucifixion; his feelings of abandonment; his death on the cross and finally his enclosure in the tomb.

All along this pathway toward his death, as we read these passion narratives, questions arise in the hearts and minds of the faithful today here and now. These are the same questions that arise from the crowds gathered around him at the scene of the actual crucifixion. "If he saved others why can he not save himself if he is the Son of God?" In other words, why could he not have called down the angels of God to stop this whole thing from happening? As he walked through those who wanted to stone him earlier in his ministry, why could he not have walked away from this awful event? Was he not aware of the fact that all of his words and actions would eventually lead him to his demise, his death and burial in a dark tomb? Did he not know that he was digging himself deeper and deeper into a hole, so to speak? And if so, why did he not follow the old adage, "If you find yourself in a hole, stop digging?"

We know for a fact that Jesus did, indeed, know that his path was leading to his death. During his final road trip to Jerusalem he mentions it time and time again to his disciples. Jesus explicitly tells them at least a dozen times within the four gospel accounts that he will be put to death somehow. However, with each of these proclamations just a few words later, he also tells them that he will be lifted up again.

So, yes, Jesus did know quite clearly that his journey would lead to his death. He knew that he was digging himself into a hole. But, don't forget that he was also building a kingdom to be given to faithful people who would continue his mission. Jesus kept digging despite the awareness of his impending suffering and death because he was certain of his resurrection.

He knew, through his intimacy with the Father and with the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, that the hole he dug for himself (the tomb in which he would be laid) was not the end but rather, the beginning of the foundation upon which the church would be built with himself as the cornerstone. He was, is and will forever be the beginning and the end (the Alpha and the Omega) of his kingdom. It is his kingdom that is being built, the size and scope of which is yet to be determined. It continues to be built on us and our participation in it. Its success depends upon our generosity and commitment to shoulder the load with his grace.

Have you permitted the Easter experience to influence the direction and efforts of your lives? Giving witness to your faith in the resurrection places you deeper and deeper into conflict with how the world thinks and operates. It also forces you to trust in God. Do you keep digging with confidence and

MUSIC

Coordinator of Liturgical Music
Amy Dolan

Happy Easter! A BIG THANK YOU to all our music ministers who will play and sing and ring out an "Alleluia" today and for the next 50 days! Yes, we will continue to celebrate our Risen Lord for the next seven weeks!! Our church will be filled with flowers, banners hung from our rafters, our pastor and deacon will wear their Easter vestments of white and gold, and you will feel the sprinkle of Holy Water, as we remember our baptism into the church. We will hear the greatest story ever told and sing our praises to God. We will sing a new "Glory to God" and "Alleluia" this year, which I hope will become more familiar to you in the coming weeks. These new pieces are from the Mass of Spirit and Grace, from which we have already learned the Holy, Memorial Acclamation and Amen. During the next month we will celebrate the great Sacraments of Initiation, as our Confirmation candidates receive the gifts of the Holy Spirit, and our second graders receive the Holy Eucharist for the first time. So many ways that our children and all of us can grow closer to God. Blessing to you throughout our Easter Season!

Pastoral Council Nomination Sunday

Nomination Weekend/Sunday is April 15 & 16. This date provides adequate time to contact nominees regarding their willingness to accept the nomination and then gather the information for a short bio to be featured in the bulletin prior to the weekend of Parish Elections. Parish Elections will be held on the weekend of May 20 & 21.

The Pastoral Council (formerly know as the parish council) is comprised of elected and appointed representatives from the parish who serve as an advisory body to the pastor. They, together with the pastor, are responsible not only for overseeing the practical matters of parish business but, more importantly, helping the pastor to set the Vision and create the goals to see that Vision come to reality.

As is stated on the nomination ballots – All nominees must be registered, adult members of the parish who are confirmed Catholics in good standing with the Church. It is imperative that they be regular church attendees who contribute to the welfare of the parish community through means of time, talent and treasure. Candidates should be faith filled people who acknowledge that collaborative leadership, parishioner participation, faith formation and Catholic education are a significance expression of the mission of the Church.

You may nominate yourself or someone you know who fits that profile.

Continued from page 2. conviction? Despite the sufferings you will encounter, do you trust that your redemption is at hand and that God will reward you with the gift of eternal life? Take a leap of faith and dive into that hole that you dig for yourself. God can and will utilize you and all your gifts to continue to build his kingdom. Like Jesus who comes out of the "hole he dug for himself" (the empty tomb) on Easter Sunday, you too will come out and rise up to join him in his heavenly kingdom.

Today, especially, you are invited to look beyond the tomb, that deep hole in the ground, to see and rejoice and participate in the mighty works of God who is building the kingdom among us. God calls all of us to ultimate beauty and glory of his divine plan. So, let's begin and let's dig in!
